DRASTIC CUTS IN OPA, OWI FUNDS VOTED

House and Senate Conferees Agree.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—House and senate conferees agreed tonight to drastic cuts in the appropriations for the office of price administration and the office of war information.

These cuts are designed to restrict the activities for which both agencies have been assailed in congress. Among the charges leveled at them is that of usurping powers far beyond the sphere for which they were created.

Funds for the OPA were reduced to 155 million dollars, while the amount allotted to the OWI for operation of its domestic branch was slashed to $2,750,000.

In the last fiscal year, the spending for the OWI domestic branch was at the rate of 8½ millions and approximately the same amount was requested for the new fiscal year.

Senate Figure Trimmed.

Members of the house appropriations committee scaled this down to 5½ millions and then the house ordered the branch abolished and refused to appropriate a penny for its existence. The senate voted $3,561,499 for OWI domestic operations and the conferees agreed today to a reduction of $811,499 from the senate figure, which the conferees stated will allow only partial OWI operations at home.

Thus the total OWI appropriation in the 2 billion 900 million dollar war agency spending bill would be reduced to $33,155,993, compared with $47,342,000 which the agency demanded of congress early in 1942.

The senate had allowed the OPA the full $177,335,000 recommended by the budget bureau, while the house had cut the figure to $130,000,000. Action of the conferees making the figure $155,000,000 leaves the OPA funds substantially below the senate approved amount and $10,000,000 less than the sum approved by the house committee.

Battle Over Money Bills.

House members admitted that they wielded the knife over the funds of the price fixers to forestall expansion of the Washington staff and the creation of many new field offices.

Meanwhile the two houses of congress continued to slug it out over the terms of five big money appropriation bills for the operation of all the top war agencies and four regular governmental departments in the new fiscal year. The result was at the day's end not a single spending bill had been sent to the White House and the plans of the weary legislators for a start of their summer recess this week apparently had gone a glimmering.

By a vote of 197 to 176, an unyielding house insisted that the national youth administration must be put out of existence. This effectively tied up the 1 billion 200 million labor-federal security bill, which left the senate containing a 48 million dollar allotment for the NYA. The house version contains only 3 millions to finance NYA liquidation.

Senate Protects FCIC.

By a 53 to 21 vote, the senate declined for a third time to go along with the house in agreement on the liquidation of the administration's Federal Crop Insurance corporation. This kept the 875 million dollar agricultural department appropriation bill hanging high in the air.

Because of the prospective reduction in OWI's funds, that agency's 58 regional and field officers in 45 states were closed today.

CHICAGO OWI TO CLOSE.

The Chicago regional office of war information, which has 27 employés in four states, was notified yesterday by its Washington office to liquidate itself, as well as the Minneapolis regional office, with nine employés in three states, by July 15, according to J. F. W. Hopkins, assistant regional director. The regional offices are a part of the OWI field service, which was denied funds by congress. Emergency funds were reported available for the liquidation period.

STEPHAN, GIVEN NEWS, KISSES WARDEN'S HAND

Death Penalty Held 'Too Severe.'

Milan, Mich., July 1 [Special].—Max Stephan, German born convicted traitor, kissed the hand of Warden Cecil Shuttleworth and laughed and cried by turns when he was told tonight, only a few hours before he was to have died on the gallows, that President Roosevelt had commuted his death sentence to life imprisonment.

Max Stephan.

A White House statement said the President acted because he believed "the sentence imposed by the court was too severe in that it did not sufficiently take into account the statute which provides for the consideration of different qualities of treason."

Store Gallows Away.

Stephan, Detroit restaurateur who had been a machine gun sergeant in the German army in World War I., was convicted of treason for aiding in the escape of Hans Peter Krug, 22 years old, captured officer from a German bomber crew. Krug fled a Canadian detention camp in April, 1942, and later was recaptured.

A specially constructed gallows, built in sections in Detroit, had arrived at the federal correctional institution here and was about to be set up when news of the commutation arrived. It was ordered stored for "possible use" in the future.

Nicholas Salowich, one of Stephan's attorneys, who had pleaded for executive clemency, was with him in the death cell when the news was received. He said Stephan shrieked with joy and that there were tears in his eyes as he kissed the attorney's hands, too, and cried, "O, thank God!"

Plan Fight to Cut Term.

At Detroit, Salowich's associate in the defense, James E. McCabe, said an effort would be made "after the war" to have the life term cut.

However, the White House statement said the President hoped none of his successors would commute the life term since, he said, Stephan was "properly convicted of treason."

The statement asserted there was no question in Mr. Roosevelt's mind that Stephan was, and probably is, pro-German or pro-Nazi.

Krug was the star witness against Stephan. He told of making his way to Detroit from the Canadian prison camp, and of contacting the restaurant owner, who feted him, provided him with money, and put him on a bus for his trip toward Mexico and, he hoped, Germany.

Stephan told his captors, "I am not sorry for what I have done and I would do it again." He boasted, "I will never be hanged."

Convicted Year Ago.

A Detroit federal court jury last July 2 convicted him of treason. Judge Arthur J. Tuttle on Aug. 6 sentenced him to hang. Three times he heard himself sentenced to be hanged, the first execution date being Friday, Nov. 13. Last April 14, Judge Tuttle fixed the execution for April 27. Last month he ordered the hanging to take place tomorrow.

Four times the case was before the United States Supreme court, twice before the federal Circuit Court of Appeals, while twice Judge Tuttle denied him a new trial.

Tell of Italian Sub Sunk in Collision in Atlantic

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 1 (AP).—The sinking of an Italian submarine in the South Atlantic after a collision with an unidentified craft was related in a dispatch to the newspaper O Globo from Belem, Brazil, today. An officer of the sunken submarine, its only survivor, told how he had drifted in a lifeboat for 29 days before he was sighted by a United States patrol plane and rescued, the paper said.

QUIZ ON JULY 4 JOLTS HISTORY

Reporter Gathers Some Peculiar Replies.

On July 4, 1776, the Continental Congress meeting at Philadelphia adopted the Declaration of Independence, which asserted that the 13 American colonies were free from the British empire. The document was later signed by 56 men. The Revolutionary war, its aims crystalized by the document, continued until 1783.

With the 167th anniversary of the declaration nearing, a couple score Chicagoans on Michigan avenue were asked yesterday:

"Why do you celebrate July 4th?"

Three out of four persons—housewives, a policeman, students, office workers—quickly gave the reason for the holiday. "It's Independence day," they said. Generally they recited the basic facts, altho most of them wanted to make George Washington one of the signers.

Peddler States Views.

Among this majority was a peddler who couldn't speak English very well. "The whole world should have an Independence day," he said.

Others interviewed and what they replied:

Machinist, about 45 years old—"We had a war with England and licked the pants off 'em. So all the big boys—George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and some others—got together and set up the U. S. A. That all happened about 1775."

File clerk, 55—"On that day the Declaration of Independence was signed. Or was it the Constitution?"

Modern Education's Slant.

Watchman, 60—"There always has been a Fourth of July. Everybody knows that."

Laborer, 35—"I celebrate to make lots of noise. I don't know why there is a Fourth of July. I never stopped to think of that."

Some of the answers were even a sadder commentary on the historical knowledge of those interviewed. Two samples:

Ice cream vendor—"The Fourth of July is the day Columbus sailed and made labor free. The holiday is very wonderful, except it should be celebrated for an entire month. They celebrate one day and then, boom, no more ice cream they buy. You got to sell ice cream every day."

Retired farmer in his 70s—"Why, some war ended on July 4. I'm not so sure just what war it was. You see, I came to this country only 25 years ago.

"And what country did you come from?" the reporter asked.

The farmer answered:

"Minnesota."

Mileage Check to Continue, OPA Rules, Reversing Stand

Within 48 hours after he had ruled on Tuesday that readings of motorists' mileage would be abandoned by gas rationers, Raymond S. McKeough, regional director of the office of price administration, reversed himself by announcing that the mileage checkups will be resumed.

On Tuesday both McKeough and George Ranes, regional tire rationing agent, said that the readings would be discontinued because a new issue of tire inspection blanks had no space for odometer [mileage measuring device] recordings. Ranes said that complaints from local boards on their inability to check mileage had compelled the change in OPA's plans. As proof he pointed to the new combined tire-gasoline coupon application blanks, which have no space for the odometer recordings.

McKeough Agrees with Ranes.

"The first period tire inspection blanks carried spaces for odometer readings," Ranes said.

"The omission of such a space in the new blanks is deliberate. It means no more odometer readings."

Later on Tuesday evening McKeough agreed with Ranes. McKeough admitted he had not seen the new application blanks when he warned motorists about the odometer readings.

"I am now told the new form has no provision for odometer readings," McKeough said Tuesday. "I'm sure Ranes knows what he's talking about; he's our expert on such matters. It is quite obvious that mileage is no longer going to be recorded on OPA records. When I issued my warnings last week, I had not seen the renewal forms which are now in print."

Behind the Scenes Story.

Late yesterday, while McKeough was out of the city, his Chicago office issued a statement saying that not only would the mileage checks continue, but that more effective methods for checking had been devised.

Last night the story of the behind the scene events which preceded McKeough's reversal, was told. It featured a report that the regional director had appealed to his bosses in Washington to help him out of the hole in which he found himself as a result of Ranes' frank announcement and McKeough's Tuesday night admission. The Washington OPA officials came to the rescue.

Charles E. Phillips, head of OPA's automotive supply rationing division, announced that the omission of a space for recording odometer readings on the new forms was a mistake. Phillips said the printers were responsible. And he added that special instructions will be issued to all local boards and tire inspecting stations directing that mileage readings be written in when the tires are examined.

McKeough Makes Statement.

On his return to Chicago last night, McKeough knew all about the Phillips announcement, altho it was made in Washington late in the day and he was out of his Chicago office at the time. The announcement made in his office that the mileage readings would not be abandoned as he had ruled on Tuesday, but "on the contrary"—would continue, was issued prior to the Phillips Washington announcement about the mistake on the blank.

McKeough said that since he and Ranes made their statements Tuesday subsequent regulations provided there would be mileage readings.

The statement issued by McKeough's office, reversing his previous stand, was: "The OPA has not discarded the odometer reading check. On the contrary, recently issued instructions to tire inspectors provide a more effective method of the use of the odometer. In these instructions tire inspectors are directed to note the odometer readings on the new form. The report of the tire inspector may, after examination by him of the odometer, afford a more accurate indication of mileage than the declaration of mileage by the applicant."

Auto Ends Wild Tour Perched on Tree Limb

Canton, Ill., July 1 (AP).—The police report said an automobile driven by a Canton youth: "Ran over a curb into the yard at the home of Peter Raskauskas, broke down 15 feet of picket fence, badly damaged shrubbery, continued across a vacant lot, . . . broke off a tree, crossed a road, . . . broke off an iron pump, passed thru a garden, and came to a stop perched on the limb of a tree." Both occupants of the car escaped injury.

JAP GARRISON DESTROYED AS RENDOVA ISLE FALLS

U. S. STORMING OF ISLAND TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

[The following eyewitness account of the American capture of Rendova Island in the New Georgia group, has been made available to American newspapers thru the courtesy of the London Daily Express. This story tells of the initial assault which took place early Wednesday (Tuesday noon, Chicago time).]

BY HENRY KEYS.

WITH THE U. S. FLAGSHIP OF A DESTROYER DIVISION BETWEEN RENDOVA ISLAND AND MUNDA POINT, June 30 [Delayed]—This eyewitness story is a world beat and should remain so for a couple of days. It was hitch-hiked a thousand miles by sea, land, and air to reach the nearest radio.

An all-out American assault on the Japanese stronghold of New Georgia Island got away to a flying start at dawn this morning. The brilliantly conceived and daringly executed plan caught the Japs flatfooted; the landing of men and materials had actually begun before the enemy shore batteries opened fire at this destroyer screen.

It was late in the afternoon before the Japs hit us, but by then we were on the way back to base, having landed every man and all supplies.

Torpedo Attack by Japs.

A savage and persistent Japanese mass torpedo bomber attack came in the late afternoon and a most extraordinary incident occurred. One torpedo crashed into the bow of the destroyer on which I was observing the operation and which in future I shall call "The Can."

The torpedo failed to explode or damage the destroyer in any way, altho the small vessel shuddered and reeled at the moment of impact as the torpedo bumped alongside before falling harmlessly away.

Now that it is over and we have gotten away with one of the most brazen attacks against the Japanese it is almost impossible to believe we have accomplished the objective. It was conceded that to succeed in its entirety the blow should take the Japanese by surprise.

Confident of Success.

We were confident it would, even tho we recognized the Japanese must be aware that something was in the wind. Indeed, it was not until yesterday morning that the plan went into effect and orders were distributed. From that moment the beach was the busiest scene.

Aboard "The Can" I met her captain and commander of the destroyer division.

We took off in midafternoon. So far the Jap hadn't attempted a major raid similar to that of a couple of weeks ago and that meant he didn't know we were on the move or that he was saving himself to strike at sunset.

Japs Taken by Surprise.

But he wasn't. The Jap was being taken by surprise. Over in the wardroom of "The Can" last night the gunnery and navigation officers were clustered over maps and charts, committing to memory in infinite detail the treacherous reefs

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, July 2 [Friday]—(AP).—Americans have speedily completed conquest of Rendova Island in the central Solomons, turned shore batteries on the Japanese air base at Munda, 5 miles away, and destroyed 101 enemy planes which tried to break up the Solomon landings, the high command announced today.

While everywhere the ground fighters received ample support from strafing and bombing planes, participants in the growing South and Southwest Pacific offensive against the Japanese consolidated positions, including those newly established near Salamaua, New Guinea.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur said our casualties were light thruout the entire area, altho we had some landing boats damaged in treacherous waters around the Solomons. In the landing at Nassau bay, just below Salamaua, probably the most difficult from an amphibious standpoint, there was not a single casualty.

Rendova Conquest Complete.

In a story of speedy conquest the communique today reported that United States forces which landed on Rendova June 30 completed their operation shortly after midday by destroying the small but tenacious Japanese garrison.

Bombers struck at Rabaul, New Britain, from which the Japanese might parry the allied thrusts, and other planes rained death on enemy forces opposing the landings near Salamaua, New Guinea.

Landings were made only Wednesday on Rendova, which not only puts allied forces within easy range of Munda but also within fighter range of the main Jap base at Rabual.

Aussies Open Attack.

Australians who landed at Nassau bay, 15 miles below Salamaua, were reported attacking the Japanese in that sector. Allied patrols killed at least 26 Japanese and wounded many others at Malolo and Orodubi in the Salamaua sector.

"Our ground forces are consolidating their positions along the bay according to plan," the noon communique said. "Attack planes in close support bombed and strafed enemy defenses at Duali from low altitude."

Over Rabaul, which felt the impact of 23 tons of bombs Wednesday, 25 tons were dropped yesterday on its three airdromes, Lakunai, Vunakanau, and Rapopo.

Two hours after the Rendova landing forces had debarked from their ships, shore batteries opened fire on Munda, the communique disclosed.

101 Planes Destroyed.

"The enemy counterattacked thruout the day with medium and dive bomber, torpedo planes and fighters," said headquarters. "Latest advices do not indicate the total number involved in the action, but 101 enemy planes were destroyed in air combat and by anti-aircraft fire. Seventeen of our planes are missing."

Headquarters announced that ground forces had captured "the enemy barge base at Viru harbor" on New Georgia Island after hard fighting.

[The navy department in Washington had placed the number of attacking planes at 110, with 65 downed either by anti-aircraft or fighter opposition. Our losses were stated as the same, 17. The navy also announced that Viru harbor, only 30 nautical miles from Munda, had been "captured."]

There was no further mention of the unopposed occupation of the Woodlark and Trobriand islands off the southeastern tip of New Guinea.

Air Force Is Busy.

Gen. MacArthur's air forces aimed at pinning down as much of the enemy air force to the ground as possible. In addition to the strikes at Rabaul and Salamaua, allied fighters went after the airdrome on Selary Island in the Tanimbar group, 300 miles above Darwin. Japanese in the villages were attacked and a boat sunk offshore.

RAPS NEW DEAL FOR CONDONING JIM CROWISM

Negro Attacks Failure to Take Action.

The Roosevelt administration was assailed last night for not abolishing Jim Crowism. The attack was delivered by Henry Johnson, of New York City, a Negro representative of the United Mine Workers, at a conference of 500 Negro delegates being held in the Metropolitan Community church, 4100 South Park way.

"The major responsibility for the abolition of Jim Crow belongs to the federal government and the present administration," said Johnson. "If the administration had set out to eliminate Jim Crow with the same zest it used to break other traditions in this country, we would not be meeting here tonight. Jim Crow would be dead."

Woman Cites Three Strengths.

Another speaker, Miss Layle Lane, a Negro school teacher of New York City, said Negroes have three strengths to attain more social justice. She defined them as numbers—13,000,000 Negroes in the United States; purchasing power—estimated at 3 billion to 8 billion dollars a year, and the constitutional right to vote.

Miss Lane said states refusing the ballot to Negroes should lose proportionate representation in congress. Such a rule would be effective in Georgia, she said. Miss Lane said that altho Georgia and Wisconsin have equal populations, only 340,000 votes were cast in Georgia in the last major election, compared with 1,400,000 votes in Wisconsin.

Norman Thomas Speaks Tonight.

Other speakers included Dr. Archibald Carey Jr., pastor of the Woodlawn A. M. E. church; Mrs. Cordelia G. Johnson of New Jersey, president of the National Beauty Culturists' league, and Carl Hansbury, Chicago real estate dealer.

Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, is scheduled to speak tonight. The conference, sponsored by the March on Washington movement, is designed to attain equal rights for Negroes. Its slogan is, "We Are Americans, Too."

OFFICER GAGGED BY STIMSON IS MADE A GENERAL

Brig. Gen. Knerr.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Col. Hugh J. Knerr of Portland, Ore., who less than eight months ago was publicly reprimanded by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson for criticizing Adm. Thomas C. Hart, was nominated today by President Roosevelt for promotion to brigadier general. Knerr criticized Hart for opposing a separate air force.

Knerr was among 47 army colonels nominated for promotion to brigadier general. The President also nominated 10 brigadier generals for promotion to major general, among them Thomas J. Hanley, deputy chief of staff of the air forces.

DANNY STANTON UNION AID HELD IN ELECTION ROW

James Blakely.

James Blakely, 43 years old, union official and aid of the late Danny Stanton, spent a few hours in a detective bureau cell yesterday after being arrested for creating a disturbance during the counting of votes in the election of officers of local 88 of the Cook and Pastry Cooks' union at 10 North Clark street.

Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, who supervised the election, said Blakely refused to leave on request after he used vile language in the presence of several women.

Blakely is secretary-treasurer of local 593, Hotel and Restaurant Employes' International alliance, and vice president of the Bartenders International League of America.

Following issuance of a writ of habeas corpus by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court late in the afternoon, Blakely was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

MOVE TO REVISE WARD LINES TO WAIT TILL FALL

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th] said yesterday he plans to wait until next fall to call a meeting of the council's committee on rules and committees, of which he is chairman, to consider revising the boundaries of the city's 50 wards. Quinn said he doubted much could be accomplished during the summer, when many aldermen will be on vacation. A resolution by Ald. Frank Keenan [49th] calling for redistricting was referred to Quinn's committee at the first meeting of the new council in April. Altho Quinn, Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], finance committee chairman, and others have spoken in favor of redistricting, most aldermen so far have dodged the issue. An examination of present population statistics shows an equitable redistricting would mean gains in council strength in Republican territory.

Western Avenue Bridge Closed to Autos Today

The South Western avenue bridge over the Chicago sanitary and ship canal will be closed from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. today to permit passage of vessels and greasing of the bridge cables, city engineers announced yesterday. The bridge will be lowered about every 15 minutes to allow street cars and pedestrians to cross, but all automobile traffic will be detoured.

Chicago's Need Told

Altho Chicago has every natural advantage for securing a modern, convenient airport, the city will be outstripped in bidding for post-war civil aviation leadership unless current efforts to get federal funds for a lake front air base are successful, Mayor Kelly said last night.

New York, well supplied with money, is rapidly pushing to completion its Idlewood airport, which will be the largest in the world. Nevertheless, the location is 13 miles from Manhattan, Mayor Kelly said, adding:

"We have the ideal opportunity. All we need is the government's cooperation," Mayor Kelly said. "The desirability of the lake front airport has been widely recognized for years, and we might have had it were it not for certain opposing and influential interests active a few years ago.

"Right now a lake front airport could be invaluable to the army and navy in transcontinental air transport. That is why we believe the federal government could well advance the necessary funds."

Reports from New York are that enough sand has already been taken from Jamaica bay for the Idlewood foundation to fill a city block to a height of a mile. The plan is for concrete runways 12 inches thick, capable of supporting aircraft of 150 tons. The huge terminal will be adequate to allow 1,000 flights of scheduled aircraft daily on 13 miles of such heavy duty runways, laid in parallel pairs so more than one landing or take-off may be made at the same time. Some of the landing strips will be 10,000 feet long and 200 feet wide.

U. S. Tax Collections Set Record in Illinois Area

Springfield, Ill., July 1 (AP).—Internal revenue collections of $286,708,379 during the fiscal year ended June 30 were the highest in the history of the 8th Illinois district, composed of 64 counties south of Peoria, Collector V. Y. Dallman said today. Dallman said the total is $81,000,000 above the 1941-'42 collections.

FIRST SENTENCE IMPOSED UNDER NEW PAROLE LAW

Advocate of Reform Sets 3 to 5 Year Term.

Judge H. G. Ward.

Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court, one of the original sponsors of parole reform legislation authorizing judges to set a minimum prison term for criminals convicted under the indeterminate sentence law, became the first judge to act under legislation that went into effect yesterday.

The new parole reform bills, known as the Connors-Rennick bills, were adopted at the recent session of the legislature after the Illinois Supreme court last September voided similar legislation because of a clause giving the parole board the right to override a judicial sentence. The new bills were rewritten without this clause.

Pickpocket's Term Set.

In the first sentence under the new law, Judge Ward ordered James Munford, Negro, 48 years old, to serve not less than three years nor more than five years on his conviction as a pickpocket. Munford was found guilty in a bench trial of larceny which carries the indeterminate sentence of one to 10 years in prison.

In setting the three year minimum term, Judge Ward said he was taking into consideration Munford's past record as a pickpocket.

"This case clearly demonstrates the need of such legislation," Judge Ward said. "Here is a convicted pickpocket who under the old legislation would have been eligible to apply for parole after serving only 11 months of the indeterminate 1 to 10 year sentence."

First Reforms Vetoed.

Judge Ward said he was particularly gratified to be the first judge to act under the new legislation. In 1937, Judge Ward, then floor leader in the state senate, and State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg succeeded in passing the first of the reform bills to end parole abuses and scandals. Their measure, however, was vetoed by the late Gov. Henry Horner.

Parole reform advocates continued their efforts to get a similar measure enacted and in 1941, the Green-Rennick act, named after the sponsors, Gov. Green and Rep. Frederick W. Rennick of Buda, Bureau county, was adopted by the legislature. This act, however, contained the clause that resulted in the state Supreme court voiding the act.

The new act, before being submitted to the legislature, received long study to guard against any upset when tested before the high court. Legal experts term it voidproof. Sharing in the authorship of the law bills is Sen. William J. Connors of Chicago.

Other Cases Coming Up.

Other Criminal court judges and law enforcement agencies praised the new reform law. Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro, a vigorous proponent of the plan, said a trial judge was better qualified to fix proper sentence than members of the parole board, months after the evidence was heard. The parole board may determine when a prisoner is eligible for parole within the limits fixed by the trial judge.

Among many defendants who are scheduled to appear before Judge Sbarbaro next week for sentencing under the new law are six members of a bandit gang, five of whom kidnaped and robbed three young residents of Lake Forest. The gang members were convicted of robbery and sentencing was delayed so that the court could act under the new law.

Another defendant sentenced yesterday in Criminal court under the new law was Henry Staak, a sailor who committed several robberies while AWOL from the Great Lakes naval training station. He was sentenced by Judge Donald S. McKinlay to serve not less than a year nor more than three years in prison.

Killed by Automobile

JACK WOLFF.

Jack Wolff, 4 years old, 545 Dickens avenue, was killed yesterday by a hit and run driver at Dickens avenue and Larrabee street. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolff.

Henry Hansen, 42, of 102 South 17th avenue, Maywood, was killed and his son, Raymond, 14, accompanying him on his delivery route, lost an eye when Hansen's truck, owned by the Midwest Beverage service, collided with a truck driven by Albert Creel Jr., 22, Milwaukee. The accident occurred at Irving Park and Mannheim roads.

Kenneth Bowles, 13, of Janesville, Cumberland county, a pupil at Glenwood Manual Training school, was killed when he was struck by an automobile at Halsted and 186th streets in Homewood. The driver was Herman Koenes, 19, of 18359 Ridgewood avenue, Lansing.

HELD FOR TAXICAB THEFT.

Police at Niles Mich., said yesterday they were holding Ernest Evans, 20 years old, a Negro, for the alleged theft of a Yellow Cab from in front of a company garage at 27 South Sangamon street.

JAP WHO SERVED U. S. IN ARGONNE HITS CAMP RULE

Tells Dies Investigator Heads Are Weak.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on page 3.)

Washington, D. C., July 1.—A Japanese born American who said he won his citizenship fighting with the marines in the Argonne told congressional investigators today his opinion of the troubles with the Japanese living in this country. He said:

1. American labor strikes encourage the disloyal and give them propaganda ammunition to use against the loyal Japanese-Americans.

2. The disloyal are not separated from the loyal, altho adequate means is at hand.

3. Officials in the war relocation camps decline to use firm methods, and permit the disloyal to dominate them and the loyal.

Uses American Idiom.

The witness was Tokie Slocum, whose face was oriental but whose testimony was reminiscent of corned beef and cabbage and the baseball bleachers: Examples: "By crackie, you've got me over a barrel, yeah, by golly."

Tokie [short for Tokutaronishimura] grew up in Minot, N. D., and took his surname from the town druggist, Slocum, for whom he worked. When he was asked to become chairman of the anti-axis committee of the Japanese-American citizens legion in California, he got the approval of the Masonic lodge, the American Legion and the federal bureau of investigation before accepting.

After Pearl Harbor, he was sent to the Japanese relocation camp at Manzanar, Cal. There, he said, his efforts to combat pro-Japanese sentiment got him marked as "No. 1 man" on a list of those the anti-American elements marked for assassination.

Rescued After Riot.

He was rescued from the camp after the riot in which two persons were killed on the first anniversary of Pearl Harbor day. Government officials found him a job here with the war man power commission.

The ex-marine, who was on the intracamp police force, said gangster elements among those interned organized terrorist groups known as the Black Dragons, the Blood Brothers, and the Dunbars. Warnings and anti-American insults were posted simultaneously on the camp's 36 bulletin boards, he said, to intimidate the pro-Americans.

He testified that the anti-Americans taunted the pro-Americans with reports of labor strikes, and told the loyal they were "suckers" for remaining loyal to such a country.

Disloyal Are Released.

Disloyal Japanese are permitted to move from the camps, he said, while the loyal but meek remain. Most of the Japanese here are loyal, he testified, and their loyalty can easily be determined by investigation and by family history and associations. But, he complained, the determination is not made, and the loyal who are permitted to leave the camp for farming jobs are victims of suspicion and discrimination. He told the committee that proper determination of loyalty and a public guarantee that those released were loyal would enable the loyal to live in peace.

When violence was threatened at Manzanar, he said, the assistant camp director refused to call on the military police, explaining that he would rather leave than have to call in the military police.

Questioned by Robert E. Stripling and J. B. Matthews, Dies committee investigators, Slocum said that women of the loyal families in the camp were insulted, the children were stoned, and the men were beaten by the terrorists.

Released Japanese are organizing groups in and around Chicago he said, with the explanation that they are "lonesome and want social contacts." Slocum said he had tried in vain to persuade them not to organize, lest they bring suspicion on the rest of the Japanese.

HELPS AUTOIST; HE AND WIFE ARE SHOT IN RETURN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COCHRANE, Ont., July 1.—Mr. and Mrs. John Baptiste April, elderly residents of the isolated Driftwood community 25 miles north of here, were shot down today by a motorist whom they had befriended. Canadian police are scouring the area for the assassin and another man. A third man, found armed and asleep in a car, is being held.

It was just after daylight when one of the strangers called at the April home, and asked for help to get his car out of a ditch. April hitched up a team of horses and freed the car. He started home. The car passed him. It was in front of his house when he returned. He thought the motorist wanted to pay him.

He told the man he expected no pay. His answer was a shot which struck April in the head. The man fled. April made his way to Driftwood for help.

SENATOR URGES WALLACE-JONES ROW BE PROBED

BEW-RFC Relations Would Get Study.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—The verbal battle between Vice President Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones led Sen. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] to propose today that the senate military committee investigate relations between the board of economic warfare and the Reconstruction Finance corporation in purchasing war materials.

With Democratic leaders showing no sign of giving Jones his requested inquiry into accusations made by Wallace, Bridges introduced a resolution for an investigation. He said he believed "unusual" exchanges between the two officials should be studied. He consented to suggestions that the banking and currency committee study the resolution first.

Two Others Urge Probe.

Senators Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] and Walter F. George [D., Ga.] informally suggested that the senate committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures study BEW's war materials purchase program, financed by RFC. They said they were not interested in exploring the "unfortunate controversy" between Jones and Wallace.

It was the purchase program which embroiled the two. The controversy flared Tuesday when Wallace, BEW chairman, asserted that Jones and the RFC, which Jones supervises, had obstructed BEW projects to the detriment of the war.

Statement Held Malicious.

Jones replied that the Wallace statement was full of "malice and misstatements." James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, then called the pair on the carpet. Later Wallace asserted again that RFC had delayed BEW's work. Jones retorted that the Wallace statement was as untrue as before.

Sen. George told reporters "the whole BEW program should be examined."

Lt. Col. James Roosevelt in N. Y. on Sick Leave

New York, July 1 (AP).—Lt. Col. James Roosevelt, U. S. M. C., accompanied by his wife and his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, arrived by plane from Washington today. Reporting "I'm really feeling fine," the President's son said he would pass the rest of his sick leave at the family home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Appeal to Col. M'Cormick to Oppose Willkie.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Super-state politicians and New Deal dreamers of post-war global blueprints should first restore the four freedoms to America, Rep. Paul Shafer [R., Mich.] declared last night before a rally of the Republican Nationalist Revival committee.

The meeting, held in the Morrison hotel, attended by 1,800, according to sponsors, adopted a resolution calling upon Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, to stand as a Republican candidate for President in the Illinois preferential primary next April "against Wendell L. Willkie, who personifies internationalism."

The resolution said Col. McCormick "personifies the American nationalist viewpoint," that the pending issue is "nationalism versus internationalism and if the people are to have opportunity to render a verdict before the conventions of 1944, it must be in the primaries of 1944, between a candidate for President who uncompromisingly stands for nationalism and a candidate who is known as internationalist in policy."

Assert They Personify Issue.

"Col. McCormick," said the resolution, "is known thruout the nation as an American nationalist and as a leader in the Republican party, and Wendell Willkie, again obviously a candidate for President, is as well known as an internationalist."

Rep. Shafer, who spoke on "Post-war Pseudo-Idealism," said the four freedoms are endangered if not destroyed in the United States under the New Deal, and "America's first duty now and when victory shall have been achieved is to save America." He made an onslaught on Willkie, Republican nominee in 1940.

"The Republican party can liquidate the Screw Deal in 1944 and return the nation to sanity," said the Battle Creek, Mich., congressman, "if we nominate a real Republican, a real American and not a pseudo-hybrid candidate such as we had in 1940, a pseudo-hybrid who is neither fish nor fowl and whose sole ambition is to outdo Mr. Roosevelt.

"No More Secret Weapons."

"The Republican party must have a candidate known to us as a Republican and an American since birth who, like Mr. Churchill and Mr. Stalin, will put the welfare of his own country ahead of that of any other country. We must not nominate any more secret New Deal weapons."

"The New Deal program," Shafer continued, "is to split the Republican party if possible, and it will do so unless we stand united, for it has the finances and the New Deal propaganda agencies. And this New Deal post-war globaloney is intended to distract the attention of the people from the fumbling and bungling of the last 10 years."

In the opening the rally chairman, P. H. Moynihan, former Chicago congressman, said organization was planned in every Illinois Congressional district to elect delegates to the Republican national convention next June "who will vote for men for national candidates who are for America, and not for any one world advocates."

Greatest Freedom from Want.

Shafer, in dwelling on the four freedoms, said America enjoyed the greatest freedom from want of any people in the world, until the New Deal brought in the theory that the giving or withholding of freedom from want was a matter for government.

"The same long haired and short brained theorists who now propose international dictation of everything," he said, "stretched the long fingers of the New Deal into every state, county, and home. Has that grasp brought greater abundance, more freedom from want?

"The food you lack today has not gone to the countries associated with us, it has simply not been produced. An administration dedicated to the doctrine of economic scarcity made it impossible for Americans to produce and distribute the food which this country needs."

Freedom of the press and of speech, Shafer said, was proposed by the global planners to be made world-wide, but in America it is endangered.

"The Associated Press, the distributor of more news to more newspapers than any other organization in the world, is the object of a sneaking action designed to make it amenable to the theorists and their pets," he said.

"One great Chicago newspaper was taken into court and attempts made at indictments, because it printed the truth without having it censored by Elmer Davis," he added.

YANK STORMING OF ISLAND TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

Japs Caught Flat-Footed by American Attack.

[Blanche channel is the narrow strip of water between Rendova and New Georgia Islands.]

On the accuracy of those charts and the knowledge of our guides depended the initial success.

Away ahead of the main convoy destroyers landed troops on the tiny islands of Bau, Ane, and Kokirana, which guard the 100 yard wide entrance to equally small Rendova harbor. The purpose was to knock out likely Japanese parties, enabling the main landing to go ahead immediately the transports arrived.

The dawn's early light was just beginning as the transports swung into anchorages outside the entrance.

Clouds Wreath Peak.

The land on either side of us was still a black mass largely obscured by mist. Four destroyers dropped astern and another four, including "The Can," proceeded west, heading into Munda point with the object of drawing Japanese fire.

Clouds wreathed the peak of the 3,000 feet high Rendova mountain and hugged the slopes of mountains behind Munda's jungle-fringed shoreline, which was forbidding in the half light.

"The Can" was second in line as we swept in toward the reefs, waiting for the Jap to show he was still around after the terrific aerial battering he received in the last few days prior to the landing.

A quarter of an hour later a loudspeaker connected to the battle circuit of ships participating in the operation crackled with the calm voice of a destroyer captain. He announced:

"They're shooting at us. They're shooting at us."

The quiet drawl didn't seem to give the warning its due significance, but all looked toward the beach and saw flashes from two shore batteries.

Our Guns Open Fire.

Eager eyes scanned the rain swept waters of the channel in order to observe shell splashes. Several shells fell around the leading destroyer. Then the commodore spoke over the battle circuit:

"We can outrange them. Move over."

Immediately our guns opened fire. The blast and concussion of the salvo shook the ship and I bent at the knees. Within 10 minutes the first shore battery to open up had been silenced completely, while the second kept quiet in order not to give away its position.

The cease-fire order came at 7:16 a. m. as we observed anti-aircraft fire from Munda. Six planes were then over the field. Two destroyers thereupon began laying smokescreens around the transports, but as later events proved, there was little necessity for this precaution, the Japanese shore batteries having far too short a range.

Another Battery Silenced.

Again the destroyers on the stern flank edged up to Munda, again attempting to get the enemy to fire. The move was successful. The Jap felt he couldn't resist, and resumed fire, and that battery, too was silenced. For good. We could easily see the shells tearing up the beach, causing clouds of dust, grass and trees to fly high into the air.

Three times more, in the course of the morning, we on the destroyers were under fire from Munda beach, but the Japanese had no more luck and each of these batteries was knocked out. From one destroyer came the radio call, "I got a good bead on that bird." This to the commander of the destroyer division.

"Good, go ahead," went back the permission to open fire. Ten minutes later that particular battery was knocked out. In the course of the morning two air raid alerts were sounded and the transports, screened by destroyers, weighed anchors and grouped into formation in preparation to beat off an air attack. This delayed the unloading a couple of hours, but altho few enemy planes came overhead they were downed by our magnificent day-long fighter screens before they could make the attack.

Out of the clouds came what appeared to be flares. This aroused our curiosity, but the explanation was forthcoming several minutes later when one of our fighters shot thru over the coast in flames with the pilot struggling to jump clear. He did and landed safely in the sea where he subsequently was picked up.

Landing Is Completed.

It was beginning to look as if I was going to get very little news other than an enthusiastic report on the success of the operation but trouble was heading our way. By 3:15 the job was done. Every man, every piece of equipment was on the beach and we were off on the return voyage to the base.

We crossed our fingers as some one soberly said, "It's too good to be true." Within the shortest while thereafter came the third air raid alarm of the day.

Four planes were coming our way strung out behind one another. Tracer bullets were pouring in and shrapnel now seemed to burst right in the faces of the men in the planes.

Torpedo Hits Ship.

The first machine was within 150 or 200 yards when it dropped a torpedo. Orders to turn the vessel were shouted and a sweating helmsman who had been working like a dozen men spun the wheel but the range was too short—too short for us to worm our way out and too short for the torpedo to arm itself to the point where it would explode on contact. It crashed into the port bows of the sturdy little vessel.

Again I reeled, just managing to regain my balance. Then came a series of thuds and jars as the torpedo, deflected in its course bumped and bounced against the side of the ship to the beam where it started to slip under the keel. A few more bumps and it cleared the hull, still unexploded.

That torpedo, which received as rough handling as any I have ever heard about, dropped harmlessly to the bottom.

But there was still wickedness in the air. One plane continued its course and I was sure it was crashing into the bridge, but the pilot banked as he reached us, just lifting the starboard wing over the wheelhouse as he barely cleared the forecastle.

He went down in flames.

Two more tried the same trick on the bows but their torpedoes missed and they, too, roared over the forecastle into the black shadows.

These were hectic moments. It was impossible for any one of the men to tell who was doing effective shooting or see anything like all that was happening.

Destroyer Rams Plane.

But I did see another destroyer smash right into the flaming wreck of a Japanese plane which hurtled into the water directly in its path. There was a big explosion and some one who had seen only that yelled:

"Destroyer hit!"

But it was a false alarm. The little ship passed thru the flaming, exploding wreckage unscathed.

Just how long the attack lasted I don't know. I forgot to look at the time, but it was not more than 10 minutes, possibly less. But in that time the ships' anti-aircraft downed 12 Japs.

The Can ran past one of these, still floating, at a 20 yard distance.

In it I could see one of the pilots still alive but obviously wounded. Another four of the crew, their shaven heads black with oil, were swimming away from it.

It was an inspiring sight. Thru binoculars I could see the smooth efficiency and planning playing its part, with not a moment lost in loading and landing the boats.

TELLS 800 POLITICAL WHIPPINGS IN 3 MOS. IN 3 INDIA DISTRICTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 1.—Reports of whippings for offenses arising from political disturbances show that in three districts in India's province of Sindh 800 such penalties have been inflicted in the last three months.

This was stated in the house of commons today by Samuel S. Silverman, Laborite, who asked India Secretary L. S. Amery whether he would publish full records of the last year's whipping penalties in British India.

Amery said he had no information about canings in Sindh in the last three months, but would make inquiries.

De Valera Re-Elected Premier by Parliament

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 1 (AP).—Eamon De Valera was reëlected Prime Minister of Ireland today by the new dail and he immediately proposed the names of all his former ministers as a "team" for the government. The Dail, named in elections June 22, chose De Valera by a vote of 67 to 37 over his opponent, William Cosgrave, leader of the opposition Fine Gael party. De Valera's proposed cabinet included only one new member, Sean Moylan, former party secretary.

FIRST FUEL OIL COUPONS OF NEW YEAR ARE VALID

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Fuel oil coupons for the season's first period became valid for 10 gallons each, effective today, in the 33 states where fuel oil is rationed. These coupons may be used until Jan. 3.

The office of price administration, in making the value announcement yesterday, said that the coupons were those numbered 1 on the new ration sheets. They represent about one-sixth of the householder's total heating ration.

Period 5 coupons, remaining from last year's allotment, are still good and may be used along with the new coupons to fill tanks during the summer months.

10 U. S. SHIPS ARE SUNK OR HIT IN BATTLE—TOKIO

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

"The fighting for the thoro annihilation of the enemies—America and Britain—is from now on," a Tokio broadcast said today, adding that the new allied offensive had been expected.

Domei, Japanese news agency, however, transmitted an English dispatch to Asiatic areas describing the allied landing on Rendova Island as a "typical United States guerrilla operation," and saying it would prove costly, "as our defense is impregnable thruout the southwestern Pacific."

The broadcaster said Japanese fighter planes broke thru and "carried out furious attacks on the enemy convoy." He did not refer to claims of sinkings made in a Japanese war bulletin. This quoted a Japanese communique as acknowledging an American landing on Rendova, but said six transports, three cruisers and a destroyer were sunk or damaged severely. Thirty-one allied planes were shot down, the communique said, and "fighting continues."

U. S. GUNS SHELL MUNDA AS YANKS OCCUPY RENDOVA

Garrison Destroyed; 101 Jap Planes Bagged.

ern Solomons an allied plane damaged two out of three Japanese float planes. In the St. Matthias islands northwest of New Britain, a bomber attacked nine Japanese sampans, sinking one and leaving another burning.

The southwest and south Pacific have seldom seen such concentrated aerial, ground and sea action as was reported yesterday. Ships and planes shelled and bombed the Japanese bases at Vila and Munda, while other surface craft went farther to bombard Japanese installations in the Faisi area.

All on Transport Safe.

Washington, D. C., July 1.—A navy communique today said 17 United States aircraft were reported missing and that the 7,712 ton transport McCawley, formerly the Santa Barbara of the Grace line, was damaged in the air attack and later sunk by a Japanese submarine in the Rendova Island occupation.

The troops she carried already had been put ashore, and there was no loss of life in the sinking. Her skipper was Comdr. Robert H. Rodgers of Staten Island, New York.

Secretary of War Stimson summed up the results of two days of coördinated attacks by telling a press conference that "reports are incomplete, but satisfactory progress apparently already has been made."

"Our forces have reached the outer defenses of Japan," he said, "and strong enemy reaction may be expected." Stimson spoke of the drive as a "coördinated attack of land, sea, and air forces," planned in Washington several weeks ago.

Expect Jap Fleet to Act.

What the Japanese fleet would do continued to be one of the major questions of speculation. Stimson seemed to anticipate that the enemy units based at Truk, 1,000 miles north of Rabaul, might be thrown into the combat.

The purpose of MacArthur's troops in New Guinea appeared to be to knock out Salamaua and win control of the air fields in that vicinity to facilitate attacks on Rabaul. The objective of the forces under command of Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., in the central Solomons, presumably is the Munda air base area, including not only the fields on New Georgia Island but also those on nearby Kolombangara.

Today's communiques sketched in some details of the initial operations which were omitted from yesterday's brief announcement.

Bombing Precedes Attack.

On Tuesday night, Solomon Islands time, American bombers attacked the air field, supply centers, and camp areas at Vila, on Kolombangara Island. Then on Wednesday, about the time that the operations off Rendova were well under way, bombers assaulted the enemy's positions at Munda. The only result reported was that a large fire was started.

Around mid-morning Wednesday, the Japanese began their attack on our ships off Rendova. In these they seem to have used every plane they could spare from the defense of other positions. Thrown into the attacks were Zero fighters, Mitsubishi medium bombers, Aichi dive bombers, torpedo planes, and "various other types."

The 65 planes shot down were bagged partly by shipboard anti-aircraft fire and partly by our fighter planes. The number destroyed may be greater, for the communique said the tabulation of 65 was based on an "incomplete report."

ROB TRUCK DRIVER.

Three men with revolvers and knives seized John Heidegger of 659 West 63d place as he was making a delivery at 14th street and South Kedzie avenue yesterday and robbed him of $300, after forcing him to drive in his truck to the far southwest side, where they ejected him and drove away.

YANKS CAPTURE ONLY HARBOR IN SO. NEW GEORGIA

Anchorage Is Narrow, Landlocked.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Viru harbor, reported today by the navy to have fallen to American invaders of the Solomons, is the only shelter or anchorage along the southern coast of New Georgia Island.

The harbor, 30 miles from the Japanese air base at Munda, is described as about one and a half miles in length and with depths of 42 to 72 feet.

The entrance, flanked by vertical cliffs on each side, is a half mile in length and 300 yards wide. The navigable channel, however, is reduced to something less than 200 yards by the fringing reefs.

The harbor is land locked so that the ocean swell never comes in. Anchorage can be found in 54 to 72 feet, but the maneuvering room for a vessel longer than 120 feet is limited owing to the sudden shallowing of the harbor's mud bank and western reef.

An Island of War.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, July 1 (AP).—New Georgia Island has a heritage of war that goes back much further than the present conflict.

A land of dense, tropical jungle protected by uncharted coral reefs, its beauty is offset by malaria and other south sea diseases.

New Georgia is 52 miles long and 33 miles wide. A dozen smaller islands cluster tightly about it. These include Rendova, where the Americans made a landing yesterday, and Gizo, which was headquarters for the British protectorate.

The jungle and mountains rise sharply from sea level to nearly 4,000 feet. The central island has the largest land enclosed lagoon in the world. It is called Marovo, and is entered thru a narrow opening between steep cliffs.

Where Vice Is Virtue.

The Trobriand Islands are rich in legends based primarily upon the natives' widespread reputation as the most immoral of all the south sea islanders. Immorality, even to the extent of clandestine adultery, is considered a virtue.

Americans who landed on Woodlark Island found a small group of islands with rolling hills and valleys covered by jungles. The natives call their land Murua.

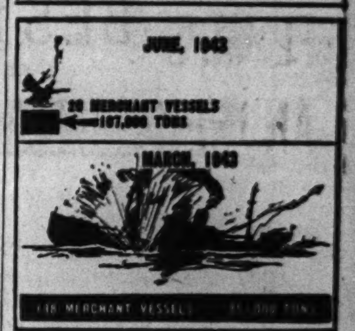
The Trobriands, with 28 mile long and 13 mile wide Kiriwina as the principal island, consist of four large and four small islands. Some rise abruptly to form coral cliffs 300 feet high. Others lie just above the water.

Trobriand Islanders are of fine physique, more like Polynesians than Melanesians in appearance and disposition. They are friendly, adept in the art of carving.

Sex dominates the lives of the natives even to their games, and they practice a crude form of trial marriage which does not injure the reputation of the native belle if the final marriage does not materialize.

The Woodlark Islands are different. There is one large island 40 miles long and 15 miles wide, and six small islands, all with only a small native population. One of the few gold bearing islands known, it has yielded more than $2,275,000 of that the metal. There are good anchorages on the south coast of Guasopa and Suloga harbors. Woodlark natives are of the Melanesian type, but there is a mixture of Papuan.

U-Boat Losses



Comparative drawings indicate decline in submarine toll.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—The Germans are now losing at least one submarine for every allied freighter sunk, British naval observers said today.

Sharply reduced Nazi claims of British and American shipping destroyed during June were weighed by these observers against record allied sinkings of U-boats in the last two months.

Berlin broadcasts asserted that 31 merchantmen aggregating 149,000 tons were sunk by all German agencies in June, of which 20 ships of 107,000 tons were knocked out by U-boats.

An estimate of 20 U-boats destroyed during the month probably would be conservative, for Malcolm MacDonald, British high commissioner to Canada, announced on Tuesday that 14 of these raiders were killed in the previous 14 days.

Prime Minister Churchill disclosed in his Guildhall speech yesterday that the allies' average in May was at least one U-boat sunk a day.

R. A. F. Bombs Barracks in New Burmese Raid

NEW DELHI, India, July 1 (AP).—R. A. F. bombers roared between the Kaladan and Lemro rivers yesterday to bomb and machine gun Japanese troop quarters near Mychaung, 35 miles northeast of Akyab, Burma, a British communique said today. The bombs demolished one barracks and damaged another, it was said.

A Plain Statement of Facts About
RAIL TRAVEL
RAILROAD TRAVEL has reached a new all-time high. War has first call on railroad cars and locomotives—one-half of the sleeping cars and one-fourth of the day coaches on America's railroads are constantly engaged in organized troop movements.
Rock Island Lines is proud to be transporting its full share of the two million men moved monthly in these organized movements. Furlough travel is equally as large. Our nation's tremendous war production has greatly increased war-business travel.
Trains are crowded—occasionally late. Yet, the patience and cooperative attitude of civilian travelers have been gratifying to us. Many patrons stand in line for a seat in the diner. This we regret, but new diners cannot be built as critical materials are needed elsewhere. We have inaugurated a box lunch and expanded sandwich service on certain long distance trains. We suggest to those making a short trip that they dine before boarding the train, or after arrival.
If you must travel, on your next trip, plan departure and arrival dates to fall on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. Take earlier trains to protect connections . . . if you make a reservation and your plans change, cancel promptly to provide space for someone else . . . carry minimum luggage to ease crowded conditions. One bag should be ample to meet requirements en route. Others necessary on trip should be checked, preferably the day before.
To avoid inconvenience at congested depot ticket offices, wherever possible, consult City Ticket Offices for information, making of reservations and purchase of tickets.

HOW YANK TOOK FLYER'S HOLIDAY AND RAIDED ITALY

Finds Going Easy After Bombing Germany.

(This is the sixth story in the series, "Halfway Between Heaven and Hell," by Lt. John H. Stickell, former Gilson, Ill., farmer, who made 48 bombing attacks on the axis with the royal air forces. Grounded by the R. A. F., he has since become a United States navy flyer.)

BY LT. JOHN H. STICKELL

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Stirling bomber of the type flown by Lt. John H. Stickell. It weighed 35 tons loaded.

So the boy of nine did a marvelous dive into the swimming hole and got stuck, head first, in the mud. Up to my shoulders. I have to laugh every time I think of it and how the Pickrel boys had to pull me out.

But I never laugh when I think how, 19 years later, my crew and I came diving out of the sky over Coblenz. B. Beer II., our four motor Stirling bomber, was dotted with holes and anti-aircraft guns laid a path of explosive and metal as we roared downward. Searchlights put the sun to shame.

Out of the Light.

The air speed indicator, which usually stood at about 160 miles an hour, raced around to 320 as we dropped from 13,000 feet. At 1,000 we were still in the lights. Then suddenly, at 800 feet, it was dark. And quiet. We had escaped from the lights and the guns.

I pulled the big ship level and, keeping the throttle open, headed for home. Lt. Shapiro, the navigator, took out the emergency morphia needle and crawled back thru the wrecked plane. We hadn't heard anything from the rear gunner, 34 year old Jimmy Harris, since he had whispered into the intercom: "I think I've got it, sir."

Shapiro found Harris unconscious, lying across his guns. He pulled him out of the turret, kicked aside pieces of torn metal in the fuselage and laid him there. A sheepskin flying jacket made a pillow. Harris' leg had been torn open by flak.

Only Man Hurt.

The rest of the crew had escaped, altho nobody knows how, just as I hadn't been hurt when flak knocked off my flying helmet.

B. Beer's four motors had also escaped. The air screws still bit into the air. I kept her at top speed—200 miles an hour.

We were late getting home. Other crews had seen us dive and thought we had got it. I set the plane down.

I reported to the wing commander. He had heard about how we were caught in the lights and had escaped. I expected to be complimented. Not many get out of lights half that thick. Instead, the wing commander hopped on me.

"Fool to get caught," he said. He ordered me back to Mainz the next night.

Objected to the Riding.

I didn't especially mind going back over the same place, but I did object to being ridden. I was jittery enough without being spoken to, unjustly, I thought.

The rest of the crew found out about it. We had a meeting. The wing commander's ears must have burned. For a couple of days there had been talk that the R. A. F. was planning to organize a separate group called the Pathfinder force, which would go ahead of the bombers and mark the target. It was more dangerous, since Jerry would throw his heaviest fire against the first planes, but what of it? You get yours when your time comes. The whole crew decided to volunteer. We did so the next day.

We went back to Mainz, too, that night and battled ice and cloud and flak. Three nights later we went to Duesseldorf. Then the news came. We had been accepted for the Pathfinder force. We picked up a new rear gunner, Sandy Dart.

Become First Pathfinders.

We began training. Our crew was the first to qualify and 10 days after being assigned we, the original Pathfinders, led the bombers to Kassel. In quick succession we laid paths to Nuremberg, Bremen, Frankfurt, Duesseldorf, Krefeld, Osnabrueck, and back to Cologne—where we had gone on our first raid so long ago. By that time it was October. Winter clouds had settled down over Germany. Italy was sunny, however. So a new route was mapped to take us there.

On the afternoon of Oct. 23, 1942, our ground crew fussed around with K. King. She was my new ship, assigned to me after I joined the Pathfinders. Like the B. Beers that had taken me on some 28 earlier bombing raids, she was a four engine Stirling, England's biggest bomber.

We filled her petrol tanks to the brim—2,308 gallons. At 6:15 p. m. we took off, five hours earlier than we had left on some shorter raids. Heavy clouds hung over the channel and France.

Sees First Lights in a Year.

At the Swiss border, the clouds stopped abruptly. Mount Blanc and the Matterhorn rose sharply ahead, their peaks tinged with snow. Lights from Swiss villages twinkled. Lights! They were the first I had seen in a year.

We climbed to 16,500 feet and it still seemed as tho we had to weave in and out among the peaks. The Alps are really high. A couple of times flak guns opened up. After all, we were planes of war and we were not supposed to be over a neutral country. But the firing was more of a token protest, almost friendly after the way Jerry had been shooting.

Across the Alps, we dropped down to 9,500 feet and picked up Savona on the Italian coast. Lt. Shapiro, the navigator, laid a course straight to Genoa. Sunny Italy? Huh! Out of Savona we ran into 10-10ths clouds again. We didn't want to waste the bombs we had hauled that far by dropping them into a solid layer of white, even tho we were certain Genoa lay below. So we backtracked to Savona, 25 miles southwest on the Mediterranean coast, and dropped our bombs there.

While the weather wasn't perfect over Italy, the raid was certainly a vacation. Going to Germany, we had to run thru the strongest flak barrages. Jerry had wonderful radio detection equipment. If he caught you in his master beam as you went over the coast, Jerry followed up all the way by radio.

But the Italians apparently had no detectors and very few planes and guns. One of my buddies, Bob Barrell, later told me his Stirling was attacked by three Italian night fighters but they didn't press him very hard. The whole flight returned unscratched, altho three planes had to land in a rain squall at a base closer to the channel than ours when they ran out of petrol. We had enough petrol left for another hour and 45 minutes. That comes from not pressing K. King. We had been gone 8½ hours. Consumption was a little more than 200 gallons of petrol an hour.

Once I had held it down to 197 gallons. Our wing commander jumped with joy. He hated to waste petrol. His name, incidentally, was Hamish MacHaddie, and he was as good a Scotsman as ever was born.

CITE YANKEE RAILWAY BATTALION OF HEROES FOR TUNISIA BRAVERY

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 1 (AP).—Officers and men of the 727th United States railway operating battalion were cited today for repeated bravery under fire and devotion to duty in the Tunisian campaign. To the commander, Lt. Col. Fred W. Okie of Birmingham, Ala., went the Legionnaire braid of the award of the Legion of Merit. The unit was specially cited in a ceremony attended by Brig. Gen. Cary R. Gray Jr. [formerly of Chicago], director general of the military railway service in North Africa.

The 727th battalion, during the allied advance thru Kasserine pass in January, scouted the railway ahead of the axis fighting zone and under fire recovered several locomotives.

When the German flank attack was unleased in mid-February the battalion remained behind to evacuate munitions and French troops from Gafsa and Metaloui under fire. Despite the danger of attack, the battalion rushed repairs on bridges in the Gafsa and Sened areas as soon as combat troops could push the Germans back in March.

'Large Number' of Yanks, Canadians Reaches Britain

LONDON, July 2 [Friday]—(AP).—A large number of American and Canadian troops have crossed the Atlantic during May and June without loss, it was reliably reported today. One unofficial British military observer said they came in strength which "has exceeded the highest hopes." Virtually no ships have been lost in the North Atlantic during the two months, according to the best reports.

HOW NORWEGIAN KING FLED WITH ALL OF HIS GOLD

German Bombers Attack Train and Ship.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 1.—How King Haakon fled from Norway to Britain in 1940 with his country's gold was told today in the Daily Telegraph.

Two British officers, Rear Adm. J. G. P. Vivian and Capt. J. C. Annesley were decorated earlier this week by the king for their part in aiding his escape.

Details of the escape as disclosed in the Telegraph were given by the man who organized the transport. He was not identified. The story revealed that 1,500 boxes of gold underwent intensive bombings by the Germans thruout the journey.

Journey Begins at Night.

The hazardous journey to Britain began on a dark, cold night in a train guarded by Norwegian troops, the Telegraph said. The treasure reached Andalsnes despite attempts by enemy aircraft to bomb the train.

Then, it was learned, the Germans were approaching Andalsnes. The gold was loaded into 26 ammunition trucks which, altho heavily bombed 15 minutes after their departure, carried the treasure to molde.

For five days the town was bombed and reduced virtually to smoldering ruins.

Late one evening, the Telegraph's informant related, the British cruiser Glasgow came alongside the quay to take aboard King Haakon, Crown Prince Olaf, members of the government, and the treasure. Between the gold convoy party and the quay everything was in flames, but it was decided to load the gold.

Use Fishing Boats Also.

German planes continued their attacks, however, and four trucks filled with gold were left behind on the blazing quay. The drivers drove them out of town, reached a forest, and finally obtained five fishing boats and a steamer, on which the gold was loaded.

For a week the little fleet sailed between islands, constantly menaced by German planes. Eventually the boats reached an uninhabited island where two new fishing vessels were found. The gold was reloaded on these and the ships made full speed to Tromsoe.

From Tromsoe, the Daily Telegraph related, the "journey of the gold was completed. . . . It crossed the sea in a large British cruiser. German planes visited it three times, but the cruiser beat them off."

After temporarily resting in the Bank of England vaults, the gold later was transferred to the United States.

TELL HOW SERB BANDS CUT UP 8 NAZI DIVISIONS

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Jugo-Slav guerrillas have smashed an effort by eight Nazi divisions to clean up the Balkans and have stripped to half its might the Prinz Eugen division of the German Elite Guards, Jugo-Slav sources said today.

These sources reported the Germans launched the offensive May 15, but ran into patriot bands which plagued them from Bosnia to Montenegro. Soon the guerrillas took the offensive.

It was reported that an important rail line between Zagreb and Split was cut 13 times in the last two weeks.

The most severe fighting was on the Drina river near Foca, where the guerrillas established a front. The patriots have made repeated attacks on the Belgrade-Sarajevo railroad from the mountains around Foca and now are winning back territory the Germans held, it was said. Fighting also was reported in the German puppet state of Croatia.

NAVY PUTS 1,200 IN TRAINING FOR RANK OF OFFICER

The navy's new V-12 officers training program got under way on Northwestern university's Evanston campus yesterday with the registration of approximately 1,200 students.

The educational phase of the program, which will comprise four 16 week terms, will begin July 12. After completion of this phase, the youths will receive an additional four months specialized training at other schools before they are commissioned as ensigns.

Purpose of the program, naval officers explained, is to build up a reservoir of officer material. The V-12 program will absorb the university's naval R. O. T. C. In charge of the military aspect of the program will be Comdr. Smith D. A. Cobb, while Dean Homer B. Venderblue, educational coördinator, will supervise the scholastic part of the course.

First of 1,800 Navy V-12 Men Reach Notre Dame

South Bend, Ind., July 1 [Special].—The first arrivals of 1,100 apprentice seamen and 700 marine privates who will participate in the navy's V-12 program at the University of Notre Dame here were being assigned to residence halls on the campus today. They will receive military training and civilian academic instruction in preparation for training as officers. The addition of the V-12 school is expected to more than double the university's peace time program.

CANADA'S FIRST STEP IN RUBBER MAKING PROGRAM STARTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SARNIA, Ont., July 1.—The first operations at the Polymer corporation's synthetic rubber plant here began today with the manufacture of crude styrene by the Dow Chemical Company of Canada. Within a few weeks a distillation unit is to be completed, after which the processing of the styrene will be completed here.

Because much of the huge plant is still under construction, the styrene now being made will be used in United States synthetic rubber plants until it is required here.

The St. Clair Processing company will make butadiene when its portion of the plant is completed, and this will be combined with the styrene to make buna rubber, which will be turned out by the Canadian Synthetic Rubber company for processing by other rubber companies in Canada.

REDS SEIZE HILL; HOLD IT AGAINST 23 NAZI ATTACKS

LONDON, July 2 [Friday]—(AP).—Russian troops have captured a "German height of great strategic importance" on the front northwest of Moscow and held it against 23 counter-attacks in which the enemy lost 600 dead, Moscow announced early today.

The area was not identified, but presumably it was either in the Staraya Russa sector near Lake Ilmen, or southwest of Veliki Luki, 110 miles below the lake.

Two hundred casualties were inflicted on the Germans on the Smolensk front west of Moscow during yesterday's operations in which there were no essential changes, the bulletin said.

TASTE A $2,000,000 WHISKEY COLLINS!

Ever sip a really perfect Whiskey Collins? You probably haven't—so here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so good!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND

THEN DO THIS!

1. Take 1 teaspoonful of sugar, 1 oz. of lemon juice, and 2 oz. of magnificent Fleischmann's Bond!
2. Shake well! Then—pour into a tall, thin, sparkling glass!
3. Add ice cubes, and fill to the brim with club soda! Then . . . Relax! You'll want to—for you'll be sipping one of America's grandest drinks!

MARTINIQUE IS NAVY PROBLEM, HULL INDICATES

Adm. Robert.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull said today the United States navy has received a dispatch from authorities on Martinique requesting reopening of discussions concerning the status of the French Caribbean colony.

Hull was asked at his press conference whether the government has received from Adm. Georges Robert, French high commissioner on the island, a request for the dispatch of an American envoy to Martinique to fix the terms for a change of French authority there. Such a step could lead to alignment at last of Martinique with the allies. An aircraft carrier and two light cruisers are at Martinique.

He replied that the navy's message from Martinique authorities is being given appropriate consideration.

He added that so far as the state department was concerned there was not much he could say on Martinique beyond what he had told Adm. Robert when the United States broke off relations with him.

Hull emphasized that he had stated then the United States navy henceforth would have the primary function of dealing with any new developments on Martinique.

Fighting French headquarters asserted that any new high commissioner in Martinique would be named by the French Committee of National Liberation in Algiers, and at headquarters of Gen. Giraud's military mission it was said that this is fully understood by all concerned.

In his note to Robert on April 30, when the United States broke off relations, Hull made clear this government regarded Robert as a tool of the axis dominated Vichy government of France.

'BATTLE' IN AIR STAR SCENE IN ORDNANCE SHOW

Spectators Flock to See Trainer in Action.

The entrance to the army ordnance-Chicago Tribune war show is in Nathan Hale court between Tribune Tower and W-G-N. Visitors should start the tour there.

With the army ordnance show in Tribune square nearly two weeks old, army observers say there is little doubt as to which demonstration has the most audience appeal. Their choice is the anti-aircraft machine gun trainer display. This, when in operation, includes the roar and whine of zooming fighter planes and the vicious chatter of machine guns while an army lieutenant impersonates a student at the trigger.

The first dramatic crackling of this demonstration usually is the signal for children and adults to come a-running to it from all over the main tent. The free show, which is open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily, will continue nearly three more weeks. It is sponsored by the ordnance department of the army service forces and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Battle Conditions Simulated.

The exhibit shows how a student is trained to fire a machine gun under simulated battle conditions. The M-9 training piece, which is a "mock-up" model of a real model M-2 machine gun, is placed at one end of a screened enclosure with a white background at the other end, 50 yards away. A tiny model plane is drawn across the white background on a trolley wire and the student tries to hit it with white lead pellets fired from the training gun.

To give the student some sense of being in a fight during his practice firing, a phonograph record of airplane engines, machine gun bursts, and other battle sounds is played thru a loudspeaker.

Second Lt. Warren Knauer of Kenilworth, who has been sent here from the Aberdeen proving ground, in Maryland, to give lectures while the demonstration, given once every hour, is in progress, explains that the machine gun trainer uses lead pellets because ammunition is costly. It would cost $180 a minute to fire the real gun, he said.

Special Lights at Night.

He said the lead pellets, fired at the rate of 120 per minute, exemplify the real gun's tracer bullets, which appear every fifth round. [The gunner uses the white wake left by the tracer bullets to adjust his aim.] At night the trainer can be equipped with ultraviolet lights and fluorescent bullets.

The training gun was first introduced at Camp Davis, N. C., last August, Lt. Knauer explained, and its chief advantage, under a more complete setup than is possible at the ordnance show, is that it provides better target practice for various types of anti-aircraft defense. At Fort Sheridan and at other army camps model planes are hurtled before, above, and around the gunner in all directions via trolley wires.

The miniature is scaled so accurately that at a distance of 50 feet the practice gunner is coping with movements corresponding with the speed of a real plane at 500 yards, Lt. Knauer pointed out. Speeds up to 500 miles an hour can be simulated.

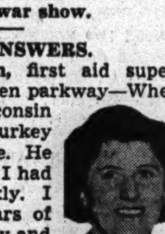
THE QUESTION.

What object have you been compelled to use as a weapon?

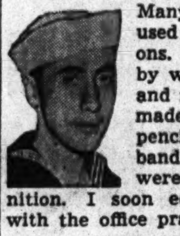
WHERE ASKED.

Army-Tribune war show.

THE ANSWERS.

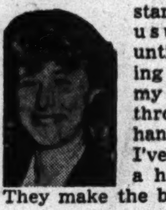


Olga Sebastian, first aid supervisor, 10320 Walden parkway—When I visited a Wisconsin farm an irate turkey started toward me. He looked vicious so I had to think quickly. I threw several ears of corn at the turkey and the kernels distracted him.

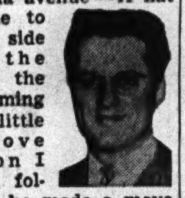


Warren B. Pursell, seaman 2d class, 7637 South Paulina street—Many things can be used in lieu of weapons. The other day, by way of retaliation, and not self-defense, I made a slingshot with pencil and rubber band. A few paper clips were used for ammunition. I soon equaled the score with the office prankster.

Mrs. M. C. Wilson, housewife, McKenzie, Tenn.—Our new dog developed a ferocious streak. First he attacked my mother and was about to turn on me. I picked up a pitcher of ice water from the table and dashed it on him. The chunks of ice sobered him up long enough so we could muzzle him.



June Menaker, student, 7658 Sheridan road—When boys at school start to tease me they usually keep at it until I become fighting mad. When I lose my temper I usually throw whatever is handy. Many times I've hit the target with a heavy history book. They make the best weapons.



David Goodman, inspector, defense plant, 512 Cornelia avenue—A flat tire caused me to swerve from one side of the road to the other and made the driver of an oncoming truck angry. A little later when I drove into the station I noticed he had followed me. When he made a move to start a fight he changed his mind when I grabbed a heavy air pump hose.

Ruth Deyneka, student, 5906 Eddy street—A group of girls were having a club dinner in the church basement. You wouldn't think one little mouse could cause such a commotion but they climbed up on chairs and tables and started to scream. I threw a vase at the mouse and after the vase broke I finished him with a broom.

'OLD IRONSIDES': A FORT GAME AS HER GREAT NAME

Crew Tells of Last Battle —Against 150 Nazis.

AN 8TH U. S. AIR FORCE STATION IN ENGLAND, July 1 (AP).—The crew of "Old Ironsides" has participated in only one raid on Nazi Europe but veteran flyers agree with the Fortress' bombardier, 2d Lt. Chancey Hicks, 27 years old, of Huntington, W. Va., that any bombing mission "can't be rougher unless the Germans get us."

The big German rubber plant at Huls was "Old Ironsides'" target when she took off June 22 with Lt. Buster Peek of Paint Rock, Tex., as pilot and a crew of nine. The co-pilot was Lt. Francis A. Porada of Chicago.

"Old Ironsides"—which the crew swears could not have borne a more appropriate name—ended her short but gallant career at the bottom of the North sea.

Fight Off 150 Attacks.

From that hazardous mission nine members of the crew returned to raid again. All but a gunner, who was drowned, were picked up 30 minutes after the crash by a British rescue boat.

Today the crewmen told how the plane fought off 150 enemy fighter attacks in an hour and a half, downing five German planes, before crashing. Hicks, who shot down two Nazis, said:

"The fighters attacked our formation at the German coast. They shot off part of the tail section and knocked out one engine but we managed to make the bomb run. Then a 20 mm. cannon shell knocked out another engine and damaged the controls."

Gunner K. O.'d; Gets Nazi.

"Old Ironsides" dropped 6,000 feet before Peek pulled her out of the dive. By then she was a straggler and the fighters intensified their attacks. Another shell exploded against Hicks' gun, knocking him out.

"When I came to, I was lying on the floor shaking like a leaf," Hicks said "I looked up and saw a Focke-Wulf coming in. I scrambled back to the gun and knocked him down. He caught fire."

Sgt. Raymond Thompson of Anderson, Ind., top turret gunner, stooped down to pick up ammunition. That act probably saved him from decapitation for in that moment a cannon ball shell blasted the top off his turret.

Plane Shot Up Again.

By then the Fortress was badly shot up and losing altitude. The windows in the nose and cockpit were shattered and the landing gear was dragging. As she flew over Rotterdam, anti-aircraft fire riddled her again.

"I don't see how she stayed up, but she did until we met a Spitfire escort and started out over the North sea," Hicks said. "However, when the third engine failed we had to ditch her. As we struggled to inflate our rubber dinghy, the tail whipped around and knocked us all under the water, drowing a gunner."

A radioed SOS from the Spitfire escort brought the British boat to the rescue.

Robert Mason, 44 years old, a civil engineer, was placed on probation for a year yesterday by Judge Cecil C. Smith in Felony court when Mason agreed to make restitution of $1,200 on 30 bogus checks.

FRENCH CHIEFS START TO UNIFY ARMED COMMAND

Giraud and De Gaulle Set Up Cabinet.

ALGIERS, July 1 (AP).—The new seven member French advisory war cabinet, named by the committee of national liberation, held its first meeting today and began the task of fusing all French land, sea and air forces.

The meeting was held after a stormy four hour session of the national committee which completed the organization of the war cabinet. Members now include Generals Charles De Gaulle and Henri Giraud who agreed on Gen. Rene Bouscat, an aviation officer, as their joint representative.

Pick West Africa Governor.

Earlier, the committee had named Pierre Charles Cournarie to succeed Pierre Boisson as governor-general of French West Africa, which includes the strategic Dakar naval base. Cournarie was appointed governor of the Cameroons by Gen. De Gaulle in 1940.

The committee also settled the question of authority in Algeria by confirming the powers of Gen. Georges Catroux as governor-general. The action followed a raid on an Oran newspaper by armed guards under orders of the French admiral. The newspaper was charged with "De Gaullist activity." Catroux answered with strong protest against interference by the military in civilian administration.

As a result of charges that Frenchmen imprisoned for supporting the allies and De Gaulle before the occupation of North Africa had been mistreated by their French guards, a military tribunal was set up by the committee to investigate.

Allies Agree on Giraud.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed in the house of commons today that the United States and British governments had asked the De Gaulle-Giraud national committee of liberation on June 19 to retain Gen. Henri Giraud "on military grounds" as commander of French armed forces in North Africa for the present.

A request for assurances to this effect was made to the committee, he said, on behalf of Gen. Eisenhower, allied commander in chief.

Churchill said he deprecated "giving any undue attention to the personality aspect" of the new French organization.

"I would say it is not the policy of the United States and British governments that their armies, or the French forces equipped by them, shall be used to impose on France any particular military leader, but rather to make sure the will of the French people, expressed under conditions of freedom, shall decide the future government of their country."

Brig. Gen. Green Named Assistant Judge Advocate

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—The appointment of Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Green as assistant to the judge advocate general was announced today. From December, 1941, to last April 2 Green was executive to Lt. Gen. Delos C. Emmons while the latter was military governor of Hawaii.

Planes and Subs Rip Enemy Shipping at Both Ends of Axis

Attack Off Holland

LONDON, July 2 [Friday] (AP).—British planes damaged seven ships in an attack on a German convoy off the Hook of Holland yesterday, the air ministry announced early today. A communique said:

"Yesterday [Thursday] morning Typhoon bombers, escorted by fighters, attacked an enemy convoy off the Dutch coast. Three merchant vessels and four minesweepers were damaged.

"Yesterday afternoon Spitfires destroyed four enemy fighters over northern France.

"At the same time Thunderbolts [P-47s] of the United States army 8th air force, one of which is missing, destroyed four enemy fighters in the course of a sweep over northern France and the Low Countries.

"Four of our aircraft are missing."

A German radio broadcast said Red Cross trains, each carrying 400 persons, were being used to remove mothers, children, and old persons from the Ruhr to "remote safe districts of the reich," after the recent British raids there.

Danish Raid Reported.

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—A Morocco radio broadcast recorded here today said Aarhus, Denmark's second largest city and an important rail junction, was bombed last night.

There was no indication of such activity by R. A. F., or American planes. British sources said they assumed that if the bombing occurred it was carried out by long-range Russian aircraft.

Mediterranean Raid

LONDON, July 1 (AP).—The admiralty announced today that British submarines have destroyed four axis ships and probably sunk a fifth in Italian waters, bringing to more than 20 the number of enemy vessels sunk or damaged by allied undersea craft in the Mediterranean during the last week.

Raid Five Sicilian Targets.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, July 1 (AP).—American planes yesterday attacked five targets in Sicily. A communique said:

"Bombers [R. A. F.] of the Northwest African air forces attacked Messina during the night of June 29-30.

"Yesterday targets for the bombers of the strategic air forces were Palermo and important air fields in Sicily. At Palermo, B-17 Flying Fortresses, escorted by P-38 Lightnings, scored hits on the storage depot and on the barracks.

"The Fortresses also attacked the Boca di Falco air field, where much damage was done. B-25 Mitchells and B-26 Marauders, with fighter escort, attacked the air fields at Sciacca, Milo, and Borizzo.

"During the day's operations two enemy aircraft were shot down and three were destroyed on the night of June 29-30. Two of ours are missing."

[Germany last night broadcast an unconfirmed report that 38 persons were killed in an allied air raid on a spa near Athens.]

V. F. W. LEADER TELLS SOLDIERS' POLITICAL AIMS

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Robert T. Merrill, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said today that soldiers overseas are planning to enter politics after the war and "we'll have a new form of government" if a depression occurs.

He made the statement at a press conference at which he told of touring North African battle areas, where he said the soldiers "say they're going to run the country when they get home and when the war is over if you're not a service man you can't be a dog catcher."

Asked about the soldiers' attitude toward strikes, he said that among men he talked with "strikes have built up what you might almost say is a hatred of organized labor."

GOODLAND GIVES OPA AID ON GAS RATION CHECK

Confers with McKeough and Other Officials.

Madison, Wis., July 1 [Special].—Acting Gov. Walter S. Goodland announced tonight, after a conference with regional office of price administration officials from Chicago, that they had agreed not to stop motorists indiscriminately in Wisconsin to violation, but added that he would violation but added that he would instruct local authorities to coöperate with federal rationing officials.

The governor said that the "sweeping highway checkup" of motorists in the Green Bay area over the Fourth of July week-end, which had been announced by OPA authorities, would not be held.

Altho the conference with OPA officials here was considered to have brought some peace to the extremely controversial situation, there were still conflicting statements about the drive.

Two McKeough Statements.

Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA director at Chicago, said following the meeting that whether the drive would be called off was up to John C. Reinhart, district OPA director at Green Bay, who had announced it. McKeough said later that "the drive never was called off, nor will it be." Reinhart's last statement was that he intended to proceed with plans for the checkup.

Thomas C. Dwyer, city attorney of Green Bay, when informed of the governor's announcement local authorities to coöperate with OPA, said:

"I haven't had anything brought to my attention that would change my advice to the local police that it would be unlawful to search and seize motorists just because they have an out of the state license or an A, B, or C card on their windshield.

Will Coöperate.

"We will coöperate on anything that is legal, but I believe the police would be sticking their necks out if they acted, without a warrant or something else to back them up, to stop people legitimately driving along our highways. There are better ways than that to stop black market operators and other real violators."

The acting governor conferred with McKeough, Axel Elson, regional OPA attorney at Chicago, and Don T. Allen, Wisconsin state OPA director.

"I made it clear," Goodland said later in a formal statement, "that if it becomes necessary in order to obtain compliance that the state had no objection to local police authorities giving full coöperation to OPA by stopping cars in the performance of their official duty.

"However, at the present time the discretion as to whether such coöperation should be given, of course, rests with the local officials."

No Indiscriminate Stopping.

Later, the governor said he would "instruct local police to coöperate with federal officials on gas rationing, but control of the situation must remain in Wisconsin."

He said the OPA officials acquiesced in his demand that Wisconsin police officials only had the right to question any one in the state and that if the OPA "wants to operate in Wisconsin it will have to do it thru the coöperation of local authorities."

He reiterated that "there will be no indiscriminate stopping of motorists in Wisconsin," but said that if OPA investigators suspect that certain motorists are violating the law, they can ask local police for coöperation in stopping the motorist for questioning.

KRAUSE LOSES PLEA TO STAY CITIZEN OF U. S.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, said last night the ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals upholding the revocation of citizenship of Albert W. Krause, German born engineer, would aid greatly in the government's denaturalization campaign.

Krause, a former employé in the physics department at Northwestern university, was denaturalized last September by Federal Judge Phillip L. Sullivan. The court ruled that at the time of his naturalization, in 1929, Krause never intended to renounce his loyalty to Germany and that he was guilty of disloyal and seditious statements.

Woll said the opinion would aid in the prosecution of denaturalization hearings against nine alleged former members of the German-American bund charged with committing a fraud while taking the oath of citizenship.

The Appeals court also upheld the lower court's refusal to release Krause from an internment camp on a writ of habeas corpus. Krause, 46 years old, is held in an enemy alien camp at Camp McCoy, Wis.

Link OWI Tracts to Race Riot; Mayor Refuses to Free Troops

Negroes Get Pamphlet

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Elmer Davis was disclosed today to have told the senate appropriations committee he had no information to indicate that the distribution of an office of war information pamphlet contributed to Detroit's race riot. riot.

The pamphlet, entitled "Negroes in the War," was distributed by OWI among Negroes thruout the nation, Davis asserted, to combat Japanese propaganda.

The committee made public the testimony today as funds for OWI's domestic branch were tied up in a conference committee.

Sen. Gerald Nye [R., N. D.] said he has had 25 anonymous letters saying the tracts contributed to the rioting.

The pamphlet, Nye asserted, represented the New Deal in "the most favorable light to the Negro people," and quoted from a speech by Vice President Henry A. Wallace: "The people's revolution is on the march and the devil and all his angels could not prevail against it."

Fight Still Goes On

Detroit, Mich., July 1 (AP).—Warning that "the war with the lawless belligerents of a race riot still goes on," Mayor Edward J. Jeffries Jr. has informed the city council he will insist on a "new, workable formula" for speedy return of army troops before he agrees to withdrawal of the soldiers sent here to restore order after the June 21 riots.

The mayor will meet Monday with Gov. Harry F. Kelly and Brig. Gen. William E. Guthner of the 6th service command, who is commanding the troops on patrol duty here, to discuss plans for the soldiers to abandon their patrols.

Patrolman Lawrence A. Adams, 29 years old, shot in a gun battle outside the Fraser hotel at Vernor highway and Brush street the night of June 21, died in a hospital today, 34th fatality officially attributed to the rioting. Two other deaths under investigation may have been the result of the riots.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOOTS SELF.

FREED ON LIQUOR CHARGE.

W. C. James, owner of the Nankin restaurant, 68 West Randolph street was freed yesterday of a charge of selling liquor to a minor on May 15. He was accused of selling liquor to LeRoy Johnson, a seaman.

ICKES EXPECTS MIDWEST TO GET GAS PINCH SOON

Restrictions on Pacific Coast Also Due.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—The war time gasoline famine probably will spread from eastern states to the midwest shortly and to the Pacific coast before the year is out, Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes indicated today, saying it would force tighter turbs on motorists thruout the nation.

Ickes, talking to reporters in his rôle of petroleum administrator, pictured the situation by sections like this;

EAST COAST—Getting a record supply of oil by railroad and due in two weeks to begin getting more oil as the Illinois to New York leg of the "big inch" pipeline from Texas is completed, but unlikely to have anything additional for civilians because military demands are huge and growing.

Output Here Inadequate.

MIDWEST—Troubled by declining production that already is insufficient for its needs, already closer than ever to "more severe restrictions" and likely to get them as the eastward pipeline leg gets into fuller operation within a few weeks, freeing railroad tank cars to haul away more oil from the midwest to the east.

PACIFIC COAST—Headed toward a deficiency of crude oil before the end of the year as military demands bite deeply into supplies while California production falls, a situation which "could, and probably would, mean more severe rationing there."

The Rocky mountain territory was not mentioned specifically by Ickes, but informed sources said its oil position was so closely tied in with the midwest and the Pacific coast that it probably would share the restrictions that appear to be approaching for those areas.

No Danger to War.

Ickes said it was unlikely that the fighting machines of the nations, now on what he called the eve of major action, would suffer from lack of oil thru 1944—but he warned that keeping them going might require still further dips into civilian supplies.

While the big inch pipeline's eastern leg was portrayed as the key to the midwest's fate, Ickes mentioned no date for the midcontinent to come under tighter restriction.

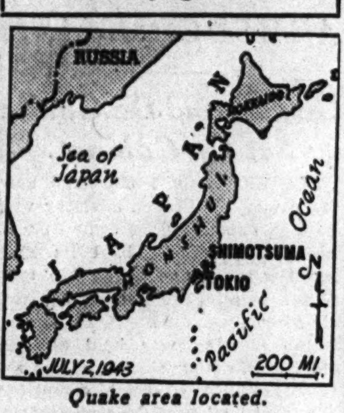
2 Months for Operation.

Some oil will begin moving thru the line to New York and Philadelphia in about two weeks, but it will take possibly "as much as two months" before enough pumps can be installed to operate the line at capacity, 300,000 barrels a day.

Ickes reported that gasoline stocks east of the Mississippi were still falling despite the record railroad delivery of nearly 1,000,000 barrels of oil daily to that section.

Responding to a question, Ickes said that "no serious consideration" had been given to constructing a pipeline from Texas to the Pacific seaboard.

Hit by Quake



Quake area located.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Tokio radio reported that a sharp earthquake shook the Japanese capital and adjacent areas yesterday, but damage was declared to be slight. The broadcast said the epicenter was located near Shimotsuma, approximately 50 miles northeast of Tokio.

A DNB German news agency dispatch broadcast from Berlin reported high buildings in the "lower town" section of Tokio swayed and trembled for one minute without causing serious damage. In some areas bricks were said to have been loosened, collapsing walls.

It was the second earthquake reported from Japan in three weeks.

ICKES DEMANDS PROOF HE AIDS BIG OIL FIRMS

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes today demanded "a bill of particulars" from Sen. Bennett Clark [D., Mo.], who recently charged that Ickes' petroleum administration for war was "prostituted to the service of the big oil companies."

Asked for comment at a press conference on this and the charge that he had loaded the PAW with executives of the big oil companies and had been influenced too much by them, Ickes said:

"It's an old story—regurgitation of food that has been in process of digestion for some time.

"I'd like him to give me a bill of particulars. It's all right for a man to make a general charge, but I'd like to know the specific charges against me."

100,000 MINERS TURN DEAF EAR TO ICKES' PLEA

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 1 (AP).—Return of striking coal miners to the pits was accelerated today with more than 30,000 going back to work. The outlook improved for resumption of full production within the next few days. About 100,000 men, a little fewer than one-fifth of the country's miners, still were idle.

The last walkout started June 20. The United Mine Workers policy committee ordered the men back June 22, but only about half of the 521,000 miners responded immediately. Subsequently, the return of the others became a drawn out process. They protested the miners' failure to obtain portal to portal pay and a working contract.

Improvement in the nation's mining picture followed an appeal to miners by Secretary Harold L. Ickes, custodian of mines, on the radio last night. Many locals voted yesterday and last night to return.

Pickets kept 500 men away at the H. C. Frick Coke company's Filbert mine in southwest Pennsylvania after 200 strikers meeting in Brownsville, Pa., last night voted to extend the strike.

VANDALS BREAK 46 WINDOWS IN ICKES' MANSION

A large flagstone pried out of the walk leading up to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' house at 900 South Private road, Winnetka, yesterday revealed where vandals got rock fragments they used to break 46 plate glass window panes in the mansion Wednesday evening. Detectives on the suburban force said those who smashed the glass must have broken the big stone into many pieces, for the latter were found inside the basement and first floor. Pierce Whitfield, caretaker, said the breakage must have occurred between 5:20 and 7:15 p. m. while he was at dinner in his apartment at 901 Tower road, nearby. The unknown perpetrators are being sought. The home has been vacant, police said, since Ickes went to Washington in 1933, altho the caretaker has been in charge.

REFRIGERATOR SECTIONS STOLEN.

Mike Potson, owner of Colosimo's restaurant, reported to police yesterday the theft of three sections of a refrigerator, valued at $200, from a lot in the rear of the restaurant at 2126 South Wabash avenue.

PETRILLO VOWS HE'LL STOP ALL TRANSCRIPTIONS

Union Threat to Abolish Business Ends Parley.

New York, July 1 [Special].—A government sponsored effort to mediate the controversy over orchestra recordings ended in 15 minutes today when James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, announced that the union no longer was interested in negotiating a settlement and intended to stop the transcription industry permanently.

Contending that it was the first time a labor union had said that it wanted "to abolish a business," seven transcription firms then sent a telegram to Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the conciliation service of the United States department of labor, asking for immediate certification of the dispute to the war labor board.

No Middle Course.

Petrillo minced no words in detailing his position in an interview after the meeting, which had been called by James W. Fitzpatrick, a department of labor conciliator.

"We're not going to make any transcriptions at any cost or at any price," Petrillo said. "The guy really getting rich—it isn't the transcription company—is the radio station and he's the guy we can't reach."

Asked if he would not leave himself open to charges of blocking mechanical progress, Petrillo replied:

"Yes, I know, but we can't get at them [the radio stations] any other way. We've got to go to the source. The only thing we can do is stop the transcription."

Stops Band Pickup.

Petrillo's first proposal called for payment to the union directly of a percentage fee on each disk sold. Petrillo subsequently dropped the plan and asked the employers to refuse disks to any radio station that the union regarded as "unfair." All the proposals were rejected.

Petrillo also moved on another front tonight. Because WSAY, an affiliated station in Rochester, refused to increase its musician employes from one to five, he ordered the removal of all sustaining dance band pickups over the Mutual Broadcasting system. If the station did not settle soon, he said, the union might stop all commercial programs on the national network.

In a previous case of the same kind, Mutual dropped an affiliated station temporarily from the network, but tonight the chain was supporting WSAY. The orchestras of Vincent Lopez and Tommy Tucker were among those cut off the chain.

MILITARY POLICE BATTALION TO SALUTE SKOKIE

An army task force, composed of the 740th military police battalion and special tank and heavy weapons detachments from the 20th armored division, will complete a 700 mile tour thru 22 northern Illinois cities and villages tomorrow with a salute to agriculture, industry, and labor in Skokie, home station of the military police.

Arriving in Skokie in the afternoon, the task force, commanded by Lt. Col. Sidney Z. Eleveld, will put its tanks, guns, mobile equipment, and radio on display to the Skokie community from 5:30 to 7 p. m. The battalion will be divided into two forces at 7 p. m. for a sham battle, with one side supported by tanks.

Aerial and land mines will be used to simulate artillery and to supplement blank cartridge fire from rifles, machine guns, and the 75 mm. gun mounted on the Gen. Sherman tank. Exhibition drills, including intricate marching, rifle manual, and tent pitching will follow the sham battle.

FESTIVAL GROUP TO REHEARSE NEXT TUESDAY

The first rehearsal of the massed fretted orchestra which will play Saturday night, Aug. 21, at Chicago Music Festival in Soldiers' field, will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in Lyon & Healy concert hall, seventh floor, 64 East Jackson boulevard.

Capt. Howard Stube, Chicago high school bandmaster who is director of instrumental participation in the Chicago Music Festival, will be in charge of all practices, assisted by Jack Lundin.

Players of mandolins, banjos, Hawaiian and Spanish guitars are invited. There will be no rehearsal fee and all music will be supplied by the festival management. Subsequent rehearsals at the same hour will be held on each Tuesday and Thursday nights, and on Friday night, Aug. 20.

LA GUARDIA ACTS TO GET CATTLE INTO NEW YORK

Defies OPA in Plan to Avoid Jobber.

New York, July 1 (AP).—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia moved today, in the face of office of price administration opposition, to set up a system whereby independent meat packers and slaughterers would consign their produce directly to retail stores for sale within ceiling prices.

He instructed meat packers and slaughterers "to tell the cattle shippers to go ahead" with the shipment of live stock to the city for slaughter.

The proposal, promulgated by Nathan Sweedler, general counsel for the eastern states independent meat packers and slaughterers, was accepted by the mayor in an effort to relieve the city's current meat shortage and to bring prices within ceilings, but without loss of money to the source of the supply.

Would Avoid Jobbers.

Under the plan, consignments would be sold, without benefit of middlemen—wholesalers, and jobbers—to the retailers. Meat would be sold within ceilings, and 21 per cent kept by the retailer. The remaining 79 per cent would go to the packer or slaughterer, an amount they claim is only enough to cover stock, transportation, and slaughter costs.

The OPA had turned down Sweedler's plan on the ground the 79 per cent return to the packers and slaughterers would violate ceiling prices.

Informed the mayor had given the green light to the proposal, Edward L. Coffey, chief district OPA attorney, said:

"I have no comment to make on the matter whatsovere, other than that, as in all cases when violations are commited, we must act."

Mayor Defends Plan.

"Not by the wildest stretch of the imagination or the legalistic views of any army of lawyers can any one find, in the rules or regulations of the OPA or in the President's policy, where there is any prohibition against selling below ceiling prices," he said.

Sweedler said he was informed when in Washington, D. C., yesterday that the Smith committee investigating government agencies would question OPA officials on the rejection of the independent group's plan.

He said he was contacting each member of the group and asking them to "work with the mayor." The organization is composed of packers and shippers of New England, New York, and New Jersey and claims it supplies the city with 60 per cent of its meat.

"Manpower at home is essential to support fighting-power overseas". . . E. G. Grace, president, Bethlehem Steel

Manpower on the Home Front

Thousands of men arriving for work in a Bethlehem shipyard. Down this yard's busy shipways slide many of the nation's cruisers, destroyers and aircraft carriers. Bethlehem repeatedly has made records for delivering vessels well ahead of schedule.

This is the story of manpower in Bethlehem steel mills and shipyards, of men and women who have come by the thousands from all walks of life to do a job in backing up our fighting forces with a continuous flood of materials. These men and women are vital to the battle of production.

Manpower at Bethlehem Steel has been multiplied three times in three and a half years. Here are the figures:

NUMBER OF BETHLEHEM EMPLOYEES

Poland invaded, September 1939	100,000
Fall of France, summer 1940	120,000
Pearl Harbor, December 1941	190,000
Tunisia, May 1943	290,000

Employment in Bethlehem's shipbuilding and ship repair yards alone has grown from 15,000 in 1939, to nearly 180,000.

The enlistment in our manpower army continues from week to week and from month to month. The total of Bethlehem employees will exceed 300,000 by the end of the year. To reach this total force, and provide for replacements of those going into the armed services and others, many thousands more men and women will be hired.

Facts About Bethlehem Workers

Manpower is the heart of Bethlehem's current production of a ship a day. Manpower makes possible the meeting of its large commitments for ordnance and other war-steel products. All other problems such as materials and supplies are secondary—the essential dependence is on manpower.

Thousands of men from non-essential trades are joining Bethlehem war-work armies.

More than 13,000 women are employed at Bethlehem plants and shipyards, and the number is constantly increasing.

Veteran employees are zealously teaching the newcomers, so that they can quickly handle their appointed tasks.

New employees earn while they learn, in special training classes and in on-the-job training.

Wages are the highest in the history of shipbuilding and steel, and in the top group of all industries.

Promotion is rapid, as opportunity to advance comes far more swiftly than under normal conditions.

Bethlehem employees are friendly, high-grade people. The great majority have education in the high school grades, and thousands are graduates of colleges, crafts and professions.

More than 50,000 Bethlehem employees are now serving in the armed forces, a fact which gives added seriousness of purpose to those working to produce the supplies.

To work in Bethlehem shipyards and plants is to be in the front line of industry, doing a real job to help win the war.

FROM ALL OCCUPATIONS

Bethlehem workers come from virtually every walk of life to serve in these war-work armies. Here are 60 instances of former occupations of men and women who are now producing ships and combat materials.

ACTION IN THE PACIFIC.

The start of an offensive toward Salamaua in New Guinea and the occupation of advanced island positions in the Solomons make cheering news. The Japanese enemy is not being wholly neglected this summer while attention is concentrated on Europe. Tojo as well as Hitler is to have something to worry about.

The new attacks both point toward Rabaul in New Britain, Japan's strong advanced base. Whether the plan calls for an eventual assault upon Rabaul itself with a view to taking it is not yet clear; it may be possible by attacks from the air to force the Japanese to abandon it as an anchorage for the fleet and an airplane base.

At any rate, we are moving toward Rabaul in a manner to divide Japanese attention between the two prongs of the attack. The initiative, it is clear, is ours, and with it we have the immense advantage of choosing the time, the place, and the circumstances of the action.

The double advance toward Rabaul has its larger counterpart in the double threat to Japan from north and south. From the Aleutian Islands off Alaska we are threatening Kiska, and beyond Kiska, Japan's important northern base at Paramushiro. The Japanese cannot allow us to take or neutralize Rabaul without losing control of a substantial part of her conquests toward Australia. Likewise, Japan cannot let us take Paramushiro without exposing the Japanese homeland to long range bombing and greatly increasing the effectiveness of our submarines against her shipping.

It is four or five thousand miles from Rabaul to Paramushiro, much too far to permit the same naval and air force to defend both at the same time. The Japanese are, therefore, obliged to guess where we mean business. They might guess wrong, and certainly they cannot escape the necessity of dividing their strength.

The American people can take credit for the new turn of events. It was largely because of the insistent popular demand for carrying the war to Japan that aggressive action was undertaken in the Pacific. The people of America have not forgotten Pearl Harbor. They are determined to go back to Bataan, to rescue the prisoners taken there, and at Wake, and Guam, and to teach the Japanese a lesson they will never forget. MacArthur's new offensive is a popular move in both senses of the phrase: The people demanded it and they applaud it.

FATHER OF SIX.

The baseball team from the Great Lakes naval training station on Tuesday defeated the Chicago Cubs for the third time this season. The battery for the navy consisted of Lefty Olsen and Dickey. But for the war Olsen would be throwing for the Cubs and Dickey would be receiving for the White Sox. Other professionals playing for the Blue Jackets included Mize, the heavy hitter of the Giants, McCosky of the Tigers, and McQuillen who left the Browns to play outfield for the navy.

That night the Ravinia concert season opened and 200 sailors making up the splendidly trained choir of Great Lakes were on hand to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Anchors Aweigh." The band and the orchestra at the naval training station are also high ranking musical organizations.

Sports and music are useful in maintaining morale both in the armed forces and among civilians. That seems to be true in England, too, where despite the man power shortage professional cricket and soccer games continue to be played. Among the German soldiers who surrendered in Africa was a band complete with instruments including large umpahs.

However, a Chicago draft board and a state selective service official don't join in this widespread appreciation of music. Louis Sturchio, a 30 year old clarinet and saxophone player in Blue Barron's band, currently performing at a Chicago hotel, has been told by a draft board here to go back home to Pittsburgh and get a job in a war plant or be inducted. Sturchio is the father of six children of ages 1 to 10. Clyde Kingdon, at the state selective service office, sustained the action of the draft board. If this view is upheld by the highest authority and is consistently held, then Olsen, and Dickey, and Mize, the Great Lakes singers, the navy orchestra, and the big band may expect to be given sea duty at once. That would mean good-by, too, to tin-pan alley and New York's bizarre night life.

But to come back to Sturchio. Whether a professional clarinetist can develop enough skill as a mechanic in a war plant to support a large family is doubtful. It is, in fact, by no means certain that Sturchio can find employment in a war job at all. Nor is it at all certain that if he reports to a Pittsburgh draft board when he gets home that he would be ordered to stop playing blue notes professionally for the duration.

There is anything but uniformity in the administration of the selective service act over the country. Figures released by the office of war information some time ago and published in the Congressional Record showed that in North Dakota 11.23 per cent of the draft registrants were deferred for occupational reasons. The North Dakota draft authorities are most generous of all in excusing men from bearing arms. At the other extreme, in Mississippi, less than 1 per cent of the registrants were given occupational deferment. As the selective service law is an act of congress the administrators of it should be interested in seeing that there is something approaching equal treatment of the young men wherever they may be registered.

OWI PROPAGANDA.

The house of representatives refused to appropriate any more money to the office of war information for domestic propaganda. The senate later voted an appropriation of $3,561,000 for this purpose and now the senate and house conferees have reduced the allowance to $2,750,000.

We hope the house stands firm and rejects the conference committee report. There is no place in our theory of government for a Goebbels.

There is nothing wrong with the morale of the American people and if there were it couldn't be cured by propaganda. The American people don't want the news of the war abroad or at home doctored by some press agent. If things have gone wrong, they want to know about it, without the omission of details that might be embarrassing to the administration.

The suspicion that the OWI is being used to promote the fourth term candidacy is strong. Mr. Roosevelt is not entitled to use government funds to promote his ambitions. That is another reason why the OWI propaganda fund should be denied.

A BROKEN PROMISE.

The hog market this week has been chaotic because of the failure of the government to keep its word to the farmers. Last fall Secretary of Agriculture Wickard told farmers to expand hog production greatly, and promised that the government would see that the price did not fall below $13.25 per hundred pounds. This rock bottom minimum was later raised to $13.75 by Food Administrator Chester Davis. Mr. Wickard said that the government wanted heavier hogs, by which was meant those from, say, 280 to 350 pounds. Mr. Davis mentioned a 240-275 pound hog as the one to which the minimum price would apply. Mr. Davis didn't say that there would be a minimum price at other weights, but the need for heavy hogs to increase the supply of fats was repeatedly emphasized by the secretary of agriculture and other government authorities.

On Wednesday the hog raisers were to learn, to their distress, that the government did not mean to keep its promise. The price for the 240-275 pound animals dropped below $13.75. A few brought the promised price, but most of the porkers in that weight range sold at a lower figure. The farmers who responded to the appeal of the government for "marketing at heavier weights" received prices substantially lower.

The government says that it cannot maintain the price because receipts are beyond the capacity of the packers. What is going to happen in December and January when receipts will be at least 50 per cent larger than at present? How low will the price be then? And are heavy weights going to be at a big discount below "government weights?" If so, the production of fats and oils is going to be severely curtailed.

The discovery by the farmers that the word of responsible government officials cannot be relied upon is bound to have a detrimental effect upon food production in the future. The alternatives seem to be for congress to make price minimums a matter of law or to recognize that any farmer who suffers from a broken promise of the government is entitled to file a bill for his loss in the Court of Claims.

With much less law and a minimum of government overhead, much more was accomplished in the last war. Food Administrator Herbert Hoover early in 1917 announced that the government desired the packers to pay a minimum of $15.50 per hundred pounds for hogs. Mr. Hoover did not merely hope that this would be done and trust to luck as the Roosevelt administration has recently done. Mr. Hoover simply secured an agreement to purchase given amounts at a specified price from the army and navy, the allies, the Belgian relief commission, and the American Red Cross. That took care of one-third of the supply and it made certain that the consumer price would be high enough for the packers to pay $15.50 for all hogs. The minimum was not penetrated.

The next fall it was determined that a price of $18 would be necessary to assure the supply of hogs and fats that was desired. Similar agreements were entered into by the food administrator with the various official purchasing agencies and the $18 was maintained.

A major influence in controling the price consisted in the measures to effect the consumption of pork by the public. When supply was low prices were kept from running away by restricting consumption. This was done by appeals to the people to observe meatless Tuesday and to reduce the amount of meat eaten on other days so that there would be more for the soldiers. On the other hand, when the amount available tended to force the price down, as for instance during the flu epidemic, people were asked to eat more meat. Packers were encouraged to conduct promotion campaigns to stimulate demand when there was an excess.

At present, with a market glutted with hogs and far greater supplies certain to come later, people are being prevented by point rationing from helping to take the surplus off the market.

Something needs to be done to restore the confidence of the farmers in the good faith of the government. And something must be done to adjust consumption of food products promptly to supply. That means stimulating consumption when there is an excess as well as limiting it when there is a shortage. The appointment of Mr. Hoover as food administrator might accomplish both of these objectives.

POLIOMYELITIS MICE.

[New York Sun.]

Announcement of the discovery that mice can be carriers of infantile paralysis may cause to the easily excited more alarm than is justified. Because there happen to be mice in the house it does not necessarily follow that this dreaded disease will break out. The discovery, nevertheless, provides an added reason for removing these pests. They can do more than consume valuable food and damage other things in quest for materials for their nests.

The fact that mice may spread the disease—a discovery which the Journal of the American Medical Association calls "one of the most important contributions to the epidemiology of poliomyelitis of the present decade"—was made by Dr. C. W. Jungblatt and Dr. Gilbert Dalldorf of Columbia university, investigating two highly localized outbreaks of the disease in White Plains. Their suspicions were aroused when they found a mouse, recently dead, in a house where there had been a fatal case of the disease. They trapped other mice there and thruout the half-mile square area to which the outbreak was confined. Laboratory tests showed the mice had in their systems the same virus which had caused human deaths.

Apparently mice can give the disease to each other and, in their raids on pantries, spread the virus on food which later reaches the membranes of the human mouth and throat. The exact method of transmission, however, is less important than the indication that it exists. Rats long have been fought as carriers of the bubonic plague while mice have been ignored as a minor health hazard. Now it is time to get after them, too.

Truces among the French leaders in Africa are about as numerous as those in the coal strike.—New York Sun.

THE KINGS OF COLOGNE.

The mortal remains, bones, or dust of the Three Magi, better known as the Three Wise Men of the East, are supposed to have been preserved in the cathedral of Cologne, and since that famous fane has been damaged by bombing, the legend of these relics becomes a matter of fresh interest. The Magi were the Persian seers who started the custom of Christmas gifts, and disturbance of their last resting place by war is not a cheerful omen.

Cologne called them the Three Kings and named a chapel in the cathedral after them. The bones were contained in a reliquary of rich craftsmanship, originally ornamented with gold and precious stones. Most of the valuable inlays disappeared, however, when the French revolutionary army used the cathedral as a hayloft in 1795.

The question naturally arises: How did the Three Magi, Wise Men, or Kings get to Cologne? Did they continue their stargazing pilgrimage until they reached the outskirts of the Roman empire in Germany, and then settle down to die of old age? Of course not. The legend runs back to a certain Empress Helen, whose story can be read in the larger encyclopedias of saints. She found them in Constantinople, which was a likely place for relics in the dark ages, and installed them in Milan.

In 1157 Frederick I., called Barbarossa, German and Holy Roman emperor, swooped down upon Italy and captured Milan. When he marched back across the Alps the reliquary of the Three Magi was in the imperial baggage. Barbarossa gave the venerated object to a certain Archbishop Reiald, who deposited it in Cologne. The arrival of the bones antedated the birth of the cathedral by almost a century.

* * *

So it seems that the Three Kings of Cologne are not strangers to the fortunes of war.

* * *

The twin spires of this great cathedral soar to a height of 515 feet. They make it the second loftiest ecclesiastical structure in the world. The cathedral of Ulm, whose history is a close parallel to Cologne's, holds the record with 528 feet.

NEW GUINEA NIGHT.

Beauty, inviolate, pristine!—surely here
Is her very sanctuary, aloof from earth
Like the shining quietude of a separate sphere
Reserved for the dreams of man since dreams had birth!
See, on the purple curtain of darkness drawn
From farthest peak to newest, nearest clearing
Hewn in the jungle's heat, how like a swan
Of silver moves the moon—how soft past hearing
But bright to the sight, sea-ripples from afar
Break over still warm sands—and in the breeze
Blown oceanward what poignant flower scents are,
But wait! Of a sudden the snarling guns uprise . . .
Apollyon's footloose again in Paradise!

Before the Era of Laundry Troubles.

Ah, me, how well I do recall how we fastened upon a clothesline the snowy laundry of our large family. We hung the washing "against the wind," so that it struggled, and flapped, and tugged, as if trying to escape. Sometimes it did escape, and pieces of laundry, fat with wind, sailed merrily over the greensward of our back yard with us in pursuit, laughing and giggling, and Towser, our sorrel spaniel, "helping."

O, how sweet it smelled when it was sprinkled preparatory to ironing, and why, indeed, should it not when it had been washed in rain water and dried in clean, sweet air under a few fat white clouds tumbling about in a clear blue sky?

In wintertime it froze stiff, and nothing delighted the family more than when it was brought in and the union suits stood up against the wall for our entertainment until they collapsed in the warm air of our huge farm kitchen. How we hooted with laughter, altho we had seen it many times before. It was a familiar bit of by-play in the scene called home. We loved it, mother loved it, and we all loved one another.

Those were grand days! Roy Engel.

TRAIN CONDUCTORS.

Conductors on trains ever awe me
As they tread the jiggling aisle,
With a sure, steady gait, and soldierly straight—
I'm too frightened to speak or to smile.

At sight of their garbs, shiny-buttoned,
I'm cowed and unduly aware
In their method of punching a fare.

Their strong voices calling out stations
Upset my complacence no end.
(Are they saying Bryn Mawr or South Bend?)

Yet today I approached a conductor
(At each step my courage was growing),
And said without fear, "Beg pardon, my dear,

Motorist's Pain in the Neck.

A-B-C gas stickers, city vehicle license, safety lane decals, Red Cross and war bond posters, college insignia, federal use stamps, and assorted club membership stickers now cover every available inch on the windshield of my pre-war Anthracite Special.

I suggest that future windshield decorations be equipped with large, round holes so that I may once more obtain a glimpse of the road. My neck has a permanent crick in it from driving with my head out the car window like a railroad engineer.

According to the cablegrams the dome of the cathedral at Cologne was hit by a bomb. This building has two huge spires but no dome.

Located on the Dom Platz in Cologne, "Der Dom" may have been "verplatzt" none the less.

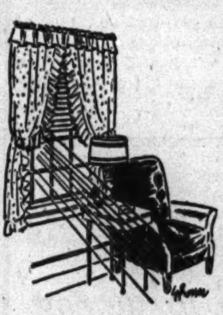
WHAT ARE VIRUSES?

ARE viruses alive or are they merely chemicals endowed with extraordinary power? We know that bacteria [plants] require food for development and we can actually see them grow. Not so with a virus. The individual particles are so tiny that the strongest lens will not reveal their structure.



Nevertheless, when a small bit is introduced into the body it will, within a short time, increase a thousandfold. But the material will propagate only within living cells. This trait—reproduction—present the best argument against the chemical theory. In other words, how can we explain the ability of these forms to multiply unless they are viable? We can, of course, liken them to enzymes which are the products of cell activity. But in their behavior they resemble germs so closely that we may regard them as following the laws of biology.

At any rate, we know that a virus can spread from one person to another. The common cold, for example, is contagious and the causative agent may travel thru the air and float about on flecks of dust. Distemper is another virus disease which is air borne. A ferret placed in a cage in a room with an afflicted dog will contract the disorder in approximately 10 days even tho care is exercised not to permit contact thru food, dishes, water, etc.

Then, too, they can be carried by insects. Horse encephalitis may be transmitted to man and birds by mosquitoes. A few years ago it was noted that pigeons were dying rapidly in a section of Massachusetts. With the arrival of frost, the epidemic ceased. Why? Because the "skeeters," which had become infected with equine encephalitis and had bitten the pigeons, succumbed to freezing temperatures.

The number of diseases now laid on the doorstep of viruses is substantial. We include smallpox, yellow fever, chickenpox, herpes zoster, poliomyelitis, mumps, measles, influenza, and dozens of maladies which attack animals.

Fortunately these foes can be destroyed in about the same fashion as bacteria—by heat and antiseptics. Drying will kill some, but not all. The yellow fever invader, when dried or frozen, will remain active for months. Ultraviolet, on the other hand, cannot be withstood. This explains why sunlight is one of our best disinfectants.

But our main reliance against these destroyers is to establish immunity at so high a level that they cannot and will not play their vicious rôles.

Altho Jenner succeeded in neutralizing the virulence of smallpox by passing it thru a cow, success in vaccinating against other forms has not been spectacular. It should be said, however, that the virus of yellow fever, which many of our troops may be obliged to encounter, can be grown on chick embryo from which the nervous tissue has been removed. It thus loses its affinity for nerves and takes on a mild disposition.

Some day perhaps we will be able to announce an effective vaccine against the common cold and the epidemic type of influenza which has levied a heavy toll.

SUGAR.

J. C. C. writes: What is meant by sugar blood?

REPLY.

The circulation contains sugar [glucose]. An oversupply may point to diabetes. With too little, the individual may feel "all in." Balanced meals, associated with good health, will maintain this essential material at a proper level.

BONY KNOBS.

B. Q. writes: Do all cases of arthritis have spurs?

REPLY.

NOT SOLVED.

G. S. writes: Is the cause of myasthenia gravis known?

REPLY.

There are many theories but no one proved cause.

BETRAYERS OF AMERICA.

Chicago, June 27.—If there's anything calculated to raise the blood pressure these days it's to read of the post-war planning going on in Washington by certain sinister groups of neurotics; most of whom seem willing to sell out America for even less than the proverbial 30 shillings. Anxious to pose as world philanthropists they overlook the fact that what they're feverishly plotting to give away isn't theirs to give.

By their internationalism they raise grave doubts as to their right to be called Americans. Most of them probably had no forebears in this country during the difficult days of building it or the anxious time of formulating the Constitution. If there indeed be such a one among them he is doubly a traitor.

The loathsome ideas presented, such as America becoming a dependent state without distinctive citizenship, unable to make laws except by permission of a world government, are so pernicious and destructive to our American way of life that they should sound the alarm to the most phlegmatic.

As to any "new order" in this country all we need in that line is a thoro sweeping-out of the New Deal with everybody and everything remotely connected with it. Let those who are foaming at the mouth for a new order, and their associate internationalists, go to the countries they love so much better than America—no one here will weep; and let them discover just how welcome they will be over there when their pockets are not bulging with American taxpayers' cash!

Lucie Butler Snyder.

THEY'RE CASHING BONDS.

Chicago, June 27.—Today five members of our family will each cash in a war bond. Having worked long, strenuous hours for 50 weeks, we felt our health demanded two weeks' recreation. Our car stood in the garage all winter and, consequently, we destroyed our A coupons as they became valid. Reservations and deposit on a cabin in the north woods were made in May. Now that the Fond du Lac episode makes it clear we will be forbidden to use our car, we must spend nearly $100 train fare, turning in war bonds for the purpose. Auto expense would have amounted to approximately $10 and highway driving is easier on tires than stop and go city driving. Naturally we will use our A coupons in the latter manner when we arrive home so there will be no material saving of rubber. The consequence of the stupid action by the OPA will be five less war bonds and $100 needless expense for train fare.

CHARGES BLACKLIST.

Chicago Heights, Ill., June 28.—I was employed in a defense factory in this city and as I'm not in favor of belonging to a CIO union, I quit. The result is I cannot get a job in this town for love or money. The United States employment service tells me they have no job for me. Seeing that there is supposed to be a great shortage of skilled labor, it just doesn't add up. I'm a class 1 machinist. Duke Louis.

PRISONERS AND PENSIONERS.

Chicago, June 28.—Did you know or care that prisoners of war in the United States get more money than old age pensioners? V. Manm Senior.

HONOR ROLL AND BLACKLIST.

Chicago, June 28.—Next to an axis surrender, the prompt action of congress in passing the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill over the President's veto was the most important news that could have been published.

Its immediate effect is to eliminate the one privileged class that assumed the right to consider its own selfish aims above those of the nation. It also, I believe, marks the first time since the New Deal began that any legislation compelling labor to assume responsibilities as well as privileges has become law.

Every man who voted for this bill will be on labor's blacklist. It is inspiring to know that these courageous men put the safety of our country ahead of their thoughts of votes for the next election. Why not publish their names as a special honor roll?

Or to make sure that independent voters can take a crack at those who thought of politics rather than America, why not publish the names of the 25 senators and 108 congressmen who voted not to override the veto?

Ted Leitzell.

McLAUGHLIN IS ALWAYS AVAILABLE.

Chicago, June 29.—In his letter of June 15, Mr. H. J. Malone asks whether a student of United States constitutional history could get from the public library the books, specifically McLaughlin's Constitutional History, necessary to his studies. The answer is an emphatic yes. We have some 50 copies of that excellent work, 7 downtown and 40 odd in branches. Not only that, but our readers' adviser would be delighted to compile a full study course on constitutional history [or any other subject] and would guarantee to have the necessary books ready for the student as they were successively required. We do that for 600 to 800 people a year and would like to do it for a great many more. As for "Grapes of Wrath" and "Gone With the Wind," we had to carry plenty of copies of each while they were in demand, but not any more. Of McLaughlin we continuously carry up to 50, year after year.

DEFENDS ZONE NUMBERS.

Evanston, Ill., June 28.—We all know that the postoffice department is short of help, due to the draft and high earnings elsewhere. Business firms will, in due time, have their zone numbers on their stationery and the public generally will become accustomed to using them in their correspondence. This system is not a New Deal idea. It has been in vogue many years in large cities, all over the world. L. Hale is only adding one more thing to dissatisfy people at a time when there are plenty of more important things to worry about. J. M.

HE MUFFED IT.

Chicago, June 29.—If one of our soldiers "muffed" his job—for instance should a sentry fall asleep, thus endangering the lives of his comrades—he would be court martialed and might be shot. Yet Mr. Knox has "muffed" his job, has endangered the oil of the nation. What should be his fate?

L. C. Van Hymid.

HE SUSPECTS COLLUSION.

Chicago, June 27.—Did the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill really pass contrary to the wishes of Mr. Roosevelt? This bit of legislative action, when compared with other New Deal maneuvering, looks very much like a case of political collusion, with the President playing his usual part as the hero, the "friend" of labor.

It has been very interesting to watch him give the bricks to some one else to throw, while he appears as the great emancipator. Political horse-play is a common practice in our legislative chambers. To those of us who have been watching this Roosevelt New Deal game, it appears evident that F. D. R. wanted the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill to pass, but he did not want to take the blame for it. President Roosevelt has played both sides of the street since 1937.

Green of the AFL, and Murray of the CIO boost Roosevelt, but condemn the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill, which is wholly senseless. They are following Roosevelt up both sides of the street, not knowing where he is leading them. R. J. Nugent.

MORE THAN 19 MONTHS.

Chicago, June 28.—Your cartoon "As One Democrat to Another" of June 26, where the 1918 Democratic leadership points out that they won their world war in 19 months, whereas the present Democratic leadership has been in their world war from December, 1941, to June, 1943, is not technically correct. Article 6 of the Atlantic Charter signed by F. D. Roosevelt says, "After the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny, etc." and is dated Aug. 14, 1941. In fact, our present administration was preparing for this war as far back as June, 1940, with passage of the draft act; therefore, the present Democratic leadership has been involved in their world war for over 36 months, notwithstanding Pearl Harbor.

Erwin Baumruck.

HE'LL BE BACK.

Fort Brady, Mich., June 26.—I want to thank you and the people of Chicago for the swell months I spent there. They will never die in my memory, because everybody was so swell to me. The girls are really solid. While there I got engaged to a Chicago girl, and will make it my home after this is over. I need not say much more because it shows for itself how service men appreciate those centers. They are just like home to us fellows.

Test Your Horse Sense

By George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 22.

1. Which of these cities does not contain a United States mint?
   San Francisco Philadelphia Chicago Denver
2. Which of these famous lines was not a battle front?
   Maginot Mason-Dixon Mannerheim Siegfried
3. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping?
   Elgin Camay Gruen Hamilton
4. Which kind of acid in the body is reduced by rapid breathing?
   Carbonic Hydrochloric Lactic Acetic
5. Which one of these trees in the distance should a thirsty man view with most delight?
   Oak Pine Maple Willow
6. When you are sleeping, your blood pressure normally reaches its lowest point, and your heart slows down in its tempo. Thus, your heart may drop from 72 to 66 beats per minute, but each of those 66 beats may be against a lower resistance. A man with a blood pressure of 130 when he is awake and working may have his blood pressure drop to 110 during undisturbed slumber. If each heart beat is thus against 20 millimeters of mercury less pressure, how much pressure does the heart avoid during an 8 hour night's sleep? Compare this eliminated pressure with the eliminated beats you computed on Wednesday of this week, and you can appreciate the vacation you give your heart while slumbering.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

The Evening Bulletin

LEADERSHIP

in Philadelphia

STATEMENT FOR FIRST 6 MONTHS–1943

Those who have an advertising message for the Philadelphia market — one of the country's biggest and busiest work centers — will be interested in the figures shown below.

This six months' statement shows THE EVENING BULLETIN has the largest display advertising volume and the largest gain in such volume of any Philadelphia daily newspaper.

For those who consider classified advertising as an indication of a newspaper's standing, we wish to point out that The Evening Bulletin carries more individual classified advertisements than any other Philadelphia daily newspaper.

Those interested in more detailed advertising statistics are invited to send their inquiries for information to The Evening Bulletin, Filbert and Juniper Sts., Phila. 5, Pa.

PLEASE NOTE: As The Evening Bulletin does not publish a Sunday edition, comparisons of advertising and circulation leadership are made on the correct six-day basis.

WEARY HOUSE VOTES SCHOOL LUNCHES; QUITS

Bill Left Till Last to Keep Members Present.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., July 1.—Weary Illinois house members early today stuck to their posts during the final hours of the 63d general assembly to pass—without a vote to spare—a measure to appropriate $1,500,000 for school lunches.

The measure, given final approval with 77 votes, was held back by Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg until the sleepy closing hour of 6 a. m. in order to hold members in the chamber while action was being taken on a last minute jam of less important bills.

United States Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] was responsible for pushing thru a federal appropriation under which Illinois will receive $4,500,000 in government funds to be used with its own $1,500,000 in the lunch program.

House Works Straight Thru.

The house wound up its business at 6 a. m. after working straight thru the night. The senate formally closed the session at 11:06 a. m., when Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross banged the gavel to adjourn the six month session sine die. The clocks had been stopped a few minutes before midnight to meet the requirement that all legislative business be transacted prior to the July 1 deadline.

The senators took a "five minute recess" at 3:26 a. m., returning at 10 a. m. for concurrence in house amendments. The windup was the most protracted within memory.

Previous recent sessions have seen all business concluded around 2 or 3 in the morning of July 1.

Altho the state administration had anticipated the lunch bill's passage in yesterday's estimates of total spending for the biennium, Majority Leader Reed F. Cutler warned the house to be cautious about adopting the school lunch program.

Slum Clearance Bill Fails.

Several Chicago bills were also held until the final hour in the house in an effort to keep Democratic votes on hand. As a result, observers said, Mayor Kelly's bill to empower the city to clear up blighted areas by purchasing substandard dwellings failed to pass. At the late hour it was called, it could get only 73 votes—four short of passage.

Passed a little earlier, before the fatigued members straggled back to their hotels, was the bill to permit the city to turn over unused land near the 39th street pumping station to the Chicago park district.

Vote on 20 Other Bills.

Another early morning casualty was the bill of Sen. Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet] to bring widows of judges within the judges' pension act. It fell 15 votes short of passage in the house after provoking one of the final bits of heated debate.

Just before the school lunch bill rang down the curtain the same roll call obtained on routine measures—93 to 0—was applied to 20 other bills. Included was Sen. Barr's bill providing that electors at annual town meetings may authorize the impounding and destruction of stray dogs. But his bill to require annual inoculation of all dogs against rabies had died on the calendar without being called for a vote.

PHIL COLLINS CHOSEN TO HEAD NEW STATE BUREAU OF REVENUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., July 1.—Gov. Dwight H. Green today announced the appointment of Phil W. Collins of Chicago as director of the new department of revenue which came into being when he signed a series of bills this morning.

Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, Republican nominee for United States senator in 1938, immediately was appointed a deputy director by Collins, who said he acted with the governor's approval. Paul C. Rosenquist of Rockford also was appointed a deputy director.

The three men had comprised the state tax commission, which is abolished under the new setup.

In addition to taking over collection of revenues from the department of finance, the revenue department will integrate the functions of the tax commission, including railway tax assessments, capital stock assessments, and coöperation with local taxing bodies.

Gas for 1 Bomber on Raid Can Take Auto 60,000 Mi.

LONDON, July 2 [Friday] (AP)—The Lancaster heavy bomber uses about 2,000 gallons of gasoline in flying about 500 miles to the Ruhr and back—enough to take the average British small car about 60,000 miles—Geoffrey Lloyd, oil control board chairman, said today.

8 MILLION BOND VICTORY CHEERS COUNTY BOARD

Pledge Future Budgets Will Be Balanced.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Members of the Cook county board, encouraged by the passage at Springfield of a bill that would permit them to pay off 8 million dollars of accumulated debts with a bond issue, looked into their still muddled financial condition yesterday and took a "never again" pledge. The promise was that they wouldn't adopt any more unbalanced budgets.

If Gov. Green signs the bonding bill, the board's plan is to issue enough 20 year amortization bonds to satisfy a judgment of $3,126,000 due to the city of Chicago for the costs of certain kinds of suits in the Municipal court, and also to pay bills of about 5 millions contracted in the purchase of supplies in the last three years.

Financial experts said that the new bonds, backed by a tax levy, probably would be sold at an average yield of 2¾ per cent or less.

Economy Needed, Smith Says.

"Getting our finances on a sound basis will save the county a great deal in interest and in lower prices for supplies for the county institutions," said Clayton F. Smith, board president. "We still must put into effect every economy we can and collect every penny we can. I for one am determined we shall have no more unbalanced budgets; appropriations and revenues are going to be matched accurately."

Commissioners Frank Bobrytzke, William Busse, and George Miller echoed.

"We must never get into the same shape again," said Bobrytzke.

"I'll raise hell if anybody tries it," declared Busse.

"There is going to be economy from now on," averred Miller.

Plans Appeal to Fee Officers.

Smith said that he was going to call a conference of all the county fee officers and ask them to refrain voluntarily from spending all their 1943 appropriations. He added that he wished to keep the County hospital and the Oak Forest infirmary rendering full service, but that they would have to be cut if revenues were insufficient.

All agreed that bond issues to pay current debts were wrong, but that the method was one of desperation adopted to keep the county out of bankruptcy. They contended that it was an economical way now.

If the new bond issue brings the county up to its constitutional tax rate limitation of 75 cents—as it will—there will be no leeway for further "monkey business," as Busse expressed it, and Cook county will have to live within its means.

Egypt's Highest Judicial Post Goes to American

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 1 (AP).—For the first time in the history of the Egyptian mixed courts, the presidency of the courts of appeal—Egypt's highest judicial post — has gone to an American judge, Jasper Y. Brinton of Philadelphia. He has been the American representative on the mixed courts since 1921.

KELLY ANALYZES HUGE JOB DONE IN CITY RELIEF

Mayor Kelly said yesterday, as the city started its eighth year of administering relief in Chicago, that approximately one out of every six persons in the city had received public aid one time or another during the last seven years; that more than 200,000 persons were on relief July 1, 1936; that a peak of 278,000 was reached in March, 1939, and that fewer than 50,000 general assistance clients remained on the rolls now. Able bodied employables, he said, have been off the rolls two years; those now served are unable to fill private jobs. Of 200 million dollars paid out for relief and administration during the seven years, the state has supplied 81 per cent and the city the remainder thru its levy of 30 cents per $100 for relief purposes, Kelly said.

ASSAULT CHARGES DISMISSED.

Charges of assault to kill, against Robert Nugent, 49 years old, and John Sullivan, 46, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Cecil C. Smith in Felony court for lack of evidence.

[ADVERTISMENT]

War Effort Needs Your Brown Waste Paper

Heavy war demands have caused a critical shortage of pulp. You are asked to save all forms of brown paper — used brown boxes, containers, wrapping paper, and brown waste paper—to help supply paper products for military needs. Your brown waste paper will be used to make airplane parts, bomb bands, and other weapons of war. Flatten out boxes, stack loose brown paper into neat bundles. To sell to a dealer, or to give your salvage to charitable or other organizations, call collectors at STAte 8787.

CIVIL LIBERTIES COUNSEL RAPS POLICE CONDUCT

Criticism of Chicago police conduct and of the Chicago Crime commission were contained in a prepared statement issued yesterday by Charles Liebman, counsel for Civil Liberties committee. Liebman defended the recent ruling of Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter which in effect held that federal officers must arraign a prisoner immediately on arrest without obtaining statements or attempting to obtain a confession.

"Police inevitably resort to illegal detention, third degree, and torture in their zeal to obtain convictions," said Liebman's statement. "The Chicago Crime commission, for example, has never criticized the free and easy illegal shootings by Chicago police as a result of which many innocent persons are shot and killed each year.

Liebman took issue with Virgil W. Peterson, director of the commission, who had criticized the Frankfurter ruling. Peterson had analyzed the ruling as "playing into the hands of hardened criminals."

Don't discard that accumulation of bread in your pantry, for you'll find in it the makings of a delightful pudding or two. Try the plain, old fashioned kind, or vary the recipe to suit the family's preference. If the bread is quite dry, heat it in the milk before adding other ingredients.

Standard Bread Pudding.
[Serves 8.]
[illegible] tablespoons butter or margarine
3 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 quart milk
3½ cups bread cubed

Melt butter and combine with eggs, sugar, salt, vanilla, and milk. Mix and pour over bread cubes. Bake at 350 degrees, moderate heat, for 45 to 50 minutes, or until firm. Serve warm or chilled.

Variations for Bread Pudding.

1. Add ½ cup raisins and ¼ cup chopped nuts.

2. Add ½ cup cooked, pitted, and halved prunes, 1 tablespoon lemon juice or 1 tablespoon orange juice and 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

3. For caramel bread pudding melt butter, add sugar, cook very slowly, stirring until sugar is brown. Add milk, eggs, salt, and vanilla, pour over bread and bake.

Banana Butterscotch Bread Pudding.
[Serves 6.]
2 cups cubed dry bread
1 quart scalded milk
¾ cup brown sugar
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs, slightly beaten
Dash of salt
1 large banana

Soak the cubed bread in the hot milk. Add the brown sugar and butter which have been cooked together for 3 minutes over low heat, then the eggs and salt. Combine with sliced banana in a buttered baking dish and bake at moderate heat, 350 degrees, for about 50 minutes. Serve warm or chilled.

When to Defrost.

Your refrigerator should be defrosted whenever a fourth-inch of frost has accumulated. Don't try to hasten the process by chipping off the frost or you may do some damage.

Here's Mexican Meat Pie

Mexican meat pie is a good buffet table hot dish. Melt 3 tablespoons fat, add 2 cups chopped onion, and 1 pound ham and 1 pound veal cut in half inch cubes. Cook until lightly browned. Add 4 tablespoons flour and mix well. Add 2 cups canned or fresh tomatoes, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, ½ bay leaf, ¼ teaspoon each ground cloves and mace, ½ teaspoon salt, and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Pour mixture into large greased baking dish or two smaller casseroles. Top with 2 cups packaged crispy rice cereal and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 35 minutes. Serves 10.

Turnips Fixed to Suit Taste of Any Child or Cultivate Adults'

Children frequently dislike the more strongly flavored vegetables such as turnips and parsnips. Serve them occasionally combined with potatoes in pretty little puffs, if you're trying to cultivate your family's taste for a wider variety of foods.

Turnip Puffs.
[Serves four.]
1 cup hot mashed potatoes
1 cup hot mashed yellow turnips
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons cream
1 egg

Season potatoes and turnips with salt and pepper. Beat well together, add margarine, then beat in cream. Separate egg, and beat in yolk. Beat egg white until stiff and fold into other mixture. Fill well greased custard cups or a baking dish and bake 20 minutes in a 425 degree oven.

Chicken Salad Can Be New; So Can Egg Salad

Mary Meade's Daily Food Bulletin

Either of these inviting salads makes a substantial entrée for your hungry guests when meat is out of the question. Chicken salad doesn't sound new to you, but this one is truly different, and the colorful egg salad is attractive.

Buffet Chicken Salad.
[Serves eight.]
2 cups cubed, cooked chicken
¼ cup French dressing
4 cups boiled rice, chilled
Salt and pepper
Boiled dressing or mayonnaise
Lettuce
Jellied cranberry sauce
Deviled eggs

Combine chicken and French dressing and chill about 1 hour. Meanwhile cook rice, drain, and place over hot water until fluffy. Just before serving combine chicken, chilled rice, and enough salad dressing to moisten. Season to taste. Arrange in individual lettuce cups, on platter or in salad bowl lined with lettuce. Garnish with thick slices of cranberry sauce and deviled eggs.

Sunshine Egg Salad.
[Serves six.]
8 hard cooked eggs
1 cup finely diced celery
¼ cup salad dressing
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon scraped onion
Salt and pepper
Celery curls
6 thick slices of tomato
Salad greens

Chop eggs, but not too fine. Add celery, dressing, and seasonings. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Press into molds, then chill before serving. Unmold each on a tomato slice in a bed of salad greens. Garnish with celery curls, paprika, and additional dressing if desired.

Mary Meade Booklet on Canning Valuable as Home Front Guide

An up to the minute, all-inclusive canning booklet is what every war gardener will need this summer. With a food shortage predicted for the coming winter, every quart of vegetables and fruit placed on the preserving closet shelf will help to relieve the situation.

Mary Meade's booklet, "Homemaker's Guide to Canning," has been revised and brought up to date and is now on sale at The Tribune Public Service offices. This helpful booklet includes general directions for canning by the open kettle and hot and cold pack methods. A good sized section is devoted to canning fruit with sugar. Specific canning instructions are included for all popular garden vegetables.

Order your booklet for rhubarb canning now and for other produce later in the season. Send 7 cents in stamps to Mary Meade, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, or pick up a copy for 5 cents at one of The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or The Tribune Tower.

What's all this talk about MILK?

Whatever you read...whatever you hear...remember that for 86 years Chicago families have chosen WANZER milk—home-delivered—above all others.

With you and your family so busy right now helping to win the war...with every hour and every minute so precious...this would be a good time to get acquainted with WANZER home-delivered milk.

You don't have to go and get it. You don't have to send for it. You'll never be told the supply is "all gone." You'll always know there'll be pure, fresh, WANZER milk right on your doorstep—whenever you want it.

• Why do leading Chicago doctors recommend WANZER milk? Because good doctors don't guess. They check up and learn the facts. Ask your doctor what he thinks of WANZER milk and the company behind it.

You can have milk at its best delivered to your door starting TOMORROW. Call BOUlevard 7900

WHAT!
ME SERVE COFFEE TO MY 6 YR. OLD?

No mother...not coffee...Vitamalt. Many folks mistake Vitamalt for coffee . . . please don't make this error, too. Vitamalt is good for 6 year olds as well as 60 year olds. In fact, Vitamalt is good for every member of the family.

HERE'S WHY VITAMALT IS GOOD FOR ALL FROM 6 TO 60, AND OLDER

1. Vitamalt does not contain caffeine or other harmful stimulants... will not disturb rest or sleep.

2. Vitamalt is a rich, full-bodied, grand tasting beverage. Hot or iced, Vitamalt hits the spot.

3. Vitamalt contains B complex vitamins — the vitamins that help retard nervousness and irritability.

4. Vitamalt is 100% pure selected malt, specially prepared and caramelized. Vitamalt contains natural maltose.

Vitamalt is simple and easy to prepare . . . boil, percolate or drip. Vitamalt is not rationed . . . it is grown, roasted and packed in our own U. S. A., and is rapidly becoming . . .

Hot Muffins Answer Problems of Skimpy Meal of Leftovers

Hot muffins are the perfect answer to a great many new meal time problems. They'll complete the meal of leftovers or one which seems too skimpy. Served with a green salad, they are a satisfying luncheon in themselves. Warmed over the next morning they're delicious floating in pools of hot maple sirup.

Maple Sirup Muffins.
[8 2¼ inch muffins.]
2 tablespoons shortening
⅔ cup maple sirup
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
1 cup bran flakes
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda

Beat shortening and sirup together; add egg and beat well. Add milk and bran; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift dry ingredients together. Add to the first mixture, stirring only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin tins two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven [400 degrees] about 25 minutes.

Tropical Wool Suits Warm on Cool Days

BY REA SEEGER.

Veteran shoppers have been known to shiver during the occasional chilly days of a summer season. But that's not necessary, for tropical wool summer suits warm enough, yet light enough in weight to keep the most susceptible cozy and warm, are available. These are tailored models, precisely seamed and detailed, that stay slim and smooth because of the texture and quality of the wool. Pockets, notched collar, pleats in skirt, and fitted sleeves all are matched details of the heavier woolens for winter.

One knockout collection of such summer comforts features a soft checked plaid pattern somewhat like the plaids used in men's suits. A soft blue and beige and the gray and deep blue colorings are most effective as basic shades with which to vary the smartest costume accessories—hat, bag, and gloves. The skirts are straight and slim, with kick pleats fore and aft sharply pressed into position. Self belts complete the skirts so that blouses are merely tucked inside, needing no other belt for either decoration or safe anchoring of the skirt. Most of the jackets are hip length with a fitted body line.

There are suits especially designed for summer wear and for travel, but many smart women will buy them now to wear during the fall season, and even into winter with a companion topper of the same shade or contrast. Later in the month the first of the covert suits and topcoats will be available also in summer time weight and in that flattering, soft beige tone. The tropic woolens, the smooth gabardines, and the coming covert cloth suits are priced for limited budgets, for wardrobe planners who demand the top in quality and reasonable prices—and you'll find these specials in a newly arrived super-collection in a Chicago store.

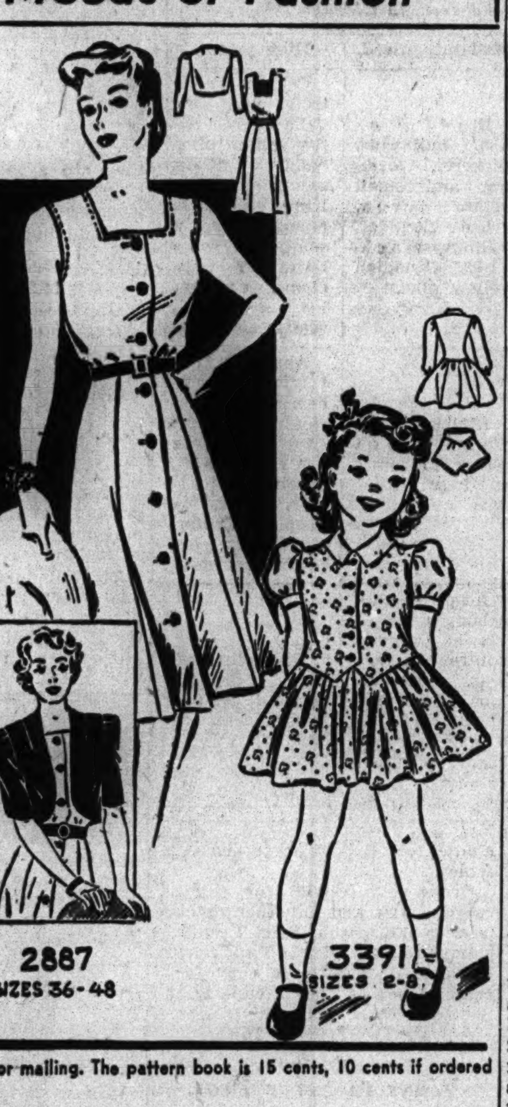
Two Moods of Fashion

The first of today's pattern selections features a sun frock for the mature figure. The dress has slim lines and a bolero jacket, to match or contrast. The other design creates a dainty little frock for the youngest woman in the family.

Style No. 2887 is designed for sizes 36 to 48. Size 36 requires, for dress, 3⅛ yards 35 inch material, and for bolero, 1⅛ yards of 35 or 39 inch fabric.

Style No. 3391 is designed for sizes 2 to 8. Size 4 requires 1⅝ yards of 35 or 39 inch fabric with ½ yard contrasting; panties, ⅜ yard 35 inch material.

Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.



Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The pattern book is 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

Child, 5, May Show Startling New Behavior

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

For some time we've been neglecting those children who are about 5 years old. But we should not overlook them in this column, because in some ways they are baffling to their mothers and fathers, especially if they happen to be inexperienced parents.

The obstreperous 5 year olds are often misunderstood, and, as a consequence, badly mismanaged. So it is necessary for me to keep saying over and over that you can't expect a 4 year old to continue to act like a 2 year old, that a 5 year old isn't in the same relation to her world that a 3 year old is.

Of course it is true that there are rather striking changes in development all thru childhood, really until the late teens, and that we must expect these changes rather than deplore them because they mean growth toward maturity.

But is is especially important for us to accept the changes that take place when the dependent 2 year old or adored 3 year old merges into the 4 or 5 year old. We must not be aghast when, in a small way, they take the bit in their teeth and prance a bit. It's only a phase, usually, and having kicked up their heels, they "find" themselves.

That fifth birthday is a sort of turning point—perhaps not at 5 exactly, but in the general neighborhood of 5. At that time small boys, rather more than small girls, confront their mothers with the most appalling kind of behavior. Aghast, their parents see them show off in the most embarrassing manner. "Strong language" may fall from their innocent, rosy lips. Attention with guests present goes to their heads. All of this is quite normal and will pass. One of the reasons for it is that they have become so well able to take care of themselves physically that they get decidedly cocky. They "feel their oats."

When children are going thru this phase, this subtle mixture of shyness and self-consciousness, it is best not to ask them to perform in any way before guests or relatives. It is best to let them alone, in a friendly way.

WAAC to Accept Civilian Candidates in Officer Training

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Establishment of a WAAC officer candidate training program in which applications will be received for direct entry from civilian life was announced today by the war department.

Women seeking the officer training, the department said, must be within 21 and 49 years of age and must have had at least four years of experience beyond the high school level of work, study, social, or civic fields.

Applications for the training may be submitted in writing to any WAAC recruiting office.

Hecht Renamed to Head English Speaking Union

Frank A. Hecht was reëlected for his third term as president of the English Speaking union yesterday at the 21st annual meeting, which was a tea in the Electric club of the Civic Opera house instead of the usual dinner. New directors chosen for three years included R. A. Borsch, Mrs. Laban J. Brady, Mrs. R. H. James, Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Irene Sidley, and Orville Taylor. Mrs. Olive C. Ricker and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard will become directors to fill vacancies left by resignations.

Women Urged to Help Meet Nursing Need

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, in a proclamation yesterday, called on Chicago women to act immediately in helping meet the critical shortage of nurses in the Chicago metropolitan area. He said that to replace the thousands of registered nurses who have gone to the army and navy, "we must depend on our civilian population who can be trained to handle the less technical duties of the graduate nurse."

The proclamation was issued after a delegation of 12 persons from the Chicago Hospital council and the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross called on the mayor to ask support for the drive. The delegation was headed by William R. Slover, secretary of the administrator's section of the council, and Joseph M. Cudahy, vice chairman of the Red Cross chapter.

The delegation told Mayor Kelly that almost any woman of average education and good health, and preferably between 18 and 50 years old, can be trained by the Red Cross as a volunteer nurses' aid and therefore give valuable service in meeting the nursing problem. The Red Cross already has 2,245 volunteer nurses' aids, but needs another 3,500 immediately, the mayor was told, and many hospitals have only a third as many as they need.

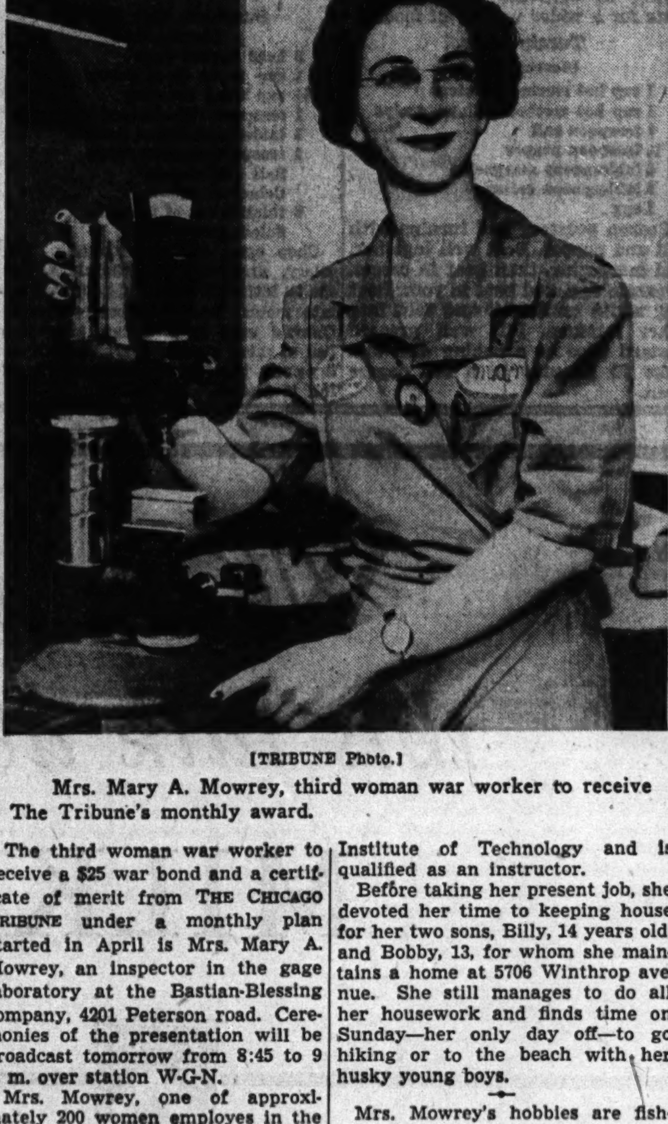
Women in War Work

By Kate Massee



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Mary A. Mowrey, third woman war worker to receive The Tribune's monthly award.

The third woman war worker to receive a $25 war bond and a certificate of merit from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE under a monthly plan started in April is Mrs. Mary A. Mowrey, an inspector in the gage laboratory at the Bastian-Blessing company, 4201 Peterson road. Ceremonies of the presentation will be broadcast tomorrow from 8:45 to 9 a. m. over station W-G-N.

Mrs. Mowrey, one of approximately 200 women employes in the company's Chicago plant, won the award by the quality of her work and her ability to multiply her efficiency by teaching others. She was selected by four Bastian-Blessing executives—Andrew C. Krein, secretary and treasurer, and Edward N. Krein, Ellsworth L. Miller, and Allison L. Augur, vice presidents, with the coöperation of Lewis G. Blessing, president.

In studying the records of the two women recommended from each of eight departments, the committee was unanimous in choosing Mrs. Mowrey and gave honorable mention to two other outstanding women, Irene Blahoski, who operates an assembly line machine, and Helen Zurawski, a screw machine operator.

Mrs. Mowrey started work at the plant as a drill operator just a year ago, soon after the company began hiring women. In August she was transferred to the inspection department, where she has won the respect of her boss, Ollie W. Phillips, by her interest, devotion to work, and dependability.

In addition to holding down her precision job, Mrs. Mowrey has completed three evening courses in inspection methods at the Illinois Institute of Technology and is qualified as an instructor.

Before taking her present job, she devoted her time to keeping house for her two sons, Billy, 14 years old, and Bobby, 13, for whom she maintains a home at 5706 Winthrop avenue. She still manages to do all her housework and finds time on Sunday—her only day off—to go hiking or to the beach with her husky young boys.

Mrs. Mowrey's hobbies are fishing, swimming, and hunting, for none of which she has leisure while she's helping speed up production of materials of war. She says, wistfully, that she also used to do a lot of fancy work, but that avocation also has been shelved for the duration.

Like all the other women working in the plant, Mrs. Mowrey wears olive drab cotton coveralls and a sapphire blue net safety snood.

The Bastian-Blessing company, which moved two years ago into its present modern building, formerly was engaged in making liquified petroleum gas regulating equipment, ice cream freezers and cabinets, frozen food cabinets, and soda fountains. Now it is 100 per cent devoted to making fuses, valves for life rafts, and oxygen equipment for fighter planes and bombers.

The Tribune woman war worker award for July will be presented to an employe of the Cook Electric company, 2700 North Southport avenue.

City's Church Federation Is Reorganized

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Announcement was made yesterday of complete reorganization of the Chicago Church federation, by the Rev. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church and president of the federation.

The changes, he said, would take into account new responsibility for and development of coöperative support between the various denominations. The reorganization will provide for extended service, particularly to service men, under a full departmental status. The federation represents the coöperative relationships of a score of denominations and 1,060 local churches. The name of the federation hereafter will be the Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

"There must be today a greater recognition of the principle of federation of the denominations," said Dr. Anderson. "The program of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago is to be developed in such a way that duplications and competition are eliminated in Protestant religious work in this area. We have reconstructed and expanded the idea of how evangelical Christianity should function in the local community.

"External circumstances at work in our city are all contributing to the trend toward greater unity of fellowship and common action upon the part of churches and denominations. The social forces at work in modern life need to be understood and directed by the churches. Increasingly we are realizing this will be possible only thru united effort."

The Rev. Dr. John W. Harms, executive secretary of the federation, listed the following major changes in the organization and functional program: The two present departments of Christian education and social service will remain, but there are to be added the departments for service men, citizenship, church life and extension, research and survey, and public relations. In addition, he said, there will be four personnel divisions, consisting of divisions for women's work, laymen's activities, ministerial coöperation, and youth work.

"The week day church school movement," Dr. Harms said, "is to be expanded. It has been demonstrated that this is a successful way of reaching untaught boys and girls with Christian instruction. It brings the public school and Protestant churches together in helpful coöperation which many believe is the next step in public education and a real bulwark to the American principle of separation of church and state. Three thousand children were in classes sponsored by the church federation in 1942 and 1943.

"The Boys' court service and other social welfare services have been strengthened," Dr. Harms added, "and the community service functions of the federation have been completely reorganized in our new department of Christian citizenship."

When fully developed, Dr. Harms explained, this reorganization will enable Protestantism to have more influential leadership in community affairs.

Dr. Anderson yesterday sent letters to all Protestant pastors of the city asking them to call their congregations Sunday to cool-headedness in the face of "recent racial strife which has hurt our land." The letter said the churches can make a great contribution by asking their members to adhere to Christian principles and to "determine to keep unbroken and make even finer and fairer the fellowship which binds us of different races together in Christ."

Dr. Anderson announced the formation of a special interracial committee of the federation, headed by Dr. J. Harry Cotton, president of Presbyterian Theological seminary.

Chicago Community Trust to Distribute $200,000 This Year

Social agencies and educational institutions will receive approximately $200,000 this year from the Chicago Community trust, Frank D. Loomis, secretary, said yesterday. The trust has $6,000,000 of capital, the entire net income of which is available for charities.

Mid-year appropriations totaled $104,550. These included $49,300 to 94 social agencies, hospitals, charities, and cultural agencies; $21,500 from the Fred B. Jones fund to be devoted to the care of small children in their own homes; $10,250 from the Genevieve Marie Stevenson fund for care of aged and children in foster homes, and $22,000 from the William J. Cook fund for scholarship awards.

Three new bequests to the trust were those of Christian Hans Stoelting, Elsie K. White, and Fredericke Caroline Schaal.

Vacation Spots in West Call to Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS.

CALIFORNIA and other western points are crooking a beguiling finger at a number of Chicagoans, and those who can't resist are heading for the Pacific coast, either for permanent residence or for short sojourns. Established until Oct. 1 at their home, Constantia, in Santa Barbara are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, who moved their household west on June 15. Arthur Meeker Jr. will join his family later in the summer. His sisters, Mrs. Francis V. Lloyd and Mrs. Horace Gray, already have enjoyed a reunion with their parents, as the former lives in Santa Barbara while Mrs. Gray is able to make frequent trips from San Francisco.

Mrs. Gray's two sons are in the service, Lt. Arthur Meeker Gray with the army and Lt. Horace Gray with the navy. Their sister, Miss Joan Gray, remained in New York to follow a career after her recent graduation from Sarah Lawrence college.

William H. Mitchells to Head West July 9.

The William H. Mitchells will be leaving on July 9 to spend three or four weeks in Santa Barbara. The Clarence B. Mitchells already are there, having taken a cottage for the summer at El Mirador, Mrs. Armour Mitchell's estate. Mrs. John Payne Kellogg, sister of William and Clarence Mitchell, is planning her trip west in another direction. She and her four children hope to get off to their home in Vancouver by the end of July, Lt. Comdr. Kellogg at present is in Africa.

Offsetting the western exodus somewhat is the return of Mrs. Robert J. Dunham Jr. and her children, Constance and Bob, from a cattle ranch near Tucson, Ariz., after a year's residence there. They have opened their Lake Forest home, altho Capt. Dunham must remain at his army air force post.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Bodman, who have taken a small house in Santa Barbara, will not be present when their son, Lt. [j. g.] Nicholas Bodman and Miss Sorrel Wainright are married on July 11, as the ceremony will take place in Honolulu. The wedding in St. Andrew's Episcopal cathedral will be followed by a reception in the home of the bride's parents, Comdr. and Mrs. Richard Wainright of Annapolis, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Bodman, who stay at the Seneca hotel when they are in Chicago, spent much of their time before the war at their villa near Florence, Italy.

Mrs. John Adair Plans to Live in Palo Alto.

Toward the end of the summer Mrs. John Adair and John Jr. will be going to Palo Alto, Cal., to reside in order to be closer to Lt. Adair when he receives his navy leaves. Mrs. Adair's mother, Mrs. Paul R. Haskins, was married on June 23 in New York City to Harlan Turner, and so she also plans to desert Highland Park. She and Mr. Turner are at home now in Portland, Me., and will spend their winters in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Shortly after returning from a month's holiday in Mexico with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse, and sister, Mrs. Beck von Peccoz, Mrs. William S. Covington departed for California. She and the children have joined Lt. Comdr. Covington at Coronado Beach.

Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett will be leaving soon for her ranch near Alcade, N. M.

Eastern Girl Betrothed to Gordon M. Galloway.

From East Northfield, Mass., comes word of the engagement of Miss Mary Helen Gethman, daughter of Mrs. Walter Wesley Gethman, formerly of Geneva, Switzerland, to Gordon Marshall Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall Galloway of Evanston. Miss Gethman attended the International school in Geneva and Northfield seminary. She and her fiancé were graduated this spring from Oberlin college. The late Mr. Gethman was general secretary of the world's committee of the Young Men's Christian association in Geneva.

Mrs. Obadiah Sands of East Pearson street is announcing the marriage on June 25 of her daughter, Mary Cunningham, to Alfred John Leete, son of Mrs. Alfred A. Leete of Berkshire, England. The ceremony took place in the apartment of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Morris Wisner Lee, in the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

The former Miss Sands was graduated from the Girls' Latin school and from Bryn Mawr college. Mr. Leete, a graduate of the University of London, is here on business for the duration of the war. When he and his bride return from a trip to northern Michigan they will be at home on the near north side.

Ravinia Park Concert Fails to Hit Mark

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The temperature rose a little for Ravinia's second concert, but attendance fell to 1,700, a drop in the bucket when it comes to making both ends meet at the end of the festival season. However, it was not a particularly persuasive concert to lure a large audience, and it was not a particularly good concert to delight those who had made the trip. Désiré Defauw has not yet exhibited the mastery of conducting which the Chicago Symphony orchestra deserves—and demands—if it is to yield up the treasures of its great tradition.

For the first half of his program, Mr. Defauw chose an odd combination, prefacing the warm romanticism of Schumann's Symphony in D minor with the revised "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" of Roy Harris, the modern whose creed is that romanticism is egotism in full flower. Mr. Harris' overture, even revised, is not a notable work, tho he has clarified it. Mr. Defauw made it sound leaden and rough at the edges.

Mr. Defauw's way with the Schumann was variable, he attempted to blow it up in scale and he gave the first movement a heavy, almost sirupy texture which had its best results in the fact that our orchestra possessed a superbly rich and malleable tone. The romanza went beautifully, quite the feather to date in Mr. Defauw's cap, because he let the orchestra have its head.

The lovely opening theme is something Mr. Kurtz's cello and Mr. Mueller's oboe could play blindfolded, and the strings were crisp as they plucked the accompaniment Schumann once considered writing for guitar. This actually sounded like the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and it was good to have the old sound back.

But the scherzo was arbitrary and rough, and Mr. Defauw treated the last movement as if Schumann and the orchestra were a lump of dough he desired to shape in his own image. The result was out of balance, and it had the ragged edges so noticeable when the orchestra follows the Belgian conductor's baton. There was a lack of repose, a lack of beauty, and, above all, a fatal lack of the ability to let music grow naturally, so that detail falls exquisitely into place.

Mr. Defauw is more at home in French music, and he had better luck after intermission. "Eros and Psyche," a grandiose piece of Franckian fustian, went well enough, and he captured at least a reasonable part of the charm of Faure's incidental music to Maeterlinck's "Pelleas and Melisande." The prelude was well played, and the sicilienne. The spinning scene lost some of its beauty by obscuring the fragile voices of the theme, and the death of Melisande lacked the sensitivity that can make it deeply moving. But the music is worth hearing, and a good Ravinia choice. Its aftermath of sadness was brushed away by the hullabaloo of "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," destined to be known to this generation as Mickey Mouse with a broom.

This Changing World.

The children of Evanston have a new and absorbing game. It is neither cops and robbers nor axis vs. allies, but goes by the interesting title of cops and drivers.

To play one must have a bicycle, tricycle, or scooter. All gather and are divided into the rival camps of cops and drivers. The drivers pedal down the street and are ordered to one side of the road by fierce cops, who demand: "Where are you going?" The driver taxes his ingenuity to summon any one of a variety of answers such as, "Driving to the defense plant" or "Downtown to buy a new dress," or "On an emergency call to save a sick woman."

The cop then demands to see the driver's ration book, driver's license, and social security card. If the victim has a C card and is out pleasure driving, he is haled into court. This goes on for hours. Not a touch of blood and thunder in it.

The large, dignified man clambered out of the cream colored Packard and walked over to the lot of war gardens on Gordon terrace. Hitching up his sharply creased tan slacks, he pulled a tiny weed from this row, patted up a mound of earth in the next, and removed a pebble or two from the growing plants. Then, with great care, he upearthed five radishes from the row with the red radish sign and went back to his car.

He smiled with deep satisfaction as he carefully brushed little clots of dirt from the five he had harvested and held the bunch up for appraisal as one would a bouquet of white orchids. Then he settled back, comfortably relaxed, his smile growing broader and broader as he tucked a sprig of radish leaves in the pocket of his white shirt. Again he viewed critically the little handful of radishes. Then, still smiling broadly, he ate them one by one.

Despite the hazards of war time producing, the Port players boldly determined to resume their activity at Shorewood, Wis., this summer. The company, founded at Port Washington, Wis., in 1939 and now in its second season at Shorewood, is now the only professional summer theater operating in all Chicagoland.

Because they have the dependable support of a loyal and enthusiastic audience, the Port players can afford to depart from the beaten track in matters of repertory. In other seasons we have been indebted to them for our acquaintance with a number of stimulating plays which were not sent on tour by Broadway managements.

"The Flying Gerardos," their current offering in the second week of their season, is another play in this category. This comedy of life among trapeze artists was staged in New York in 1940; but since it did not achieve a satisfactory run there, it was quickly shelved. As far as I know, the Port players are the first to revive the script.

While "The Flying Gerardos" is no masterpiece, its script and action are full of life and color. The language and mental outlook of the troupe of physical paragons is amusingly—and no doubt authentically—set forth. In substance, the plot tells of the conflict within the troupe when one girl develops a thirst for knowledge and the cultivation of the intellect, and falls in love with a pedantic young biologist who is writing his doctor's dissertation at Columbia university. In the end the tables are turned, as one could easily anticipate, and the student, swept up into the simple and apparently glamorous life of the acrobats, decides to give up his studies and go touring with them.

Morton Da Costa has staged the comedy with his usual creativeness and dependable sense of pace and by-play. The cast acquits itself notably, falling easily and naturally in the proper idioms of speech and movement. Paul Ransom, new to the company, revealed an outstanding gift for Milquetoast comedy as the biologist, and Jeanne Dixon, a capable veteran of previous Port seasons, commanded the stage as the matriarch who regulates the lives of her athletic brood.

Of course travel is difficult this summer, but if you are in the neighborhood of Milwaukee you will be wise to include a visit to the Port players in your itinerary.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Vacation Fare.

What are you going to get out of your vacation this year? Probably just what you put into it! Those who might like to travel thousands of miles during the summer may not be able to do so. Even short trips may be few and far between. But why not plan for future vacation trips?

For the benefit of white collar girls who may be stay-at-home vacationers this summer, Mildred Bruder has taken a look at the shelves of the Chicago public library and offers these helpful suggestions:

"For those interested in regional material, the 'Rivers of America' series makes delightful reading. The books give the history, background, present life, and problems in the valleys of the Kennebec, Powder, Sacramento, Hudson, Illinois, Mississippi, and other rivers. Two of the favorites are 'Suwannee River,' by Cecile Matschat, and 'The James,' by Blair Niles.

"'The American Guide' series is worth its weight in buried gold. It supplies a wealth of information about every state in the Union.

"'American Folkways' is a newer series; it is concerned primarily with the manners, customs, and personalities that have gone into the making of our local history and national character. 'Pinion Country' is one of the earlier books in the sequence and 'Palmetto Country' one of the more recent.

"Full length narratives of our American scene are numberless: 'Maine Summer,' by Edwin Mitchell; 'Caballeros—the Romance of Sante Fe,' by Ruth Barker; 'Alluring Wisconsin,' by Fred I. Holmes; 'Romance of the National Parks,' by Harlean James; 'Our Southwest,' by Erna Fergusson; 'San Francisco—a Pageant,' by Charles C. Dobie; 'They Found It in Natchez,' by Theodora Marshall; 'So You're Seeing New England,' by Clara Laughlin; 'Saddle in the Sky [Texas],' by J. H. Plenn; 'Virginia—the New Dominion,' by Agnes Rothery; 'Williamsburg Old and New,' by Hildegarde Hawthorne; 'Charleston,' by W. O. Stevens; 'The Great Smoky Mountains,' by Laura Thornborough; 'Dude Ranches and Ponies,' by Lawrence B. Smith.

"While you are borrowing these books," Miss Bruder adds, "don't forget that the Chicago public library offers a special plan whereby an unlimited number of books may be taken from the library until Oct. 1. Many of these titles are included in this special plan."

Do You Agree?

"The perfect boss is one who:

"Speaks clearly and concisely when he dictates.

"Is never annoyed at minor disturbances while dictating.

"Is kind, considerate, and sympathetic.

"Has a sense of humor.

"Does not consider a lost file the end of the world.

"Sees to it that his stenographer has the best equipment.

"Answers his own phone when she is exceptionally busy.

"Does not have spells of being out of sorts.

"Even gives her his 18 shoe stamp!

Parks, Zoos, and Museums Prepare for Holiday Throngs

Staffs of Chicagoland institutions and play areas maintained for public enjoyment are all set to entertain hundreds of thousands of vacationers kept home by war time restrictions, as well as week-end pleasure seekers, who are expected to flock to them in record numbers over the July Fourth holiday. This was ascertained yesterday in a canvass of various amusement places by THE TRIBUNE.

In anticipation of crowds, street car, elevated, and bus lines are adjusting services to handle maximum loads. With school vacations in full swing and with stores and business places in the loop and large shopping centers closed Monday, only bad weather will keep Chicagoland's museums, zoos, parks, beaches, playgrounds, and forest preserves from experiencing new attendance peaks, observers agreed.

Several institutions have planned special exhibits for the week-end, and some which normally charge admission on Monday have waived that provision for the holiday. Below are listed some of the popular museums, etc., with their open hours and special sights they are offering:

Adler planetarium, Northerly island—Open 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday with lectures at 11 and 3 and 2 to 5 p. m. Sunday, with lectures at 2:30 and 3:30. Closed Monday. No admission fee.

Art institute, Michigan at Adams—Open Saturday and Monday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Sunday, noon to 5. Special exhibits include water colors, Fort Custer military display, Custer Dale collection of French paintings, and works by Negro artists. Free admission all three days.

Chicago Academy of Sciences, 2001 North Clark street—Open 9 to 5 Saturday and 1 to 5 Sunday and Monday. Offers special exhibit of mushroom paintings by Mrs. Helene Warder Beggs. Free admission.

Chicago Historical society, Clark street at North avenue—Open 9:30 to 4:30 Saturday and Monday and 12:30 to 5:30 Sunday. Special exhibits of amateur photography and relics and dioramas of Columbian exposition. Free Saturday and Monday; 28 cents admission for adults and 5 cents for children Sunday.

Museum of Science and Industry, 57th street and Outer drive—Open 9:30 to 5:30 each day. Special showing of royal air force reconnaisance photographs. Admission free.

Shedd aquarium, Roosevelt road and Outer drive—Open 10 to 5 each day. Admission free Saturday and Sunday; adults 25 cents and children free on Monday.

Field museum, Grant park—Open 9 to 6 each day. Admission free Saturday and Sunday, and on Monday 28 cents for adults, children and service men free.

Chicago Public library, Michigan avenue at Washington boulevard—Open Saturday only, circulating department 9 to 7 and reference room 9 to 9.

Brookfield zoo, 8500 Golf road, Brookfield—Open 10 to 6 Saturday, 10 to 7 Sunday and Monday. Special sights include a camel colt, an alpaca lamb, and Ceylon donkey colt, all born this week. Admission free each day.

Lincoln Park zoo, Clark street and Webster avenue—Open 10 to 6 each day. Premier showing of Judy, an Indian elephant, who replaces the late Deed-a-Day. Admission free.

The lake beaches will have lifeguards on duty from 9:30 a. m. to 10 p. m. and are cleared of bathers at 11 p. m. Park district fieldhouses will be open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. Saturday and from 2 to 10 p. m. Sunday and Monday. Park district golf courses are open from dawn to dark and parks and playgrounds are cleared at 11 p. m.

Music Note

Two performances of outdoor opera at popular prices will be presented this month at Soldiers' field by Fortune Gallo and Harry Zelzer, who plan to stage Verdi's "Aida" Saturday evening, July 24, and Bizet's "Carmen" the following Saturday evening, July 31. Leading roles in "Aida" will be sung by Stella Roman, Alexander Kipnis, and probably Giovanni Martinelli. Bruna Castagna will be the Carmen, with Kurt Baum as Don José. The management promises a company of about 350, including a chorus of 100 and a large ballet. Special scenery is being built in the east. Prices will range from 55 cents to $2.20, and mail orders are now being filled at the Zelzer office in the Civic Opera building.

Our stores will be closed all day tomorrow (Saturday) and all day on Monday, July 5. Downtown store hours Tuesday, 9:45 to 5:45.

"The Spanish Lady" . . . By Maurice Walsh

Copyright: 1943: by Maurice Walsh

SYNOPSIS: Diego Usted, thinking he has only a few months to live, comes from his commando duties to the Scottish Highlands to visit his Uncle Hamish and his Aunt Ellen McLeod. Hamish is Gen. Harper's head forester. Diego has a run-in with the general on first sight, but he makes friends with the general's young Spanish wife, Ann. When Diego goes to the Harper home to apologize to Gen. Harper he meets the general's brother, Maj. Arthur, and his children, Henrietta and Charles. Henrietta tells Diego that every one hates the general but loves Ann. When Henrietta flirts with Diego he kisses her. She tells him she may some day marry Larry, Ellen's son. Then Ellen spots the orange lipstick on Diego's handkerchief and guesses about the kiss. He confesses.

INSTALMENT XI.

SON'S RETURN.

"Diego!" Big Ellen said in a low voice, and she was looking down the glen road. There a man was coming on a bicycle.

"It is Wally, the post, Don, and tomorrow is post day," she said quietly.

"O!" he said, and drove the spade savagely into the soil. This woman had four sons at the war, and a postman coming a day early—

"But Aunt, any—any news would be phoned you."

"That I know, but you see, Don, I am not very brave. Wait! Wally will give us a sign."

Wally did. He pulled off his cap and waved it round his head, and his high-pitched yell had a gay yip-yip at the end.

"Good man yourself. Wally!" she whispered, and sighed deeply. "I'm not brave at all, boy, but don't tell Hamish on me."

Her organ of a voice had a harshness in it for the first time. "I do be telling myself morning and night that with four sons I cannot expect to keep all or any of them. I'm of the soft Irish."

Wally was within reach now. "'Tis all right, Ellen. A letter only—'tis from Larr—it was postmarked six days ago. Last letter you had he mentioned a bit furlough."

Aunt Ellen took the envelope and glanced at it.

"Ay! it's from Larry. I'm thankful to you, Wally. You'll come in and have a dram." Her tongue was still slow.

"Ay, will I! But what's keepin' you?" He nodded at the letter. Gie us your bit news."

She opened her letter, and Diego could see that it contained only one sheet with a few penciled lines; but there were enough to restore her spirits.

"Larr sure enough! He'll be the 29th."

"And that's the very day that's in it," cried Wally. "Didn't I know it?" He extracted a big silver watch from a tight chamois bag. "He'll be arriving at Craik Station an hour from now."

Aunt Ellen was tapping one finger on her brow. "Hamish is on the hill," she said.

"Ay! he was to meet the Piper and Long John at the Slap." Wally knew. "But I'll have him here for you after the fall o' dark. Look now! I'll be having that dram, and after—if it's no' too small—I'll push off for the station and hold Larr till the Don here—"

"Mother o' God! What have I in the house for a hungry man. Come on in, Wally, and don't be wasting my time." And from the stable, he gathered that, having poured Wally's dram down his throat, she had pushed him out of doors.

Diego dragged the pony out by main force, and his aunt had the tub-cart out of its shed and the shafts lifted.

"Like Wattletoes you have plenty of time but if you don't hurry up you'll be late. Put it on the third link."

She had the gate open and Diego was about to lead the pony thru when the purr of a motor came over the brae from the loch side.

"Hold everything!" Aunt Ellen was out on the center of the road, hand already lifted.

The open car came over the top and slid smoothly down the slope. Henrietta at the wheel was alone in it. Aunt Ellen moved clear and the car halted at her side.

"You're for the stations? Lassie, my brain is addled. Hold on a minute." She swept across to Diego. "Don't keep the girl waiting—I'll untackle Sanny. Tell her on the road down. Off you go!"

"Kicked out already, and fleeing from wrath."

"Your foster-brother is arriving this evening—the one you might marry," Diego said.

"And his foster-sister?"

"Old and sere and futile—and no one to love her for all her wiles. Larr won't like the looks of me." There was a trace of seriousness in her voice. "A serious-minded, composed sort of young customer, you could never guess what he would be saying till he opened his mouth."

They overtook Wally, the post. Wally, apparently not for the first time, climbed into the back seat and lifted his old cycle to rest on the running board. The car moved on.

"Manalive, Miss Hett? Larr is coming home—you heard?"

"Yep. I haven't seen him for two years, Wally."

"And that'll make it two years he hasn't seen you as well."

"You are no philosopher, William McKenzie," she told him. "Physical time and physiological time do not always correspond. In two years I have grown old, and Larry—I think of him as a mere boy."

"Losh!" said Wally. "But, whatever, he'll get the surprise of his life in about an hour's time. Yesterday night it was, over in Long John's smithy we were talking of the bonniest lass in the Glen—"

"Not many in the Glen, Lothario?"

"Throw him overboard for me, Don!"

Diego sat forward, his back to the door and looked at her profile. This blasé young modern could flush to the flattery of an old postman. She felt his eyes on her, and the color reached her brow.

"Blast you!" she said. "Look where I'm going or I'll ditch you."

Diego chuckled, but looked ahead.

"Say, Father Paris, did you not consider a certain ginger-haired lady up by?" asked Hett.

"O! she's a marrit woman, and we don't consider them."

"Consider that, Senor Don Juan—while you still have time."

"It is a Spanish custom," said Diego.

The car slowed. "Here's your post-offeece, Wally. Get out! Making love to me in public, a bad example to foreigners."

They got to the station in good time and were greeted by old Peter Ross, the station agent.

"Only Larry McLeod, Peter."

"Great day, and greater news! Larry himself! There was talk of it. That's the boy, your cousin, Mr. Usted. Many's the time himself and young Affran and a third I'll not name put the Glen on a buzz. Do you mind the day—?"

"I am now grown up please, Mr. Ross."

"And a neat handful of young lady. Hamish didn't come down? Larr's the apple of his eye."

"He is on the hill—" began Diego, but Henrietta knew more.

"The worm's got a leak, Peter, and Long John is off to solder it."

"Time for him, and myself getting Young Affran to lift a yard of copper pipe out of his Army Store. I warned Hamish a year past about that weak spot, and the last time we lost two gallons in the worm tub."

After that Peter set out to get and give the news, directly and indirectly, after the manner of his breed.

Gus.........................James Bell
Tim Murphy.................Jeff Corey
Hildy......................Diana Hale
Charley Sargent............Arthur Loft

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Deeply revivifying is this story of a boy and a horse, reassuringly remindful that in the midst of international chaos there still is simple, honest, loyal living.

From the purely scenic aspect, too, the piece—photographed in technicolor—is a thing of beauty and a joy. That western panorama with its rolling hills; its pines! HOW you love it!

Roddy McDowall—dear to the hearts of all fans—is seen as the small son of a rancher whose main interest is horses. Young Ken's greatest ambition is to own a colt, but the elder McLaughlin can't see things his way. Ken is too careless. His work at school is too unsatisfactory. . . . Gentle Mrs. McLaughlin who understands her son better—tho loving him not a bit more than does his father—finally persuades McLaughlin to give the boy his heart's desire. . . . Perhaps having his unquenchable ambition realized will permit room for thought of other things. Perhaps possession of a colt—that is his own responsibility—to love, care for, and discipline, may work wonders with the sensitive, high strung, unpredictable lad. . . .

SO—Ken is told he may pick his own colt from all those on the ranch. . . . And forthwith he chooses a yearling of a strain his father knows to be loco! In vain does Rob urge Ken to change his mind. . . . To no avail. Ken wants Flicka, [dot's Swedish for "little girl"] had explained Gus, the kindly Swedish ranch hand, and he wants none other,

Is Flicka loco? Transpiring events tell the tale—and you learn a lot about horses and folks in the telling.

Roddy's sensitive performance goes to the heart. . . . Preston Foster is forthright, believable, tremendously likable, and O, so handsome as his dad. Rita Johnson—of the laughing eyes—is a charming mother. James Bell, who plays Gus, and Hildy, portraying his small, pestiferous daughter, are swell.

Direction and dialog click.

A grand picture for both young and old—and a large, intent audience of both adults and youngsters was at the Apollo yesterday to greet "My Friend Flicka."

See you tomorrow.

It is literally impossible to conduct the defense properly without visualizing the distribution of declarer's hand, as revealed in the bidding and in the preliminary plays. Consider this deal:

♦ 9 8 7

SOUTH

♦ K 6 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 spades	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the three of clubs. The deuce was played from dummy and East, after winning with the king, returned the nine of diamonds. Declarer played low and West won with the jack. Apparently reading East's diamond lead as the top of a doubleton, West then cashed the diamond ace and led a third round, expectantly watching for his partner's ruff. East would have had to revoke in order to ruff, however, and when South made his king of diamonds, the contract became a laydown.

Had West given a little thought to the bidding in relation to the very first trick, he would have seen how little chance there was that East could ruff a third round of diamonds. Declarer had bid spades and hearts, and there was no reason to suspect that either of these bids were psychic. Therefore, he must have at least eight cards in the major suits. His play to the first trick had clearly shown at least a doubleton club. [Surely, there would have been no point in declarer's concession of a club if he had held a singleton.] Therefore, declarer could have, at most, three diamonds, and this was absolute evidence that East also must have at least three. There was the danger, of course, from West's point of view, that declarer might have the ace, king, nine, eight of hearts, and be able to discard two of dummy's diamonds, but if this was the case, any defense looked hopeless.

Had West waited with his diamond ace, he would have been able to kill the king and defeat the contract.

Happy thought for the coming week-end: An antiseptic sun-screen lotion that will make the sun your pal instead of your enemy—and that won't get your person all messy!

It's a little difficult to say which of this lotion's two great virtues we prize most highly. It's a glorious sensation for the fair skinned person to venture out unafraid of a bad burn. And it's equally glorious for the woman who tries her best to be fairly presentable to know that she doesn't have to look like a channel swimmer when she suns herself.

Originally developed for snow burn, this clean smelling, quick drying lotion is a most effective sun screen and also a tan encourager. Its use helps keep the skin soft and pliant all thru the process of acquiring a deep tan. And, since it isn't greasy, the sand and the dust won't adhere to your skin while filmed with the stuff.

Naturally, you have to use common sense about your quota of sun. Renew the application of the sun screen liquid from time to time—at brief intervals of 20 minutes early in the program, at longer ones as your coat of tan deepens. And remember that the sun screen is NOT impervious to water. Put a whole new film on after every dip.

If you've been so indiscreet as to acquire a burn you'll find that this same lotion is soothing; it contains a tannic acid derivative. Continued application gives relief.

A good sun screen like this makes you safe from burning for longer intervals of exposure. The whole family, even the baby, can use it as a protective. And it can be used generously, since it's not expensive.

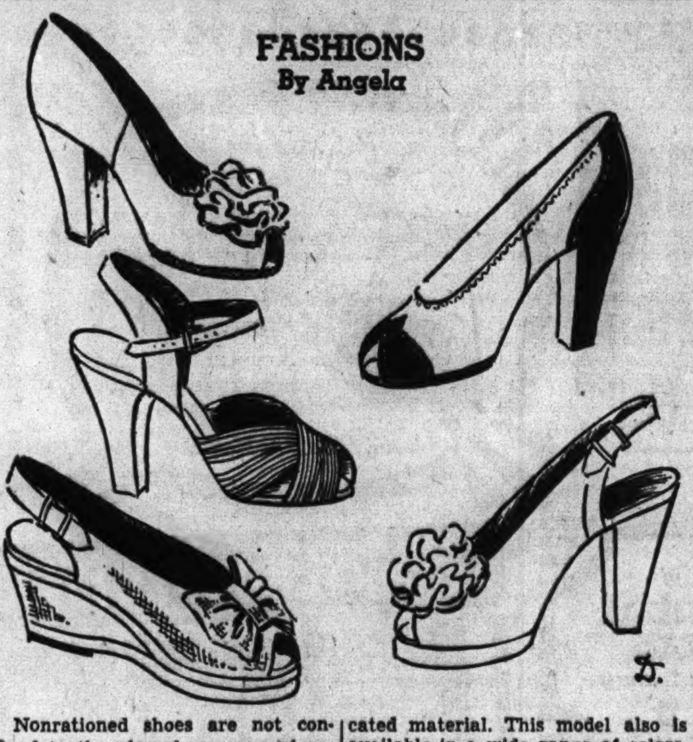
FASHIONS

By Angela



Nonrationed shoes are not confined to the play shoe group alone. There are a number of white summer shoes which can boast of smart styling without benefit of sole leather. They are built with sturdy, linen bodies and durable, fabricated soles. In common with shoes of leather, they are comfortable, well fitting, and easily cleaned.

An all-around summer shoe is the white linen d'Orsay pump, sketched top left. It has a graceful boulevard heel and a bias grosgrain bow above an open toe. The sole is of dark brown fabricated material.

Dressy occasions call for a white linen sandal, open-toed and heelless in back, sketched left center. The cross bands over the instep are accented by stitching, and the entire shoe is so treated as to present an illusion of snowy white kid.

For active or spectator sports, one may wear a gleaming white hopsacking "wedgie," sketched lower left. It has a flat, tailored bow and open toe and is heelless. The sole is of an especially treated and fabricated material. This model also is available in a wide range of colors.

Shoppers seeking a brown and white model will welcome the brown and white linen spectator pump sketched upper right. The brown trimming is treated to simulate leather. The top brown sole is of an intriguing, embossed material which covers a fabricated sole.

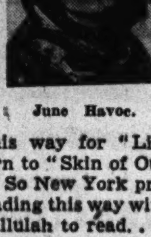
Looking at Hollywood . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., July 1.—The British war office cabled Sam Goldwyn and received his permission to star Maj. David Niven in its biggest production to date, based on the history and exploits of the British army. It was written by Eric Ambler. Niven, as you may know, was the first Englishman in Hollywood to enlist for war service. They treat films over there in a mighty fine way. Instead of taking unknowns for their pictures, they take best known actors from their military services. When are we going to get smart and do that? . . . Marines at a base near La Jolla are practically standing in line for Ginger Rogers. She's gone back to her old job of sculpting and is immortalizing marines in clay. . . . Joan Fontaine is getting grade A treatment on location of "Frenchman's Creek." Paramount supplied her with a house and two maids. . . . When Bing Crosby sings with Paul Whiteman Sunday, he'll do "Mississippi Mud." That song started Bing off in 1929.

Silly Rumor.

That Paulette Goddard will marry one of the Camachos of Mexico. Paulette does everything she can to start a rumor, but never denies one. She'll undoubtedly be wanted by Gilbert Miller for the play he'll do which is written around the life of Diego Rivera. Paulette saved Rivera's life some years back and is written right into it. . . . Emily Kimbrough may be technical director on "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." She's already sent out a book of snapshots which she and Cornelia Skinner took during the trip the story is based on. . . . One of Edward Small's productions will be "Cagliostro," the story of Count Alessandro Cagliostro, who lived 1743-'95. He was magician, alchemist, mesmerist, and what not. They should page Orson Welles for it. . . . "That's fame," said Abbott and Costello, when told that soldiers in Alaska named a couple of snow covered mountain peaks for them, after seeing "Buck Privates."

Could Be.



June Havoc.

Jules Levey's bought Eugene O'Neill's play, "The Hairy Ape," for pictures. But the Theater guild is planning a revival, hoping to get Bill Bendix in the part created by Louis Wolheim. Don't suppose Carlotta Monterey, now Mrs. O'Neill, would go back and do her old role. . . . Tallulah Bankhead, who's heading this way for "Life Boat," won't return to "Skin of Our Teeth" next year. So New York producers are also heading this way with more plays for Tallulah to read. . . . Gypsy Rose Lee's going to be jealous again. Sister June Havoc gets the comedy lead in "Timber Queen" opposite Richard Arlen. . . . Walter Wanger had nothing to do but approve the name Stephanie which Joan picked out for their daughter. Merle Oberon gave up a portrait sitting to get a free ride to the hospital with Mrs. David Selznick to see the newcomer. . . . Jimmy McHugh, who wrote "Coming In On a Wing and a Prayer," has another coming up. It's "We've Got the Lord on Our Side."

Silence Supreme.

Maj. Willie Wyler is in town on special duty for an indefinite period. Willie won't talk, for which I respect him. . . . Liz Whitney may be heading west in a few weeks. Must mean she's had a scrap with the boy friend. . . . Claudette Colbert waited three years for a New York vacation. Landed smack in a hospital with more sinus trouble. Combination of cold air in hotel with hot air outside was too much for her. She's fed on hot air so long she can't stand the cold. . . . You'd be surprised to know the name of the Washington biggie who aims to make Marianne O'Brien his missus when the present missus gets her Reno-vation. . . . Pierre Aumont won't leave with Jean Gabin for the Fighting French army. He's in the midst of a picture which will take at least four weeks to finish.

Never Fails.

For the first time in history, Navy Surgeon General Ross T. McIntyre, President Roosevelt's personal physician, has granted permission to a civilian to give a navy hospital a swimming pool. Kay Kyser is the man. He'll do a show in Oakland in collaboration with the city of Oakland, to build a pool for convalescent men at the navy hospital there. It will cost approximately $18,000. . . . Girls in "Cry Havoc" cried when saying good-by to Col. Milton A. Hill, who was technical adviser on the picture. Col. Hill had been with Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Wainwright in the Philippines, also with Eisenhower in North Africa. . . . Mary Sale, daughter of the late Chic, became the bride of John Good, in the Episcopal church in Beverly Hills today. . . . The latest rumor about the Chaplin menage is that Oona O'Neill Chaplin has a date with the stork.

Service Men's Center in Lincoln Park Has Prevue Party Tonight

The Chicago service men's summer center located on a 12 acre site in Lincoln park at Fullerton avenue and the lake, will be opened for its second season tomorrow.

At 7 o'clock tonight a prevue party is being sponsored by the Svithiod club and other Swedish organizations. Under the direction of Ernest A. Johnson, Svithiod president, a program has been arranged, including a floor show in which stage, screen, and radio stars will participate. A smorgasbord will be served in the canteen.

Hours that will be observed thruout the summer at the center will be from 5 until midnight on week days and from 9 until midnight on Saturdays and Sundays. Dancing and shows will be held nightly.

HAGG TO RUN IN SOLDIERS' FIELD TONIGHT

STEVE LACH, DUKE BACK, ADDED TO ALL-STAR ROSTER

MARQUETTE'S KRAMER ALSO ACCEPTS BID

They Play Against Redskins Aug. 25.

All-Star Roster

THE following college football players have accepted invitations to join the All-Star squad which will meet the Washington Redskins in Dyche stadium Aug. 25 in the 10th game sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.:

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Steve Lach, who played half back for Duke university for three years and who had a stellar role in the Blue Devils' Rose bowl game with Oregon State in 1942, has accepted an invitation to join the All-Star squad. He will play against the Washington Redskins, champions of the National Football league, in Dyche stadium Aug. 25 in the 10th game sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Lach is enlisted in navy aviation and the practice period of the All-Stars, which opens at Northwestern university Aug. 7, comes at the time he will be waiting assignment.

Height Is Factor.

Lach is 22 years of age and weighs 205 pounds. He is an exceptional blocker, a hard tackler on defense, and unusually adept at catching forward passes. Withal, he possesses superlative speed which enables him to get into unprotected territory. He will be an excellent target for such forward passers as Bob Steuber of Missouri and Charles Trippi of the University of Georgia.

Lach's height is another factor in his skill as a pass receiver. The former Duke star is 6 feet 2 inches tall, which makes him an unusually difficult receiver for a defending half back to cover. His ability to cut sharply as he races thru the defense completes his qualifications.

Played with Cardinals.

Lach's home is in Altoona, Pa., where he attended high school. He was graduated from Duke with a bachelor of arts degree. He also was awarded three varsity letters in track while at Durham, N. C. Lach was a member of last year's All-Star squad, but he was injured in the opening practice and was prevented from playing more than a few minutes against the Chicago Bears.

While in Chicago he enlisted in the navy's aviation program and when he was not called immediately he played with the Chicago Cardinals for part of the 1942 season. In the season he ranked fourth in the National league in the number of returns of punts and third in the average distance of those returns.

While Lach is a fine ball carrier, he probably will fit into the attack at a blocking back position because of his ability to clear the way for a runner. His qualifications as a runner and pass receiver enhance this fundamental skill.

Strong Lineman at Marquette.

Another athlete from naval aviation who has accepted an invitation to join the All-Star squad is Wilfred Kramer, former Marquette university guard and tackle. Kramer attended Marmion academy of Aurora, Ill., before matriculating at Marquette, where he apparently was headed for a regular berth in the line before he left the squad last fall to enlist in the navy.

Kramer is 21 years of age, 6 feet tall, and weighs 210 pounds. He is

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

BEN LINDHEIMER, executive director of Arlington Park and Washington Park, has had many favorable comments on his innovation in the supervision of racing—the increase in stewards from three to seven and the procedure of spotting them in advantageous positions around the course instead of putting them in a coop on the roof. . . . It's his pet project and apparently has served to remind jockeys constantly of the rules of the turf. . . . At least, there has been little rough stuff during the current Arlington Park meeting. . . . There doesn't seem to be any player shortage at Camp Farragut, Idaho. . . . Lt. Ray Flaherty, who will coach the Farragut eleven, at present has available Ki Aldrich, Bill Young, Clem Stralka, Marvin Whited, and Ed Justice from his 1942 Washington Redskins; Lt. Jim Barber, a former Redskin player who was with Great Lakes last year; Bill Radovich of the Detroit Lions; Lou Tomasetti of the Philadelphia Eagles; Billy Jefferson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Urban Odson and Bob Sweiger of Minnesota. . . . Radovich, Odson, and Sweiger were teammates of Barber at Great Lakes last fall. . . . Pete Cawthon, new coach of the Brooklyn football Dodgers, was one of the late Knute Rockne's closest friends. . . BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Bill Dietrich, the man of multiple troubles, put himself back on a nine inning work schedule yesterday for the first time since May 4 and, by way of celebrating the achievement, his White Sox associates provided him with enough to slap down the second place Senators in the second of the series. Dietrich turned out a four hitter, Guy Curtright stretched his consecutive streak thru 26 games and, with a busy seventh inning, James Dykes' boys nailed down a 2 to 0 decision, their sixth in eight battles with the Washington entry and went into a virtual fourth place tie with the Cleveland Indians.

The Sox wasted a good portion of the afternoon trying to be nice to their cousin team. For the first six innings they had scoring opportunities lying all around the bases, but positively refused to make any important moves against Early Wynn. However, they abandoned this painful technique in the seventh, safe thumps by Joe Kuhel, Wally Moses, and Thurman Tucker quickly accounting for the scoring.

Kuhel Starts Rally.

Kuhel, who drew no attention from his pals with an earlier single, opened the decisive seventh with a one baser to right, but between a sacrifice and an infield out he didn't make much progress until after two were gone. This was where Moses, who previously hadn't slapped the ball past an infielder, took a firm stand. He lined a single to center, Kuhel scooting home. A moment later Moses burglarized his way to second and rode home easily on Tucker's looping double close to the left field line.

The Curtright string remained unbroken because of a fourth inning triple, but regretfully, it developed only into one of the several fadeouts of which the Sox were guilty. In three other attempts, Guy did no more than furnish some simple work for the infielders. In the first he rolled to Bob Johnson, who was moved to third base for the occasion and celebrated with half the four hits off Dietrich. With his string saved Curtright tapped to the pitcher in the sixth and in the seventh provided the third out by popping to Johnson. His day's performance whittled his pacemaking average from .364 to .362.

Curtright Triples.

The first indication that the Sox planned to devote most of the afternoon to batting frivolities came in the second inning, which Appling opened with a two bagger. He was still on second base when the inci-

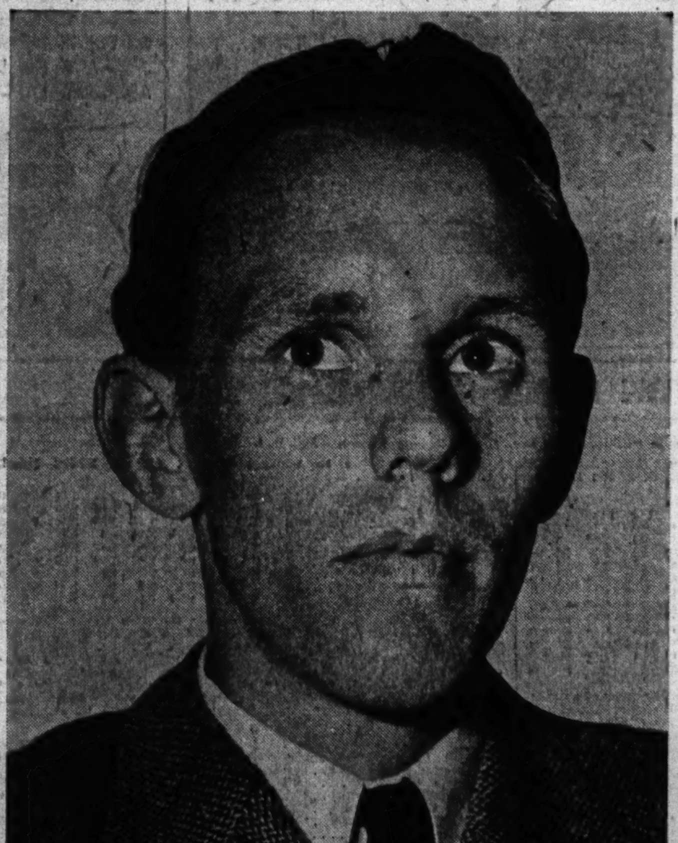
THEY HAVE MAJOR ROLES TONIGHT



Gunder Hagg, world middle distance record holder from Sweden, now on tour of the United States, will provide one of the major attractions tonight when he competes in the two mile race against four American rivals in the Central A. A. U. track meet in Soldiers' field. Hagg arrived in Chicago yesterday from the east. [Wide World Photo.]

Cornelius Warmerdam, an ensign in the navy, hopes to approach his world pole vault record of 15 feet 7¾ inches tonight. Warmerdam comes to the Central A. A. U. meet from California.

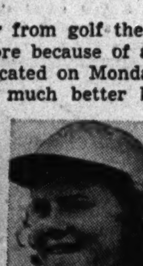
PATTY BERG AND DOROTHY KIRBY TO PLAY FOR GOLF TITLE TODAY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Patty Berg of the Minneapolis Bergs, who always has felt partial to our town during her golfing career, and Dorothy Kirby, the willowy Atlanta girl who has ably carried on the Georgia fairway traditions of Alexa Stirling, Bobby Jones and Charley Yates, today will play 36 holes for the 14th annual Open championship of the Women's Western Golf association at the Glen Oak Country club.

Miss Berg, away from golf these 18 months and more because of an auto accident, indicated on Monday that she's feeling much better by winning the qualifying medal with a par round of 76. Yesterday she moved into her second Western Open final in three years by eliminating 18 year old Catherine Fox of Glen Ridge, N. J., 7 and 6, in the first of the semi-finals. For the 12 holes required for the match's conclusion, Patty, winner of the 1941 crown, was one under par.

Dorothy Kirby.



Patty Berg.

May Have Full Day Ahead.

In none of the four chores she has worked in this Salute to Victory event has the Minnesota redhead been extended beyond the 15th green. But there's a chance she may have to travel the whole 18 twice over today, for in Miss Kirby she's meeting a proved competitor, one who was runner-up for the 1939 national championship. Dorothy entered the first Western final of her career with a 3 and 1 triumph over Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, the longest hitter in the field.

After accomplishing that decision, largely with a putter that crackled thruout the 17 holes, she played out the 18th for a medal card of 74, two under par.

They Have Met Before.

Today's rivals have met a number of times, but only once has Miss Kirby been able to conquer Patty. That one occasion is worth recalling, however, for when Dorothy won during the 1939 Belleair [Fla.] invitational, it terminated a long winning streak for Miss Berg.

Patty's fondness for Chicago courses is reflected in her championship record. She won the national at Westmoreland in 1938, and in the same year took the Western Amateur at Olympia Fields, and the Western Derby at Butterfield.

West Point Gets Michigan Star Football Prospect

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 1 (AP).—Dick Walterhouse, 18, half back on the University of Michigan football squad last fall and regarded as Head Coach Fritz Crisler's most promising back field candidate for his 1943 team, disclosed today he has accepted an appointment to the United States Military academy at West Point. He said he would report to the academy Saturday.

Gil Dodds of Boston is expected to prove Hagg's chief rival in the two miles tonight. He recently won the National A. A. U. 1,500 meter race in New York.

Cubs Win 3d in Row; Beat Braves, 6 to 5

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 1.—Eddie Stanky, Cubs' rookie second basemen, who handed Paul Derringer his last defeat in St. Louis on June 20 when he committed three errors after two were out in the eighth, played something of a repeat performance today when he booted three more for Paul, two of them in the eighth. But tho the misplays caused Paul's departure from the scene, the Cubs managed to eke out a 6 to 5 victory, thanks to some good relief work by Johnny Burrows and Henry Wyse.

Derringer, who held the Braves to one earned run, got credit for the victory, his sixth, and his fourth straight as a starting performer.

The feverishly attained outcome gave the Cubs their third straight on their eastern trip, and it was their seventh conquest of the Braves in seven games played.

SWEDISH STAR FACES 4 RIVALS IN 2 MILE RACE

New Champion?

STOCKHOLM, July 1 (AP).—Arne Anderson, 27 year old school teacher, ran the mile in 4:02.6 today at the Swedish National Festival track meet at Goeteborg to cut two seconds off Gunder Hagg's recognized world mark of 4:04.6.

It was just a year ago that Hagg, now in Chicago, set a world mark of 4:06.2 for the American mile while competing in the same national festival meet. In the event Anderson's time is approved, one of Hagg's seven recognized world marks will be erased.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Gunder Hagg, world middle distance record holder from Sweden, and Cornelius Warmerdam of California, who holds the world pole vault mark, are ready for stellar roles tonight in Soldiers' field in the 42d Central A. A. U. track meet. Hagg and his leading rival in tonight's two mile run, Gil Dodds of Boston, arrived yesterday morning. Neither worked out after arrival.

Warmerdam, an ensign in the navy, left California yesterday by plane for his assignment in which he hopes to approach his world record in the vault of 15 feet 7¾ inches. On his last appearance in Chicago in the indoor relays last spring Warmerdam established his world indoor mark of 15 feet 8½ inches.

Finishes Training in East.

Hagg explained yesterday thru his trainer-interpreter, S. W. Steinwald, in his rooms in the La Salle hotel that he had finished preparations for his two mile test at Dartmouth. He was primarily concerned with a proposed visit to a Swedish bath house and with having an undisturbed 14 hour rest in the evening.

Dodds, one of four Americans invited to run against Hagg, is ranked as No. 1 contender because of his recent victory in the National A. A. U. 1,500 meter race in New York. He also had completed his training in Boston and did not visit the lakeside stadium. Dodds ran 1½ miles in his final workout and was timed in 6:45, which indicates a flat 9 minute pace for 2 miles. It was reported he finished his training stint in excellent condition and on the basis of his time he seems ready to push Hagg to the limit. It is conceivable Dodds may whip Hagg.

Two Mile Mark Is 8:47.8.

Hagg's record for 2 miles—he holds five other world marks from 1,500 meters to 5,000 meters—is 8:47.8. His mile record is 4:04.6. However, in his 5,000 meter victory over Greg Rice of Notre Dame, Hagg's time was nearly 50 seconds off his world performance which would indicate he probably is no better prepared now to better 9 minutes for 2 miles than is Dodds.

Other entrants in tonight's 2 mile run are Jerry Thompson of the University of Texas, national collegiate champion; Forrest Efaw, former Oklahoma A. & M. national champion in the 3,000 meter steeplechase, and Roy Phillips of Tufts college.

Jack de Field of Minnesota, national collegiate pole vault champion, will compete against Warmerdam, but it is unlikely he will do more than clear 14 feet which was the height at which Warmerdam began vaulting when he set his indoor mark in the Stadium last winter.

Night Program at 8 o'Clock.

One hundred and fifty athletes are entered in the Central A. A. U. meet. In addition to the invitational 2 mile run, which will climax tonight's program at 10:15 o'clock and will be broadcast by Harry Wismer over WENR and the blue network of the National Broadcasting company, there are 21 events. Eight titles will be decided this afternoon starting at 2 o'clock along with elimination trials in such other contests as the sprints, hurdles, and shorter runs.

Tonight's program will start at 8

TAKE WING SETS TRACK MARK BUT IS DISQUALIFIED

Put-In Becomes Winner; Jockey Suspended.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Take Wing, veteran grass course performer, won Arlington's $5,000 Rolling Lawn handicap yesterday on Washington Park's turf course in American record time, but his rider, Freddie Smith, let him go about it in such a rough manner that he was disqualified. A 22 to 1 shot, Put In, was moved up to first place and the stewards suspended Smith for the remainder of the meeting.

Take Wing's time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:44, which was a full second faster than the American mark set by Beautiful II. on Wednesday of last week. This is the second American grass track record which Take Wing holds. Last season he hung up the figure of 1:51 for a mile and an eighth in winning the Flossmoor handicap on the same track.

The finish was tight, Take Wing beating Put In by a head. Corydon, closing well, was a length and a quarter farther back in third place while Blue Pennant was fourth, a neck back of the Greentree stable representative. These horses were moved up one position each after Take Wing's number had been removed from the board.

Guilty of Repeated Fouling.

In making their ruling, the stewards found Take Wing guilty of repeated fouling. They held him accountable for some crowding on the first turn and some even more serious rough stuff in the stretch. As he was going to the front, he bore over toward the tiring Fairaris so much that this horse, in being pulled up, was dragged clear back on his haunches and almost fell.

After Take Wing, a 7 to 2 shot, had been disqualified, Put In returned the thumping prices of $47, $16.80, and $11.60 for win, place, and show.

Fairaris went out to make the early pace with Blue Pennant and Reading II. in contending positions. Take Wing was striding along in sixth place while Put In was last.

Approaching the far turn, Take Wing began improving his position but still was quite a few lengths off the leaders. Meanwhile Fairaris and Blue Pennant were engaging in a head and head duel at the head of the pack.

Launches Final Charge.

They came into the stretch and Take Wing launched his final charge. Put In, saving ground along the hedge also was closing fast. Take Wing came up alongside Fairaris. On the other side of the leader was Blue Pennant. As Take Wing bore over getting to the front, Fairaris was pinched back, narrowly missing losing his footing entirely. Meanwhile Put In was continuing his rush along the hedge and he was head and head with Take Wing as they went under the wire.

Arlington Park officials yesterday announced plans for the distribution of the proceeds of next Monday's benefit program, which will be headed by the $50,000 Stars and Stripes handicap. Fifty per cent of the profits will go to the Community Fund, 25 per cent to the service men's center, and 25 per cent to the Red Cross.

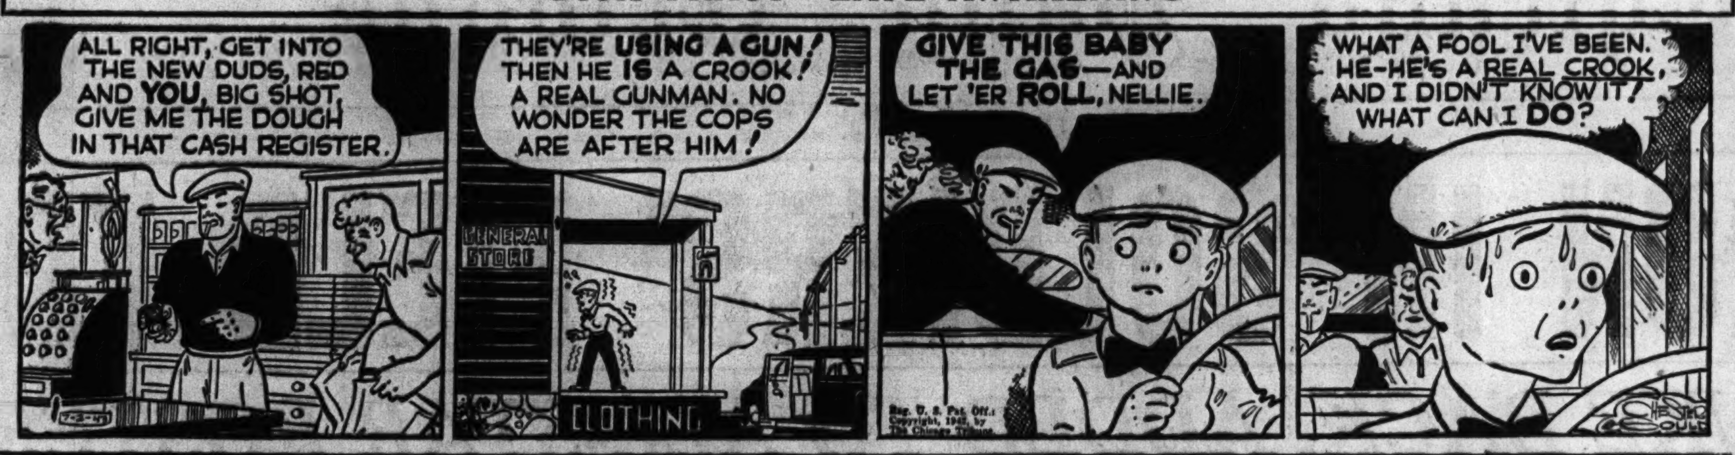
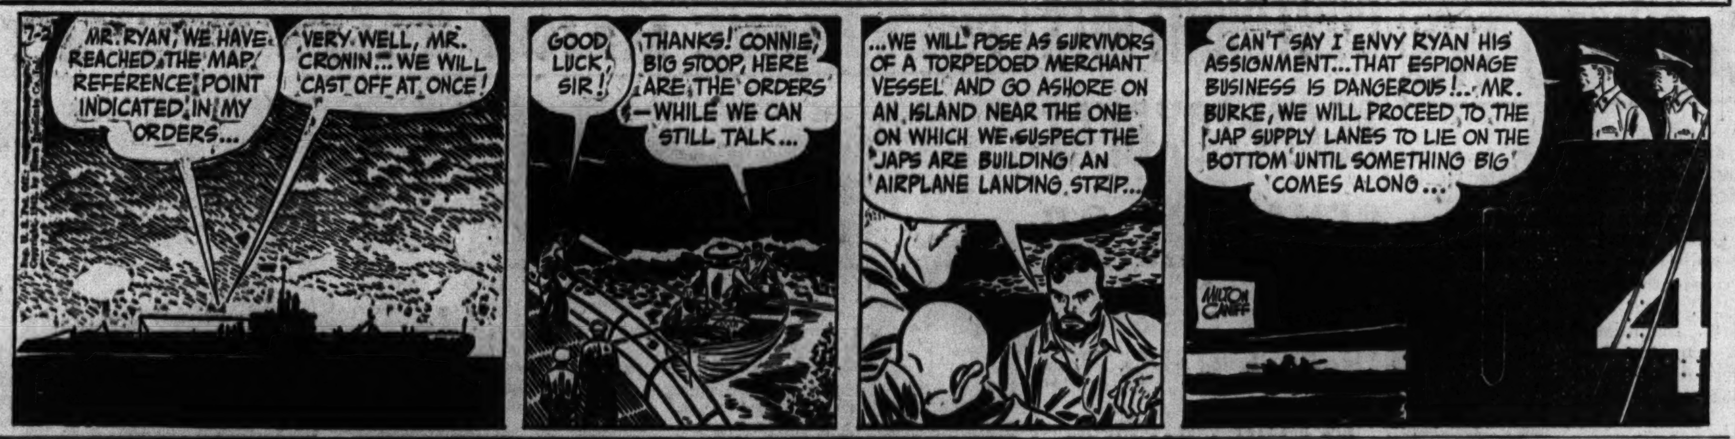
DICK TRACY—LATE AWAKENING



ALL RIGHT, GET INTO THE NEW DUDS, RED AND YOU, BIG SHOT, GIVE ME THE DOUGH IN THAT CASH REGISTER.
THEY'RE USING A GUN! THEN HE IS A CROOK! A REAL GUNMAN. NO WONDER THE COPS ARE AFTER HIM!
CLOTHING
GIVE THIS BABY THE GAS—AND LET 'ER ROLL, NELLIE.
WHAT A FOOL I'VE BEEN. HE—HE'S A REAL CROOK, AND I DIDN'T KNOW IT! WHAT CAN I DO?

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—JUST A SOFT SPOT ON THE FLOOR



MR. RYAN, WE HAVE REACHED THE MAP REFERENCE POINT INDICATED IN MY ORDERS...
VERY WELL, MR. CRONIN... WE WILL CAST OFF AT ONCE!
GOOD LUCK, SIR!
...WE WILL POSE AS SURVIVORS OF A TORPEDOED MERCHANT VESSEL AND GO ASHORE ON AN ISLAND NEAR THE ONE ON WHICH WE SUSPECT THE JAPS ARE BUILDING AN AIRPLANE LANDING STRIP...
CAN'T SAY I ENVY RYAN HIS ASSIGNMENT... THAT ESPIONAGE BUSINESS IS DANGEROUS!... MR. BURKE, WE WILL PROCEED TO THE JAP SUPPLY LANES TO LIE ON THE BOTTOM UNTIL SOMETHING BIG COMES ALONG...

PHILLIES SPANK PIRATES, 6 TO 1; THEN LOSE, 2-1

Rowe Yields Five Hits in Opener.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 1 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates snatched a 2 to 1 decision in the second game of a double header today after dropping the first game to the Philadelphia Phillies, 6 to 1.

Schoolboy Rowe, recording his seventh victory this year against three defeats, hurled a five hit game against the Pirates in the opener. Rowe set the visitors down without a hit until Bob Elliott beat out a bunt in the seventh inning.

SPRUNGER GETS EXECUTIVE POST IN I.H.S.A. PLAN

The Illinois High School association has shifted from the defensive to the offensive. While many similar organizations are engaged in retrenchment for the duration, the I. H. S. A. introduced its post-war plans yesterday by naming M. F. Sprunger of Roseville as an assistant to the executive secretary with his tenure to begin on Aug. 1.

In making the announcement yesterday, Secretary Albert Willis said the board of directors had selected Sprunger at a meeting in the association's offices, 11 South La Salle street, Wednesday night to be able to meet the challenge of rehabilitation at the close of the war.

Yank's Error Gives Indians 3-2 Triumph

Cleveland, O., July 1 (AP).—The New York Yankees gave away three runs and a ball game to the Cleveland Indians today, 3 to 2, as Rookie Charley Wensloff continued to play tag with hard luck.

With the score tied, Tony Rocco opened the eighth with a double, was sacrificed to third and scored the winning run when Catcher Ken Sears grappled futilely in an effort to pick up Hockett's roller toward first. Score:

BROWNS BEAT A'S, 2 TO 1.

St. Louis, Mo., July 1 (AP).—Don Black of the Philadelphia Athletics, who shut out the Browns on one hit Memorial day, was almost as effective for 10 innings today, but he weakened in the 11th and was defeated, 2 to 1.

Black had allowed only two hits in a pitching duel with Bob Muncrief until the Browns ganged up on him for the winning run on consecutive singles by Vern Stephens, Mike Chartak, Al Zarilla, and Joe Schultz.

said to be one of the strongest linemen ever to be a member of a Hilltopper squad. He was enrolled in the college of liberal arts and his hope is he will return to Marquette after the war to complete his studies and his span of athletic competition.

More than two score college men will form the squad which will meet the professional champions. The roster will be completed this month. In the meantime the financial success of the game is assured, for all $6.60 and $2.20 seats now are sold. Remaining locations in the permanent stands of Dyche stadium are priced at $4.40 and the bleachers at each end of the gridiron are $3.30. More than 50,000 will see the game and the net receipts are expected to exceed the amount derived when the games were played in Soldiers' field.

WISCONSIN GIRLS WIN, 16 TO 0, ON WAAC PROGRAM

The Wisconsin team defeated the Illinois-Indiana team, 16 to 0, last night in the All-American Girls Softball league's first all-star game, one of the features of the WAAC's sports and recruiting rally in Wrigley field. Seven thousand fans witnessed the program.

Adamowskis Go Into Lead in Windy City

The Ben Adamowskis clinched first place in the National division of the Windy City Softball league last night in Hillburn stadium by defeating Irv-Oak Rookerys, 9 to 7. The Representatives Adducis won the American division title by routing the Gashouse Gang, 33 to 5. Tonight's schedule:

At Hillburn stadium, 5500 North Wolcotta venue: 8—Brach Kandy Kids vs. Collegians, 9—Rep. Adducis vs. Witt Hanley Yankees. At Rheingold stadium, 75th street and Euclid avenue: 8—Fewer Boilers vs. Gashouse Gang, 9—Lill Coals vs. Eddie's Service.

WITT HANLEYS WIN.

The Witt Hanley Yankees beat the Blue Rooms, 6 to 4, and the North Town Currency defeated Alderman Orlikowskis, 8 to 6, in North Town softball league games in North Town stadium last night.

White Sox and Dietrich Beat Senators, 2-0

dent closed. The next time they did their fade-out act was in the fourth that started with Curtright's triple. A walk to Appling came next. All that then happened was a strikeout for Grant and Kolloway's tap that was turned into a double play. Similar disregard was shown over a single with which Kuhel led off in the fifth.

Except for a single by Gene Moore with one out in the second and a hit by Wynn at the start of the sixth, Dietrich's troubles were nothing, but in the seventh he was burdened with nothing less than a full house. Johnson singled, was bunted along by Moore, and Early was handed an intentional pass. This scheme worked perfectly because Priddy failed to be on watch as a third strike zipped past. Grant added to the distress by fumbling Sullivan's roller to load the bases, but Wynn's tap to Kuhel solved the problem. Johnson's single in the ninth was the only disturbing incident thereafter.

CANDINI FACES SOX

Johnny Humphries, for whom the nine inning route has been troublesome this season, will tackle the Senators in the last of the series today and his task will be additionally complicated by the fact that he'll be opposed by Milo Candini, who has a record of 7 and 0.

DI BATTISTA TO MEET LINDSAY IN BOUT TONIGHT

A five round secondary feature will bring together Dan Robinson, Kaleb Athletic club lightweight, and Ceasar Cooper of the Savoy A. C. Robinson upset Tim Dalton a week ago.

No Order Given to Manufacture Hunters' Shells

The WPB in Washington has confirmed the statement made in these columns a few days ago that no ammunition manufacturers in the United States have been told to manufacture shells for civilian use, altho the WPB hopes that such ammunition will be made available by fall and a story released from Washington indicated that shells would be manufactured.

A dispatch from THE TRIBUNE'S Washington bureau says that the WPB doubts if anything will develop on the ammunition situation for 30 days and no order has been issued on it.

It's no secret that certain government bureaus concerned with conservation and wildlife are in favor of a limited amount of ammunition being made available to hunters so that the annual harvest of game could be gathered this fall if such ammunition can be made without hindrance to the war.

Championships to be determined this afternoon are the 3 mile run, shot put, 16 pound hammer throw, discus throw, hop, step and jump, 56 pound weight throw for distance, and the javelin throw. Opening event tonight is the 2 mile walk.

Among the well known competitors in the meet are Claude Young and Ranis Thomas of the Olde Tymers club who recently won the state high school title for Wendell Phillips High school; J. A. Byerly and Dave Matthews, former Michigan track stars now competing for the Notre Dame naval training unit, and these former Irish stars from the same club, Frank Conforti, Gene Fehlig, Tony Maloney, Jim Delaney, and Bill Nicholson. Delaney is a Central collegiate shot put champion.

Profits of tonight's meet will be given to the Army Air Forces Aid society.

Derringer Is Credited with Sixth Victory.

day they got a lot of bad baseball out of their system, and if they win tomorrow they will have their first four game streak of the year.

The Cubs were swinging today—and probably wouldn't have had to worry about the eighth inning jam but for three recurrences of the kind of base running that helped keep them in the cellar for 40 days and 40 nights.

Every man in the Cub starting batting order except Ival Goodman and Derringer made at least one hit, and Ival scored a run after a walk while Paul got a run across with a fine squeeze bunt.

Nicholson Leads Attack.

Bill Nicholson led the attack with two singles and a double and drove in two runs. Phil Cavarretta scored twice, had a single and a double, and walked twice. Lennie Merullo had a double and a single, and Stanky, despite his collapse afield, had two singles. Stan Hack had only one hit, but it was a double which drove in the Cubs' fifth run off Red Barrett, starting and losing pitcher.

The Cubs, recalling that they didn't make a hit off Barrett after the second inning, tho they beat him, 2 to 1, decided on an early start today—and made two runs in the first inning. Stanky singled and Cavarretta walked. Nicholson singled to right, scoring Stanky and putting Cavarretta on third. Goodman popped to Eddie Joost, but Lowrey singled to left, scoring Cavarretta. Nick was out trying to get to third on Peanuts' smack.

Our lads made a run with two out in the third on Cavarretta's single and Nicholson's second hit, a double.

Lowrey was safe on Joost's fumble at the start of the fourth and went to third on McCullough's single to right. Merullo flied to Elmer Nieman, but Derringer squeezed Lowrey home with a sacrifice, Barrett to Johnny McCarthy.

The Braves got their first run in the fifth on McCarthy's double and Hugh Poland's single, then Farrell took over the Braves' pitching assignment at the start of the sixth.

Stanky Aids Foe.

Stanky took a nap in the sixth and the Braves made a pair of runs. Connie Ryan walked with one down and Holmes sent a double play ball to Merullo. Merullo prepared to throw, but observed Stanky far from second. When Merullo finally threw, Stanky dropped the ball, Ryan reaching third and Holmes first. Ryan scored on Workman's infield out, then Nieman doubled to right, scoring Holmes.

Wietelmann and Ryan supplied easy infield outs in the Boston eighth before the trouble set in. Holmes grounded to Stanky, who threw too late for the out. That was Stanky error No. 2. Derringer deflected Workman's grounder to Stanky, who permitted the ball to roll into center field, Holmes reaching third and Workman first. Nieman walked, loading the bases, after which McCarthy singled to right, scoring Holmes and Workman and putting Nieman on third with the tying run.

Hanyzewski, winner of yesterday's second game, was called in and walked Joost again, loading the sacks. When Hanyzewski threw two wide ones to Poland, Johnny Burrows replaced him. Burrows threw a third ball then two strikes, after which Poland rolled to Merullo.

HANDBOOK LIST GIVEN ALLMAN, CROWLEY SAYS

Sent Along the Captains, Police Head Reports.

Police Commissioner Allman and First Assistant State's Atty. Wilbert F. Crowley disagreed yesterday on whether anything was being done about information on handbooks supplied to the police by the state's attorney's office.

Crowley said that during the last two weeks he has turned over to Allman a list of 33 handbooks that his investigators have found running wide open. The joints were most numerous in the Summerdale, Town Hall, Warren avenue, and Chicago Lawn districts, he said.

Reports They Advertise.

"Some one put out the word that 'the lid is off' and the books began to reopen," Crowley asserted.

"Some of the newly opened places are operated by the old gangs and some are so bold that they issue cards advertising their business."

Allman said all information on handbooks turned over to him by the state's attorney has been given to district police captains. Since the old gambling squad was abolished, enforcement of laws against gambling has been in the laps of the district captains.

Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, said enforcement of the laws against handbook betting should not be difficult with coöperation between the police and the prosecutor's office.

"Handbooks cannot operate without protection," he said.

Raid Reveals Operations.

A police raid on a handbook syndicate wireroom on the fourth floor of the building at 416 South Dearborn street revealed Wednesday that betting parlors are operating again openly. Detectives under Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Central station, acting on information supplied by the state's attorney's office, seized records showing that at least 103 bookies were supplied with racing service from that headquarters.

Employes and operators fled from the room thru a rear exit while the police were forcing the office door. The manager of the building told police the room was rented last April 15 by an Andrew J. Brown, also known as Burns. He is being sought.

Raid Handbook in Home.

Bernard Cohn, seized Wednesday as the operator of a handbook in a private home at 7559 Rogers avenue, was fined $10 yesterday by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in the South State street court. Detectives from the commissioner's office, who made the raid, found Jacqueline Osborne, 6 years old, playing among the three women and eight men patrons of the handbook. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foust Osborne, who work during the day, and leased their home to Cohn.

ALLMAN TAKES 5 POLICE BACK FROM CORONER

The five city policemen assigned to the coroner's office are going back to their districts again, Police Commissioner Allman said yesterday. The five had been taken out of the office at the request of Coroner A. L. Brodie last February, then reassigned to Brodie's office June 23 at his request.

The new shift back to their districts is Allman's idea, the police commissioner said, asserting that in working under Brodie they duplicate the work of detectives and other members of the department assigned to homicide cases.

The five policemen and the districts to which they will report today are Sergeants Francis J. Donoghue, West North avenue, and Francis Mulherin, Chicago Lawn, and Patrolmen David Lichtenstein, Town Hall; Oliver Karwoski, Shakespeare, and Walter McDermott, Englewood.

Hotel Clerk Under Bond on Charge Involving Girl

Paul Wilson, 58 years old, a clerk in the hotel at 3120 North Ashland avenue, was held to the grand jury on bond of $5,000 by Judge Cecil C. Smith in Felony court yesterday on a charge of crime against a child, brought by a 15 year old girl who said he took her to his room and molested her June 18.

Chicagoan Is Top Midshipman

Highest honors among the more than 900 midshipmen who were commissioned ensigns yesterday at a commencement ceremony on Navy pier went to Charles W. Field, 5642 Kenwood avenue, a 1942 graduate of Harvard university. The ensigns, who were given travel orders which will send them to duty at sea as deck officers, completed their 90 day training course in Northwestern university's Abbott hall school earlier in the week. Capt. B. B. Wygant, commanding officer of the school, addressed the graduates. Ensign Field received a citation and was congratulated by Ensign Louis E. Tuffly, who won top honors in ordnance, gunnery, and seamanship.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. B. G. writes: "Some time ago, I prepared a box for my son, who is now stationed in California. It contained cookies, candy, and some fruit. However, when it reached the postoffice, I was told that it was not acceptable because of the fruit. Will you please tell me if that is true?"

ANSWER: Yes. Under regulations issued by the state of California, certain plants or plant material may not be shipped into that state. Parcels containing apples, cherries, grapefruit, oranges, plums, and similar fruit must not be mailed to navy or military personnel, or to civilians in that state. To avoid delay in handling of parcels, and particularly those addressed to men in service, the postoffice requests that civilians refrain from mailing such fruits.

M. R. writes: "I am expecting my boy friend to go into the army very soon. He wants to make an allotment for me, if possible. Can he have the government send me a certain amount of money from his monthly salary? If so, how would he go about having that done?"

ANSWER: No. A class "E" pay allotment deducted entirely from the soldier's salary may not be authorized except to the soldier's own bank account, to relatives, or an insurance company for payment of premiums on a soldier's own life. If he wishes to send you money, it will be necessary for him to do so personally after he receives his salary.

Mrs. N. Y. L. asks: "My husband is soon to be inducted into the army. He has been paying $10 a week for the support of two children by a previous marriage according to the stipulation of the court at the time of the divorce. In view of the fact that he must observe the order, I wonder if I will receive my allowance of $50 a month? If not, will I receive a percentage of the allowance?"

ANSWER: In cases such as yours, the government contribution to you would be $28, and to the children by his previous marriage the government's contribution would be up to $20. It is not possible to give you the exact amount, because the court order must be examined by lawyers of the war department. The soldier's contribution of $22 will have to be divided between you and his children by his previous marriage. The proportion will be similar to the distribution of the government's contribution. When your husband files his application for an allowance, it will be necessary for him to present a certified copy of the court order.

TEACHER FIGHTS FIRING IN SECRET MARRIAGE CASE

A board appointed by Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, postponed decision until Aug. 18 after a hearing last night on the appeal of Mrs. Genevieve Christner Wilcox, a teacher of music in the Oak Park elementary schools, from a decision of the school board of district 97, which dropped her from the teaching force on a charge of concealing her marriage for 10 years.

Mrs. Wilcox and her husband, Earl, who is a blind lawyer, live at 551 Pine avenue, Chicago. She has been employed in the Oak Park schools since 1931. In voting to oust her, the board held that failure to enforce the rule against married teachers in her case would be a breach of faith with 59 teachers who quit their jobs after marriage.

Mrs. Wilcox denied she concealed her marriage, explaining that on the contrary she and her husband gained considerable publicity when he became the owner of the third "Seeing Eye" dog in Chicago. In a conversation with her superintendent in 1938, she said, she implied she was married and that her income was necessary to subsistence of herself and her husband.

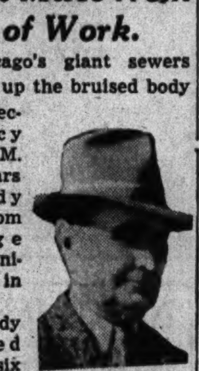
22 OFFER BLOOD TO PATIENT ILL OF HEMOPHILIA

Twenty-two persons yesterday offered their blood to Paul Belting of Urbana as a result of an item which appeared in yesterday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE describing his predicament. He is ill in Belmont hospital, 4058 Melrose street, of a rare type of hemophilia and has had more than 50 transfusions. The call was for type three [army type B] blood, but it also was announced that certain type four [army type O] donors could be used. The 22 offers were from persons of these types. There were other calls, but they were from persons of a blood type not usable in this particular case.

GIANT SEWER GIVES UP BODY OF PLANT GUARD

Found Six Miles from Scene of Work.



Joseph M. Jackson.

One of Chicago's giant sewers last night gave up the bruised body of a Burns detective agency guard, Joseph M. Jackson, 53 years old. The body was taken from the sewage plant of the sanitary district in Stickney.

Jackson's body had traveled more than six miles thru the giant tube. When last heard from he had been on duty early Tuesday in a tower of the General Spring Bumper division, Houdaille-Hershey corporation, 1455 West 38th street.

Gun Found in Tower.

Jackson's revolver and holster were found in his solitary tower at the front gate of the plant. Jackson had reported for work at 4 p. m. Monday to do two straight shifts, from 4 to midnight and from midnight to 8 a. m. Tuesday.

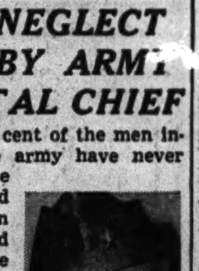
Jackson reported punctually until 12:15 a. m. Tuesday. Then silence. His absence became known at 5:30 when a milkman reported the front gate unguarded.

Had No Known Enemies.

At his home, 7528 Calumet avenue, his wife, Mrs. Fay Jackson, told police her husband had no enemies, no worries, that he was happy in his job and that they had come here from Duncan, Okla., 14 months ago.

Officials of the company could offer no explanation. They said everything was in order in Jackson's work. Roy Lapitz, division manager for the Burns agency, advanced the theory that Jackson may have ended his life by leaping into the sewer, altho he acknowledged he had no basis for his belief.

TOOTH NEGLECT TOLD BY ARMY DENTAL CHIEF



Brig. Gen. R. H. Mills.

Nearly 75 per cent of the men inducted into the army have never received adequate dental care, and a large portion have never had any dental care at all, Brig. Gen. Robert H. Mills, chief of the dental division of the medical corps of the army, said yesterday as he completed a tour of midwestern army installations.

Holding a joint press conference with Col. Arnett P. Matthews, sixth service command dental officer, Gen. Mills said that more than 2,000,000 soldiers are receiving extensive dental treatment each month and that full and partial artificial dentures are being fitted at the rate of more than 60,000 per month.

He said the extensive oral surgery performed by the 12,000 dentists in uniform will have a profound effect on civilian dental practice after the war. He predicted that there will be a serious shortage of dentists in peace time because of the millions of soldiers who are realizing for the first time the necessity for adequate care of their teeth.

Brief Vacations for War Workers Urged by WPB

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Brief vacations for workers in war industries were urged today by the management-labor council of the war production board. "Every minute counts, but effectiveness on the job is equally important," the council said. "We must not strain our efforts beyond the point of efficiency."

J. E. MacMURRAY, WHO GAVE AWAY MILLIONS, DIES

Word was received in Chicago last night of the death in Pasadena, Cal., of James E. MacMurray, former Chicagoan, steel executive and philanthropist. He was 81 years old, and retired to the west coast in 1935.

Mr. MacMurray was president of the Acme Steel corporation for 25 years. He developed it from a small concern to one of national proportions. He acquired millions of dollars and gave millions away. His largest donations were to the former Illinois Woman's college at Jacksonville, Ill., which changed its name to MacMurray college in recognition of his gifts. He gave at least $2,250,000 to the school. Another large gift, amounting to $235,000, was given to Garrett Biblical institute in Evanston.

Mr. MacMurray was a state senator from Hyde Park for eight years. He was active in relikious work during his long residence in Chicago and later in Evanston and Barrington.

He is survived by his widow, Kathryn, and two daughters, Mrs. Mirian Martin of Greenwich, Conn., and Isabell Anderson of Texas.

MEAT SCARCITY IS LAID TO RED TAPE MUDDLING

Symposium Blasts U. S. Burocrats.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—Overproduction of red tape by Washington officials was blamed today for under production of red meat at a symposium on the meat shortage sponsored by Rep. Richard Mifflin Kleberg [D., Tex.], one of the owners of the world's largest ranch, King Ranch, Inc., 1,250,000 acres. Appointment of a meat beard with real authority was urged by one of the speakers.

Rep. R. M. Kleberg.

Kleberg stated that housewives are unable to buy beef at their markets, not because there is a shortage of cattle or because beef is going to the military services, but because burocrats have brought confusion to the entire meat industry. He was supported by former Judge Joseph Montague, general counsel for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle association, and Wilbur LaRowe Jr., general counsel of the National Independent Meat Packers association, representing 630 independent packers.

By the department of agriculture's own estimates of the cattle population of the country, Judge Montague said, the country has more beef than it needs to supply the army and navy, lend-lease and the civilian population if the meat industry were put on a common sense basis.

Cattle Up 12 Million.

The normal cattle population of the country is 67 million head, he said, while the department of agriculture estimates that the population today is 79 million head, or 12 million above the normal figure. In 1929, considered a peak year for meat consumption, there were 59 million head of cattle in the country.

While the cattle population is increasing, the judge asserted, meat production is falling off. In 1940 some 15 million head of cattle were slaughtered to produce about 7 billion pounds of beef. Today, he estimated, slaughtering has fallen off 50 per cent. Kleberg and LaRowe supported this estimate.

Judge Montague suggested that the meat crisis be met by the appointment of a meat board, similar to that which operated during World War I. This board would supervise all government buying, he said, so that the services would not be competing with each other. It would differ from the present board in Chicago in that it would have more power and specific duties.

At present, he estimated, about 30 per cent of the slaughtered beef is going to the armed forces, 7 per cent to lend-lease, and the rest to civilian needs.

"If the meat board would fix the price for government purchases every day, as the World war meat board did, the industry would be stabilized," he said.

Small Packers Hurt.

LaRowe said that small packers, who supply 60 per cent of the meat for civilian purposes, are facing extinction because they are losing $9 to $18 a head on cattle that they slaughter because OPA management has raised the price of beef for them from $15.80 to $17 a hundredweight. He attributed the plight of the slaughterers to:

1. Failure of government agencies to get together to coördinate a sound program.
2. Theorists in high government posts, who have no regard for private enterprise are seeking to ruin private business.
3. Wholesale disregard by burocrats of provisions of the law and actions of congress.

Rep. Kleberg said that the press and congress are meeting the challenge and working to correct the chaos.

"I need only to point to the actions of the last week," he said. "Congress is doing a good job protecting the Constitution and the American way of life. I am sure that it will continue its good work and strive even harder to bring order to federal processes."

AMERICA LENDS STOCK OF SILVER FOR BRITISH USE

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—More than 3 million ounces of American silver have been sent to England for use in war production and coinage, Edward R. Stettinius Jr., lend-lease administrator, announced today.

Taken from the treasury stocks of free silver by agreement among the combined raw materials board, the war production board, the treasury department, the special senate committee on silver, and other governmental agencies, the shipments will be returned on an ounce for ounce basis after the war.

The American silver was sent to relieve a shortage in Britain where the metal is used in the armament industries, manufacturing of airplanes, and the repair of ships, Stettinius said. In many areas, silver coins have to be supplied to large numbers of American troops, he said.

OPA Urged to Clean House; Bakers Disturbed by Curbs

Revisions Asked

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations yesterday told the office of price administration it hoped OPA "will clean its own house and save price control from within," make use of the practical experience of retailers, and revise its complex regulations so competition can function as a price reducing force.

In a letter to Prentiss Brown, OPA administrator, J. T. Meek, federation executive secretary, said merchants did not oppose the basic function of OPA—to control prices—and that they regard the OPA action in calling merchants to a meeting next week to discuss changes in the rayon hosiery price order as an indication of a favorable trend.

"Our attacks have arisen because of impractical, unsound handling of the program," Meek wrote.

Lists Changes Urged.

He expressed hope that many goods would be freed from price controls, that price adjustments would be permitted to encourage production of noncritical consumer goods, and that price control would be applied at the wholesale level, or if at the retail level, then by means of limiting the merchant's price to the amount of markup which he customarily had applied.

Meek reiterated federation opposition to a general subsidy, and urged relief from the "legalistic formulas which have left retailing perplexed and disappointed."

Meek said merchants were heartened by the OPA attitude in rescinding the 25 per cent cut in grade B rayon hosiery and calling next week's conference.

Oppose Milk Cut

The baking industry, second to meat packing among food industries, is becoming increasingly concerned over restrictions and regulations emanating from the various government agencies and bureaus, industry sources said yesterday.

Amendments to the food distribution administration's order No. 1 regulating the industry, became effective during the day, and bakers expressed satisfaction over being permitted to use larger amounts of sugar and shortening, but said the order gave them no relief from the sugar shortage. The lowered minimum requirements for milk in bread were generally disapproved.

May Force Lower Quality.

Faced with increasing consumption of baked goods to take the place of rationed foods, bakers feared they may be compelled to lower the quality of bread, because of shorter supplies of milk and sugar ingredients which they said increased the nutrition value of bread and added to its appearance and flavor.

Many bakers who relied upon corn sugar and syrups to augment restricted supplies of sugar were having difficulty obtaining these products.

Milk Supplies Shrink.

Supplies of milk, used usually in the form of dried skim milk are short far a variety of reasons. Foremost is that dairies must set aside 75 per cent of roller and spray dried milk during July and August for military and lend-lease purposes.

Restrictions on the number of varieties of bread a baker may bake were reported to be causing difficulty.

Farmers Cut Hog Run and Prices Climb

Severe price cuts, coupled with the reports that the war meat board would not request packers to slaughter and process on a custom basis for the government until farmers ended the congestion in the stock yards by curtailing shipments, resulted in the second smallest Thursday receipts of hogs since last October as farmers held back shipments. This resulted in a steep increase in prices.

Hog prices closed 25 to 40 cents higher after a 10 to 15 cents higher opening. All classes shared in the rally, carrying the average up 25 cents to $13.60 a hundred pounds, highest since last Friday.

Prices Again Below "Floor."

Producers of prime weighty butchers above 270 pounds again received prices below the "floor," despite the general advance. Most of the good and choice 240 to 270 pound "government weights" sold at $13.75 to $13.85. Some brought up to $13.90.

Altho the liquidation of herds because of the corn shortage was slowed down temporarily, the volume of shipments to market again was heavier than a year earlier. Twenty large markets received 66,000 hogs, 31 per cent below a week earlier.

Largest in 10 Years.

The Chicago yards during June received 537,156 hogs, the largest volume for that month since 1933. This compared with 474,750 a year earlier. June cattle receipts were 155,340, the smallest for that month in three years, against 195,466 a year ago. Calf receipts of 15,050 were the lowest for June in 45 years. Sheep receipts of 123,361 compared with 132,949 a year earlier.

Cattle receipts at the large markets were slightly above a week earlier but 20 per cent smaller than on the corresponding day last year. Most beef animals were under pressure, with prices weak to 25 cents lower for most steers, yearlings, heifers, beef cows, and bulls.

WHOLESALE SQUEEZE DECLARED THREAT TO CIVILIAN EGG SUPPLY

Additional complaints of squeezes by office of price administration food price regulations were made yesterday when Chicago shell egg distributors said that they were being forced to operate at a loss.

The dealers, meeting in the Chicago Mercantile exchange, asserted that the OPA fixed retail ceilings on eggs, but failed to protect wholesalers by maximums at that level.

Buyers for government procurement agencies and the army were paying prices so close to retail ceilings that distributors seeking supplies for the civilian trade were practically shut out, they said.

J. M. Hansen, of the Hansen and Matson company, Chicago, asked that relief from present OPA regulations be obtained not only to aid distributors, but in the interests of civilian comsumers who otherwise will face dwindling supplies soon.

EXPERTS DIFFER ON VALUES FOR MIDLAND UNITS

Philadelphia, Pa., July 1 (AP).—Two Chicago financial experts differed today on evaluation of properties of the Midland Utilities and Midland United companies at a hearing on reorganization proceeding before the securities exchange commission.

J. Samuel Hartt, successor trustee of Midland Utilities, and consulting engineer, valued properties of the companies at $26,213,802. John H. Bickley, financial expert employed by Midland United, had testified Tuesday he valued the same properties at 12⅓ million dollars. He said he had not made a personal survey of the properties of the Midland subsidiaries.

Counsel for trustees of Midland United had objected to Hartt's offering evaluation testimony on the ground he was a trustee and not a disinterested person. Hartt exaluated Northern Indiana Public service company properties at 18 millions, Indiana Service company at 3.2 millions, and Chicago South Shore and South Bend railroad at 3 millions. Bickley's values were $7,400,000, $2,300,000, and $2,450,000, respectively.

Plan to Avert Potato Shortage

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Administration officials today were reported considering a proposal for government purchase and distribution of the entire 1943 crop of late potatoes in an attempt to forestall a prospective four month potato "famine" next spring.

An authoritative source said price and food officials were studying a plan for Commodity Credit corporation purchase of potatoes from growers at prices high enough to sustain production, to be followed by controled sales thruout the year to wholesalers and other distributors.

Leaves Four Month Gap.

At present rates of consumption the 1943 crop can last only eight months, leaving a four month potato gap early next year, compared with the two month shortage which affected many areas this spring, it was said.

Onions, which also disappeared for a time this year, could be brought under a similar government buying and selling program, and so could much of the 1944 pack of canned vegetables.

The government's potato sales to distributors and wholesalers would be at prices in keeping with present ceilings, with the government absorbing the difference between the ceiling and the price paid to growers.

Most in North Unharvested.

About three-fourths of the potato crop in northern states remains to be harvested. Early potatoes, produced in the south, have been on the market for several weeks. Early potatoes could not be brought under a controled distribution plan, nor could the crop produced in central growing areas.

SAY CROP MAY BE ADEQUATE.

Chicago dealers yesterday said they had not known a plan for government purchase of the potato crop and its controled sale to avert a shortage during low production months was under consideration. They said it was too early to determine the size of the 1943 crop.

With a large increase in acreage a favorable growing season could produce enough potatoes to fill government and civilian needs thruout the year, they asserted. Whether there will be a shortage will depend largely on the crop in the "late" states, such as Minnesota and Idaho, they said.

Meanwhile, the regional office of the food distribution administration reported that the unexpected surplus of new potatoes which reached the Chicago market a few days ago is moving into consumer channels. Dealers said retailers and consumers are responding to government appeals to take advantage of low prices and abundant supplies and that apparently danger of heavy spoilage and waste because of the surplus, poor storage qualities and hot weather has been averted. Some spoilage was reported, however, because of restrictions on refrigerator car icing.

MEAT RULINGS CAUSE CONCERN THRU NEBRASKA

Live Stock Is Main Farm Product.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., July 1.—With live stock providing 78 per cent of Nebraska's farm income, farm experts of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture said today the state is more vitally concerned than many other states in the meat price manipulations of the office of price administration.

Foremost members of the agricultural school faculty are in accord with the live stock producers of the state who consider that they are unfairly penalized by OPA regulations.

All phases of live stock production are represented in the state. North central Nebraska, for instance, is one of the richest grazing districts in the United States. From this section, known as the Sand Hills area, come many of the cattle later fattened in other parts of the state and in other feeder states of the middle west.

Hog Raising Revived.

After a slump during the drouth cycle of the 1930s hog production is regaining its normal position in the state's farm economy. The 1943 spring pig crop shows the biggest increase for any state in the corn-hog belt.

Dr. H. C. Filley, chairman of the department of rural economics of the agricultural school, recalled today that the government itself is in part responsible for the shortage of feed which is given as one justification for present live stock policies.

"Nearly a year after Pearl Harbor the agricultural adjustment administration refused to lift the restrictions on acreage on the winter wheat crop planted last fall," he said. "Wheat is the best feed that we are able to produce in certain sections of Nebraska. It is particularly good for cattle feed and also is good for hogs. It can be used for sheep when mixed with other feeds."

Spokesmen for the wheat producers in Nebraska, Kansas, and other states brought these facts to the attention of the AAA well in advance of the crop planting season, Dr. Filley said.

Calls AAA Shortsighted.

"But all the AAA could see was that there were large accumulations of wheat in the elevators," he said. "Had the AAA wished to limit the amount of wheat that farmers could sell, it would have been a simple matter to restrict wheat marketings, not the acreage planted. This would have permitted farmers to plant all the wheat they thought they could profitably use for feed."

"A bright 16 year old farm boy would have known that in war time, with more people employed and working harder there would be a great increase in the demand for food, but the AAA didn't see it."

"In recent years we have imported more food than we have exported. How the AAA has overlooked that significant fact I don't know."

Adequate Prices Held Vital.

It is doubly important this year that Nebraska farmers get adequate prices for their live stock, Dr. William J. Loeffel, chairman of the department of animal husbandry, said.

The corn crop got a late start, he observed. Many fields had to be replanted, but the crop is catching up. Nebraska farmers don't count on selling their corn on the market as the condition of the crop frequently is such that it is usable only as live stock feed, he said.

"Our type of farming doesn't figure on marketing of the corn crop under any conditions," Dr. Loeffel asserted. "Corn and other feed are raised to be used on the farm for conversion into meat. Other than the sugar beet crop, which is produced in western Nebraska, live stock is about the only agricultural product that we send out of the state. Our entire farm economy is built around this fact."

Chicagoans Are Selected for Employment Group

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Miss Sara Southall, supervisor of employment and service of the International Harvester company, and Milton P. Webster, vice president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, were Chicagoans appointed by President Roosevelt today to the reorganized committee on fair employment practices.

Rubber Made More Durable Thru Soy Bean

BY RICHARD ORR.

An ingredient to improve the durability of synthetic and natural rubber has emerged from Armour & Co. laboratories and is in commercial production, it was learned yesterday. Victor Conquest, research director, said output of the company's 31st street auxiliary plant, where the ingredient is manufactured, will be doubled within the next few weeks.

Development of the ingredient from soybean oil acid was considered significant by company research officials in view of the importance of rubber in the war, because it is comparatively inexpensive and because its manufacture utilizes a raw material which is gaining in importance as a starting point in the preparation of synthetic chemicals—fat.

Details Not Disclosed.

It is one of a number of chemical products developed by Armour thru the company's program during the last 12 years of experimenting with products that can be derived from animal, vegetable, and marine fats. Altho production of the ingredient—identified by chemists as unsaturated nitrile—has been carried out on a commercial scale for about 18 months, details were not announced because of war security restrictions.

Dr. A. W. Ralston, assistant research director in charge of the company's fat development program, explained that most types of synthetic rubber have two big drawbacks: [1] They lose elasticity and become brittle at extremely low temperatures, and [2] they are less able than natural rubber to dissipate frictional heat.

The addition of unsaturated nitrile in liquid form into synthetic rubber at the time it is milled makes for flexibility at lower temperatures and markedly increases the ability of the rubber to dissipate frictional heat, which in the case of tires lessens the chances of blowouts, Ralston said. The nitrile also will improve natural rubber, which contains these drawbacks to a lesser degree, he added.

Helps Seal Tank Punctures.

As an example of the use of the chemical product, it is contained in the rubber used in the lining of self sealing gas tanks in aircraft, Ralston said. The nitrile is helpful in enabling the tank to seal properly when punctured at high altitudes, he said.

Conquest declined to say how much of the chemical product is going to rubber manufacturers and processors. He said, however, that production is limited only by lack of equipment and that after the war the company intends to increase its output "tenfold."

Among other products which the company has developed from fats is a substitute for crude rubber to be used for coating paper, synthetic waxes, bactericides, insecticides, and an insect repellent for use in spraying trees and plants.

NORTH WESTERN AGAIN REQUESTS MODIFIED PLAN

A new effort was made yesterday by the Chicago and North Western railroad to have its reorganization plan as approved by the interstate commerce commission reconsidered and modified.

A petition filed in federal District court by Luther M. Walter, attorney for the railroad, asked that the commission's recent order refusing to reopen the case be set aside. The petition requested the court to determine whether the commission acted legally in refusing to permit reargument and reconsideration of the case.

The hearing was assigned to the three judge calendar of Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

OLDS CREDITS TURN IN WAR TO PRODUCTION

Industry's Record Is Lauded.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The "wonderful job of production" by American industry has contributed greatly to the favorable turn of the war in the last few months, Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, yesterday told a large group of Chicago business leaders in the Palmer House. He presented a movie showing the corporation's big contribution to America's war production.

Irving S. Olds.

"Despite hampering obstacles of one kind or another our industrial organization during the last three years has performed a wonderful job of production," Olds said. "American industry has demonstrated a willingness, a determination, and an ability fully to coöperate with the government toward the attainment of our common objective, the complete defeat of the axis powers.

Loyal, Tireless Work Praised.

"The result of the loyal and tireless efforts of the experienced and efficient personnel, both management and workers, who direct the country's mines, factories, and transportation systems can be found in the highly favorable change in the course of the war, which has taken place in recent months."

Olds said that the production record was made possible because the United States had in June, 1940, when it started its arms program, a virile and effective industrial organization which was built up thru the years under a system of free private enterprise. It was this system of free enterprise which made possible the development of national resources, the establishment of modern productive facilities, the training of skilled operating forces, and the attainment of a high standard of living, he said.

"American business has truly come into its own and belied those critics who not so long ago questioned its virility and effectiveness," Olds asserted.

Exceeds Rated Capacity.

For more than two years the steel corporation has averaged in excess of 100 per cent of its rated capacity for finished steel products, Olds said, and last year produced 30 million tons of the nation's record production of 86 million tons of steel ingots. The corporation's share was more than the combined steel output of Germany and its allies.

To reach this productive level the corporation's facilities were materially revised and expanded, an undertaking which cost about 700 million dollars, a large part of which was government financed.

Olds later said the coal strikes were having a serious effect on production. He estimated that up to last night the strike had cost the corporation 37,500 tons of steel ingots and the preceding strike cost it 45,000 tons.

The Chicago area was fortunate in being able to go thru the trouble with coal operations on a normal basis, he said, whereas the Pittsburgh district operated at 75 per cent and the Birmingham at less than 50 per cent.

Regional Commerce Unit to Remain in Operation

The Chicago regional office of the department of commerce will remain in operation, altho activities will be reduced, George C. Payne, manager said yesterday. Congress has decided that the field offices of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce are essential and appropriations have been made available.

Stock Market Climbs to New High Since '39

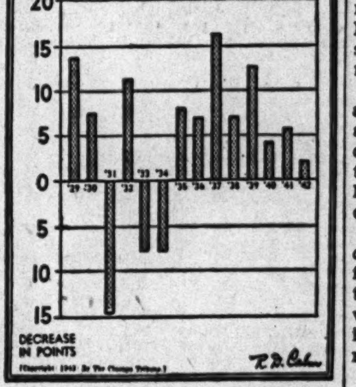
New York, July 1 (AP).—Inflationary beliefs were the principal motivators in the stock market today as selected rails and industrials led a moderate advance. Altho many issues were affected by late profit taking, steels registered a last minute upturn and assorted favorites emerged with gains of fractions to a point or more, a number at three year peaks.

Defeat by congress of the administration's price rollback subsidy program provided the stimulus for inflationary beliefs, brokers said. In addition, pleasing war news remained a supporting factor, and aided securities with better peace time prospects.

Trade Tops Million Shares.

Much of the cashing in of profits was attributed to the approach of the long week-end. The market will suspend Monday in observance of Independence day and many Wall streeters expecting to start their holiday tomorrow trimmed accounts to be on the safe side.

Dealings were fast at the start and toward the close, altho slow trade was frequent. Transfers totaled 1,152,580 shares, compared with 942,410 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 0.2 at 52.4, a top since Nov. 4, 1939. Of 880 issues traded, 441 were up, 232 declined, and 207 were unchanged.



The chart shows the movement of stock prices in July since 1929.

Western Union pushed up 2⅜, and Postal Telegraph preferred gained ¾ as the shareholder vote on the merger of the two companies neared. Western Union touched a new high, along with Santa Fe, Republic Steel, Pan American Airways, Eastern Air Lines, J. C. Penney, American Rolling Mills, Caterpillar Tractor, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, and Texas company.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 47,000 shares. Among the more actively traded issues were Commonwealth Edison, up ⅝ to a new 1943 high of 25⅛; Chicago corporation, unchanged; Armour, up ¼; Libby, McNeill & Libby, up ⅛, and United States Steel, up ¾. Eleven issues reached new highs.

June trading volume on the exchange totaled 900,000 shares, against 1,031,000 shares last month and 298,000 shares in June, 1942.

BONDS GAIN SLIGHTLY.

New York, July 1 (AP).—The bond market trend was upward today, but most gains were small and each group had laggards. Trading in government issues was quiet, with all maturities firm. Foreign dollar loans were steady.

RAIL WORKERS TAKE PAY FIGHT TO ROOSEVELT

Vinson Is Opposed to Overtime Basis.

Washington, D. C., July 1 (AP).—Union leaders representing 1 million nonoperating railroad workers tonight appealed directly to President Roosevelt as Fred M. Vinson, economic stabilization director, issued an opinion which appeared to block any substantial wage increase for the workers, except for those in lower wage brackets.

Union officials were reported talking of invoking the strike vote provisions of the railway labor act unless President Roosevelt overrules Vinson.

Vinson's opinion was issued in explanation of his recent action in setting aside a wage award of 8 cents an hour for the workers involved.

Fail to Make Progress.

Top AFL officers and a committee representing the 15 nonoperating railroad unions appealed to the President and then held a stormy session with Vinson, but apparently met with no immediate success.

All except two of the 15 nonoperating unions involved in this case are AFL affiliates. The union officials accepted the 8 cent award three weeks ago with announced reluctance. They had asked for 20 cents.

Subsequently the President indicated at a press conference that he favored paying railroad workers time and a half after 40 hours a week in line with the practice in interstate commerce generally. The rail workers are on a 48-hour week.

Vinson's opinion was addressed to the three members of an emergency board which recommended the 8 cent increase, but some official sources consider the board nonexistent since its report was made to the President more than 30 days ago.

The Vinson opinion virtually closed all approaches to an increase except to raise substandard wages, unless the President intervenes. It permitted no further increase as a cost-of-living adjustment and also said "there is no overtime issue in this case."

"However, it appears that the substandard test [of the President's hold-the-line order] might well be considered," said Vinson. He suggested that the board may determine what is a substandard wage and "may be justified in increasing all rates under a stated rate the same number of cents per hour."

Includes Wide Adjustments.

This meant, for instance, that if the board added 8 cents to the 46 cent minimum for maintenance of way employes the classification immediately above that would have to be adjusted to preserve in some degree historic differentials between job rate classifications. This sort of adjustment would be made all along the line.

But, "in accordance with the directive of this office such revisions should be tapered off so as to obviate the need so far as practically feasible for revision in the higher wage brackets," the opinion said.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

July 1, 1943.

ACRES of good pasture are going to waste at the farm because it has not been possible or profitable to purchase good feeder calves as has been the yearly custom. As a result some of the pastures are growing rank and weedy and it will be necessary to spend valuable man hours clipping them with the mowing machine.

At the start of the year it was thought that there would not be enough pasture to handle all of the stock. At this time, of course, it was planned to purchase around 70 or 80 head of steers as usual. The steers are run on grass all summer to get a cheap growth and weight. They are fed out during the winter and sold in the spring.

The price of feeder calves has been prohibitive, and the offerings appearing on the market have not been desirable types. Again the experience in feeding out a load of cattle this year showed that the business was unprofitable. For these reasons no more were bought.

Hints on Pasture Care.

Pastures to retain their value must be treated as carefully as if they were a crop. They must be kept grazed down thruout the year or they will grow rank and sour and weeds will begin to choke out the bluegrass. When cattle are not available to do this, it must be done with a machine.

Keeping cattle in a pasture means that the pasture is constantly being fertilized. To maintain good grass, fertilizer is necessary and if cattle do not supply it, then commercial products must be used which is expensive in many cases.

Overgrazing can cause as much destruction as undergrazing. Continuous grazing results in reduced carrying capacity in animals, low root reserves and plants that are killed easily by unfavorable weather conditions. A check of the northern part of the state reveals, however, that there is little danger of farmers overgrazing their fields. Most of them have not restocked their farms with cattle and their pastures are either idle or not being grazed enough.

Pasture improvement is an angle of farming that has been neglected despite its great importance. To improve pastures they should be grazed closely in the fall or clipped to remove excess grass and weed growth. If the soil is acid, lime should be applied.

Spring Time to Reseed.

Phosphate fertilizer also may be needed. Soil tests will reveal this. After liming and fertilizing the pasture should be reseeded in the spring as early as March and April. A seedbed may be prepared by disking poor pastures or running a drag over the ground previous to seeding. When the stand of grass is thin, good stands of clover may be obtained by drilling in the early spring without seedbed preparation.

After a good permanent pasture has been established the secret of maintenance is intelligent grazing management. Without it pastures soon are spoiled and need reseeding. Harm also may be done to the animals themselves. If allowed to run on a pasture too long they will not be able to get enough nourishment and will lose weight.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THE cool weather of this past week has given new life to several of the vegetable crops being cultivated in the sample gardens on the Wheaton farm. The peas and the late plantings of snap beans were especially benefited by the hard rain of last Sunday and the cool weather which followed.

Snap beans are one of the "stand-by" vegetables for gardeners who keep their rows under cultivation from beginning to end of the growing season. They can be planted as soon as danger of frost is past and replanted until Aug. 1. When planted during the hot days of late June, July and August, however, they may appear unthrifty in the early stages of growth. The foliage may have a yellow tinge, and growth will not be as rapid as that noticed on June plantings.

There is no reason for gardeners to be alarmed by such tendencies, however. If the ground is dry when the beans are planted they should be sprinkled. If rain doesn't come after the plants are above ground level additional sprinklings will be required, and an occasional cool spell such as we have had during the past week will hasten their growth.

WLB AUTHORITY CHALLENGED BY DONNELLEY CO.

Chicago Printing Dispute Under Advisement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 1.—The war labor board today heard and took under advisement arguments in a labor dispute between the R. R. Donnelley company, Chicago printing house, and the Chicago printing trades unions, which are asking a closed shop in the Donnelley plant and the outlawing of alleged unfair labor practices.

Most of today's argument centered on the question of whether the WLB has legal authority to order a closed shop or other forms of union security or to rule on labor practices of the printing company.

Ernest S. Ballard, attorney for the company, contended that the board lacks such authority under present statutes, including the new Connally-Smith anti-strike law.

Challenges Right to Rule.

Ballard argued that the anti-strike law specifically states that the WLB has no power to rule on disputes legally belonging to other agencies, including the national labor relations board. The NLRB, he added, has been designated by congress as the sole agency to rule on disputes as to collective bargaining agencies, the closed shop, and unfair labor practices.

The WLB, therefore, Ballard said, should make no ruling on the Donnelley dispute, and the unions, if they so desire, should ask the NLRB to hold an election to determine the collective bargaining agent for the workers. No such election has ever been held, he declared.

Unions Dispute Contention.

Ballard denied charges that the company discriminated against union members in hiring workers. He declared the unions are seeking a closed shop order in an effort to get the WLB to assist a union organization drive in the plant.

Joseph M. Jacobs, attorney for the unions, argued the WLB is empowered to order a closed shop because the case has not gone to the NLRB. He said the anti-strike law gives the WLB authority to rule on labor disputes when no other agency has power to act, and contended this provision applies to the Donnelley case.

Long Standing Dispute.

The board heard today's arguments on an appeal from the unions after the majority of a three man WLB panel recommended against a closed shop or other forms of union security.

The dispute started last November when the printing unions called strikes in union printing plants handling work for the nonunion Donnelley company. The company on Nov. 29 asked the federal conciliation service to intervene, but on Dec. 15 WLB took jurisdiction after efforts at a settlement failed.

The unions then called off the strikes, but asked the Donnelley company to sign collective bargaining agreements and accept a closed shop. The company refused.

GRAINS ADVANCE AGAIN ON WHEAT LOAN INCREASE

Announcement that the government loan on the 1943 wheat crop had been increased 1 cent a bushel, to a national average price of $1.23, and that the Commodity Credit corporation would purchase wheat from farmers at the loan price under certain conditions, pushed grain prices higher again yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Aggressive buying of wheat and rye futures by brokers said to represent distillers helped advance prices more than 2 cents early. However, profit taking reduced the upturn. Wheat finished 1⅜ to 1¾ cents higher. Rye rose ¼ to 1⅛ cents. Oats gained ⅛ to ½ cent.

Traders construed the government offer to purchase cash wheat at the loan price as likely to result in large amounts of that grain being held off the market.

Wheat futures at their highs were 7⅜ to 7⅝ cents above the low of last week and at a new top since early in March.

Traders believed passage of the anti-subsidy bill by congress will force an advance in the OPA ceiling price on flour in order to relieve the squeeze on mills. An advance in the ceiling on bread is also visualized.

SALESMAN'S TAX.

I am a traveling salesman working on a commission basis and paying my own expenses. Do I pay the 20 per cent withholding tax on the weekly drawing as a whole or am I allowed a deduction for traveling expenses?—B. R.

Answer: Amounts paid or reimbursements made by an employer to an employe specifically for traveling or other expenses incurred in the business of the employer were exempted from the victory tax withholding, and it is presumed that a similar rule will apply to the new 20 per cent withholding tax. If the employer simply pays you a certain gross commission, out of which you pay your own expenses, the entire amount of the payment in excess of your personal exemption will be subject to the withholding tax.

STOCK TRANSFER TAX.

I sold some stocks recently thru a broker and would like to know if the government tax is correct. What rate of tax is charged?—W. N.

Answer: The federal tax on sales of stocks is 5 cents for each $100 par value when the selling price is under $20 a share and 6 cents for each $100 par value when the selling price is $20 a share or more. No par value stocks are taxed at the same rate as those of $100 par value.

Sales of stocks in New York state, including sales thru the stock exchange by residents of another state, are subject to a state tax of 3 cents a share when the selling price is under $20 and 4 cents a share when the selling price is $20 or more.

WE NEED SKILLED MACHINE OPERATORS

Motiograph, the company that makes the equipment that puts movies on theater screens all over the world, needs some experienced men on drill presses, turret lathes, hand and automatic screw machines, profiling and milling machines. Skilled mechanical assemblers too can be used.

Right now Uncle Sam is taking all our output, but when the war is over we will be going full blast so the jobs we offer are good for the duration and long time to come.

In our company an employe is a name and not a number, and supervisors—most of them up from the ranks—are friendly, helpful people.

The wages are good and go up as skill increases. The work week is 48 hours, 8 of them at time and one-half. Come in and talk to Mr. C. Lede.

FOOTWEAR STYLE AND DESIGN MAN
Leading Mid-west Mfg.

If you would like to get started in a permanent position with an excellent chance to go places now and after the war, this may be your opportunity. Our organization is one of the leaders in the footwear field—large enough to offer practically unlimited opportunities for advancement, but not so large that you'll lose your identity. Located in the middle west [not Chicago].

The man we are looking for is bet. 25-35; draft deferred; because this is a key position. He has good taste, ingenuity, and an eye to practical style trend. He is familiar with manufacturing procedure and has an art and designing background. He may have had some supervisory experience altho this is not absolutely necessary.

1. AGE.
2. DRAFT STATUS.
3. EXPERIENCE—SAMPLES OF YOUR WORK [NOT RETURNABLE].
4. OUTSIDE INTERESTS AND HOBBIES, AND EVERYTHING ELSE YOU FEEL IS PERTINENT.

This position offers out-of-the-ordinary opportunity to make a name for yourself in our organization. However, if you can't meet these qualifications, please don't waste our time and yours by replying. If you can meet these requirements, better write at once, as the position will not be held open long. All replies in strict confidence.
